M'Keldin Calls For Tax Hikes

Demo-Controlled Congress Begins Work

New Leaders Pledge Their Co-Operation

Measure To Extend Trade Act Offered; Could Cause Ruckus

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — The 84th Congress opened today under Democratic control, with its new leaders saying they will try to do business rather than battle with President Eisenhower and the Republicans.

As Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas put it, in a two-edged speech upon taking over again as speaker of the House:

"Just because another party holds the executive branch of government, that does not mean we are going to look on legislation from a partisan standpoint."

Then, with this bow to harmony, Rayburn indignantly recalled charges by some GOP orators in the 1954 campaign. He said that Democrats "are not an accusing kind of people" who charge others with subversion and being "soft on communism."

While Democrats cheered, Rayburn declared:

"We're not going to indict people en masse. No Democrat is going to talk like that without being frowned upon, or repudiated, by me."

First Bill Controversial

Practical politicians to the last man, the senators and representatives were fully aware of the political prizes at stake in the 1956 presidential year, and the effect their actions will have.

The very first bill officially introduced in the 84th Congress today could cause a real ruckus.

Offered by Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn), it would extend the reciprocal Trade Act another three years and give the President authority to cut tariffs by five per cent a year. Eisenhower asked just that of the 83rd Congress, but didn't get it after some leading GOP members balked.

Democrats talked, too, of a thorough airing of their charges that the Eisenhower power program leans to the "vested interest."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), due to succeed Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) as the Senate's No. 1 investigator, said he would abolish one-man hearings. The 47-man staff of the House Un-American Activities Committee is in for a shake-up, Rep. Walter (R-Pa) announced.

Ninety-three of the Senate's 96 members and 427 of the House membership of 435 gathered today to open what the Senate chaplain, the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, described in the opening prayer as "a new volume of destiny in our nation's history."

Ike To Deliver Message

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democrat who succeeds Republican William Knowland of California as the majority leader, told the Senate there would be no bills introduced there until after Eisenhower delivers the State of the Union message tomorrow to a joint session of the Senate and House.

However, there was no bar to offering of new legislation in the House. One of the first proposed bills, by Rep. Celler (D-NY), would raise the pay of members of Congress to $25,000 a year from $15,000.

Another early offering would provide a college education to children of men killed in World War II or Korea. That was advanced by Rep. Teague (D-Tex).

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) announced he would soon introduce legislation to eliminate federal excise taxes

Protection Of Industrial Capacity Vital, Ike Says

Slash In Armed Forces Backed By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today the United States "can never be defeated" if it sustains its superior industrial capacity.

He outlined a national defense program designed, first of all, to protect that capacity from enemy attack without imposing "intolerable burdens" on the economy.

A salient point in the program is "to make maximum use of science and technology in order to minimize numbers in men."

By stating his views, in a letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson, the President opened what may turn out to be a great national defense debate in the 84th Congress, which convened today.

Rumblings of dissatisfaction with the administration's decision to reduce the numerical strength of the armed forces had been heard even before the legislators convened. There also have been complaints that administration spokesmen have given conflicting explanations of the reasons for the cuts.

Favors Armed Forces Cut

The President wrote Wilson that the administration wants armed forces strong enough to defend the country but not so big that they will "defeat our purposes by damaging the growth of our economy and eventually forcing it into regimented controls."

That is why, the President said, he is recommending to Congress that the total strength of the armed forces be cut back to about three million men by June 30, the end of the current fiscal year. This would be a reduction of about 168,000 men. Most of them would come out of the Army. Air Force strength would rise about 14,000 men to a total of about 975,000.

For 1956, Eisenhower suggested a strength of about 2,850,000 — "With any further material reductions dependent upon an improved world situation."

Home Defense First Goal

He said that because of the destructiveness of modern weapons and the increasing efficiency of long range bombing aircraft, "our first objective must therefore be to maintain the capability to deter an enemy from attack and to blunt the attack if it comes — by a combination of retaliatory power and a continental defense system of steadily increasing effectiveness."

"These two tasks," the President went on, "logically demand priority in all planning. Thus we will assure that our industrial capacity can continue throughout a war to produce the gigantic amounts of equipment and supplies required.

"We can never be defeated so long as our relative superiority in productive capacity is sustained."

SLEW SISTER—A charge of delinquency was filed yesterday against Frederick Spears (above), 17, Galion, Ohio, who officers say confessed to strangling his 16-year-old sister, Patricia, following a pillow fight. Patricia's nude body was found about two miles from the Spears home.

House Probers Report Welfare Fund "Abuses"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—House investigators today said a "wide range of questionable practices" in handling employe welfare and pension funds warranted a continuation of the probe by the new Congress.

The interim report by a House Labor subcommittee also urged that fund trustees be required to make a tighter accounting to the Internal Revenue Service.

The group, headed in the 83rd Congress by Rep. McConnell (R-Pa), said the Revenue Service also should demand more information from trust funds claiming tax-exempt status. Tax law and regulations already require fund trustees desiring tax-exempt status to file certain data every year.

No Recommendations Made

The subcommittee said it could not make definite legislative recommendations because of its inability to get at proper records. It said further study could lead to "proper evaluation."

The group said it was unable to find official records which would indicate accurately the total number of funds now in existence, their cost, the actual amount of payments to employes or money involved in the funds.

However, it said, information available "indicates a wide range of questionable practices by union officials, employers, insurance companies, brokers, administrators and trustees."

"Notable Abuses" Listed

Among what it called "notable abuses" the subcommittee found:

On the part of some employers a lack of interest and "fear" of asserting their rights in joint employer-employe administration of welfare funds.

Some employer contributions negotiated by "threats and violence."

"Irregular practices by some insurance companies," including excessive charges and commission payments.

"Irregular conduct by insurance brokers and consultants, including collusive arrangements with insurance companies and union officials to obtain business."

Hoover Urges Reorganization Act's Extension

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Herbert Hoover today asked Congress to extend President Eisenhower's reorganization powers and perhaps to put up a little more money for the Hoover Commission's studies on streamlining the government.

Simultaneously a New York University report predicted the Hoover recommendations, soon to start appearing, could be "far more controversial" than the first Hoover report in 1949.

Task Force Findings Bared

The university study also reported a few unannounced findings of the task forces set up by former President Hoover to do the research spadework for his 12-member, bipartisan commission on reorganization of the executive branch. These included:

1. The government carries on some 1,500 activities "which can be regarded as competitive with those undertaken by private industry."

2. Businessmen spend one billion dollars a year filling out federal questionnaires, of which "a large proportion are filed and forgotten."

3. Flood control projects have, upon occasion, cost more than the value of the land protected.

Tomatoes Go East And West

4. The government buys 800,000 pounds of tomato products on the West coast and ships them to the Atlantic coast. It also buys 700,000 pounds of the same products on the East coast and ships them to the Pacific.

5. In one case it cost a half-million dollars to fire a single federal employe. But 26 per cent of all federal employes quit the government every year.

The 80-year-old Hoover filed with Congress, at the moment of its convening today, a progress report disclosing that the commission will begin issuing instalments of its massive report "within the next few weeks."

Young Slayer Faces Delinquency Charge

BUCYRUS, Ohio, Jan. 5 (AP) — A charge of delinquency against Frederick Spears, 17, of Galion, was filed in Crawford County Juvenile Court this afternoon.

Juvenile and Probate Judge Constance R. Keller heard Galion police chief Morris Bowers charge Spears with unlawfully and purposely killing Patricia Ann Spears, 16, his sister.

Officers said the freckle-faced brother confessed to strangling Patricia in her bed following a pillow fight last Friday. He is being held in County Jail.

Patricia's nude body was found Saturday in a thicket about two miles from the Spears' home. An autopsy showed she was not sexually attacked.

Thwarted Robbers Are "Good Sports"

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 5 (AP) — As thugs they weren't a howling success, but at least they were polite.

After making an unsuccessful attempt to crack a safe at the Bone Dry Fertilizer Co. plant in Richmond last night, intruders accepted defeat in good grace.

On top of the safe, penned roughly on a cardboard box top, police found the message:

"You win. Thanks."

UN Secretary, Chou Will Hold Meeting Today

Hammarskjold, Red Premier To Discuss U. S. Fliers' Release

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold will begin face-to-face talks tomorrow afternoon, Peiping time, with Red China's Chou En-lai about the release of 11 American airmen jailed as spies.

Hammarskjold ended a journey halfway around the world at 1:45 p.m. Peiping time today and within a short period had met the Red Chinese Premier and foreign minister socially for the first time.

U.N. Receives Message

The U. N. received here a short message from Hammarskjold's party giving the time of arrival and indicating that the secretary general will get down to business in a formal meeting with Chou tomorrow.

Hammarskjold flew to Peiping on his own initiative after the U. N. assembly approved 47-5 a resolution calling on him to use the full authority of his office in "unremitting efforts" to obtain the release of the 11 aviators and all other U. N. personnel still held by the Red Chinese from the Korean War.

Red China has called the 11 Americans espionage agents and on Thanksgiving Day announced they had been sentenced to prison.

Trip Has Cabot's Blessing

The secretary general departed for Peiping with the blessings of U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who is known here to have expressed full confidence in the secretary general on this mission. It was reported the United States put no restrictions on Hammarskjold beyond those contained in the Assembly resolution directing him to seek the release of the men.

Hammarskjold has said he will confine his talks to the prisoners and has no authority to discuss admitting Red China to the U. N.

British Strike May Be Averted

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Hopes of averting a nationwide railway strike which could cripple Britain's booming prosperity rose tonight after a busy day of negotiations.

The 400,000 members of the National Union of Railwaymen have been told to be ready to strike at midnight Sunday unless their demands for wage increases are met.

An independent court of inquiry, which investigated the complaints of railway workers for the government, conceded today that they have an argument, and many union men obviously were pleased by the tone of the court's findings.

The court urged the strike call be canceled and suggested that high level negotiations be resumed between the tightly organized union and the British Transport Commission, the body which manages the 51,000-mile nationalized rail system. Useful negotiations could not take place under the menace of strike action, the court said.

New Legs For Connie

Constance DeStasi, 2½ years old, believed to be the youngest triple amputee in the nation ever fitted with artificial limbs, looks at herself in a mirror at Liberty Mutual Rehabilitation Center in Boston. A victim of a rare blood circulation disease at 8 months, Connie had to have her left leg, right foot and right hand amputated to save her life. The artificial legs will be changed as she grows and in time she will be fitted with an artificial hand.

Ladejinsky Given Key Assignment By FOA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Wolf Ladejinsky, fired by the Agriculture Department as a security risk, got a key job today with the Foreign Operations Administration. He will work on land reform in Viet Nam, helping to fight off Communist pressure there.

The appointment was announced by FOA chief Harold E. Stassen. It came after the White House intervened to end a controversy which broke out when Ladejinsky was removed Dec. 16 from his post as agricultural attache in the U. S. Embassy at Tokyo.

Cleared By State Dept.

Ladejinsky, Russian-born but now a naturalized American, had security clearance from the State Department, but when his post was shifted to the Agriculture Department by act of Congress last year Secretary of Agriculture Benson ruled that he could not be retained. Benson acted on the advice of his security officer, John Glenn Cassity.

The security conflict between Agriculture and State brought demands for a congressional investigation, and in the end the White House stepped in.

White House Statement

Immediately after Stassen's announcement today, James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, issued this statement:

"The White House asked the heads of departments and agencies involved to use their best judgment in working out this situation and we believe that judgment has been exercised."

The new responsibilities given Ladejinsky was in effect a rejection of the security assessment made by the Agriculture Department. Neither Benson nor Cassity had any immediate comment.

Stassen announced that FOA reviewed Ladejinsky's file and found him "eligible for certification for security and loyalty."

Bricker To Revive Treaty Amendment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) tomorrow will reintroduce his controversial amendment on the President's treaty making powers.

The proposal—opposed by the Eisenhower administration—took up about a month's debate in the Senate early last year. The Senate finally defeated a milder substitute offered by Sen. George (D-Ga), on Feb. 26, with 60 voting for and 31 against.

Boost In State Sales, Income Levies Asked

Governor Endorses Pay-As-You-Go Plan In Assembly Speech

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 5 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin tonight asked the Maryland Legislature to increase the State sales tax from 2 to 3 cents on the dollar and to boost the State income tax 25 to 50 per cent effective next January.

He also urged approval of a plan to have employers withhold State income tax from paychecks just as they now do for the Federal government. He asked that this move, already approved by the Legislative Council, become effective July 1 of this year.

The sales tax increase would become effective June 1, with the State collecting its first revenue from the higher tax on July 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

These fiscal changes, the governor said, will enable Maryland to raise the 28 to 29 million dollars extra it needs to meet commitments for increased State services in its 1955-56 budget.

"We have reached a period in our growth and our progress where we must raise our financial sights to continue these good services and keep in step with the demands and the opportunities of our years," he said.

"The picture is far from dark as I see it. It is a picture of enlightened, humane interest in the ill and needy among us—a picture of advancement in a society of people who look ahead—a picture of citizens and public officials who consider the future, not merely the expediency of the moment."

"State Of State" Speech

The governor's request for increased taxes came in a "State of the State" speech after convening of the 1955 General Assembly.

He said he would give a more detailed picture of the State's fiscal situation in his budget message, which is to be delivered by a Jan. 25 deadline, and discuss other State affairs in his inauguration address one week from today.

McKeldin also told the lawmakers he plans to submit legislation authorizing more home rule for Maryland counties — similar to that approved for cities by the 1954 Legislature and Maryland voters.

Most of his address centered around proposed tax increases. He said boosting the sales tax should produce about 17 million dollars extra a year in revenue. The increase would not apply to purchases of less than 50 cents.

Collection of the income tax through employers would enable the State to postpone for a year the proposed increase in income tax, McKeldin said.

Governor Explains Plan

Here's the way the governor explained it:

If the withholding payments begin coming in effective July 1, "we will have the advantage of these funds early in the fiscal year, instead of waiting for the major portion of the income tax revenue (for 1955) to come in on April 15, 1956."

In other words, the State would collect income tax for an 18-month period in the course of one fiscal year. What wasn't withheld from your pay in the last six months of 1955 would be due on April 15, 1956.

State officials have estimated this gimmick would produce 10 million dollars in extra revenue, which would not be available in later years. But by then the income tax increase would be in effect, if the McKeldin plan is approved.

He proposed upping the income

Speaker's Office Reflects Change -- Elephants Missing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — Even before Congress officialy opened today, it was obvious that changes have been made.

Each day the House is in session reporters troop into the speaker's office to get a preview of battle plans. And today was no exception.

There was Rep. Joe Martin (R-Mass), the outgoing speaker, waiting in his office. But gone was the desk ashtray which featured an elephant. And the two elephants that used to peer over Martin's shoulder from the mantel behind him had disappeared, too.

The place was empty, all set for the new speaker, Sam Rayburn of Texas, to move in with his knicknacks featuring the Democratic donkey.

Martin didn't have much to say in his swan song, but he did describe in single sentence how the change in House control would take place.

"They (the Democrats) will make a motion," Martin said, "we'll propose a substitute—and they'll roll over us on a voice vote."

He was clairvoyant. That's exactly the way it happened.

Long before either the House or the Senate got under way there was evidence that the 84th Congress will have its fair share of eager beavers.

The literary works of House members are posted on the bulletin board of the press gallery, and all available space was used early.

Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash) appeared to have the hottest typewriter. The bills he wants, and the explanation of why he wants them, filled six pages.

Wave Of Sell Orders Knocks Stocks Down As Much As $5

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The bull market in stocks tumbled today under a massive wave of selling that knocked some prices down around $5.

What caused the break?

Undoubtedly that question was asked across the nation tonight by the constantly increasing number of Americans now "in the market."

Was it the action of the Federal Reserve Board last night hiking the amount of cash an investor must put up when buying securities on margin?

Unquestionably that was the immediate psychological factor. However, some brokers were doubtful that the margin boost would have much effect on prices in the long run.

There is almost unanimous opinion in Wall Street that the market has been long overdue for a good-sized correction, having gone up steadily for nearly 16 months.

"It would be in the best interests of investors if the market would sell off about 10 per cent right now," commented a leading market analyst.

The wave of sell orders flashing in from brokerage houses all over the country mounted so quickly that the ticker ran as much as 15 minutes late in reporting transactions. Volume for the day totaled 4,640,000 shares, the biggest turnover since June 27, 1950, when the Korean War started.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped to $152.40, down $3.40, the biggest decline since June 26, 1950.

Many issues were off more than $1. Kennecott Copper dropped $4.50, Amerada Petroleum $5.50, General Motors $3.62, Du Pont $3.12, Westinghouse Electric $2.75, Chrysler $2.87 and Cleveland Electric Illuminating $3.25. The steels, recent market favorites, suffered. Bethlehem went down $4.62, U. S. Steel $3.12 and Republic Steel $4.62.

The Reserve Board, concerned about the sharp rise in stock prices, increased margin requirements from 50 per cent to 60 per cent. It was the first brake applied to the booming bull market since Jan. 17, 1951, when margin was boosted to 75 per cent. Fifty per cent margins had prevailed since Feb. 20, 1953.

Most observers agreed the action might prevent speculative excesses.

"It's like giving the market a smack on the face and saying: 'This is for nothing, but just watch yourself,'" remarked a partner in one of the big brokerage houses.

Boy AWOL From Training School Terrorizes Family

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 5 (AP)—A 16-year-old boy overstaying his Christmas leave from a training school terrorized the home of his wealthy father and stepmother last night with an apparent robbery attempt and a gunshot.

The gunshot, police said, narrowly missed the stepmother as she stood at a bedroom window calling for help.

The boy, Eric Matheny, son of Dr. C. C. Matheny, West Bloomfield Township osteopath, was held at the Oakland County children's home today for investigation.

State police said Eric fired the shot from a rifle he bought in Detroit yesterday on credit, charging it to his father.

Dr. Matheny said he and his wife, Sadie, were awakened by a noise in the kitchen. He said the house was in darkness and the lights failed to work. Later it was found the main electric switch had been torn out. Telephone wires also had been torn out.

The father said he and Mrs. Matheny went into the kitchen where he heard a voice, which he recognized as Eric's, ordering him to "Get some money."

"Then I heard a gun being cocked and we ran to the bedroom and barricaded the door," Dr. Matheny said.

Shortly afterwards, the shot rang out. Dr. Matheny said the bullet came through the bedroom window, missing Mrs. Matheny "by inches."

Police arrested Eric at Dr. Matheny's clinic. They went there after Dr. Matheny discovered his keys to the clinic were missing. A deer rifle, recently fired, was found at the clinic, police said.

Patricia's nude body was found Saturday in a thicket about two miles from the Spears' home. An autopsy showed she was not sexually attacked.

Danish Crimes Increase

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 5 (AP)—The Danish government said today crime in Denmark has increased 33 per cent since the start of World War II. Sex crimes increased 17 per cent.

Thwarted Robbers Are "Good Sports"

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 5 (AP) — As thugs they weren't a howling success, but at least they were polite.

After making an unsuccessful attempt to crack a safe at the Bone Dry Fertilizer Co. plant in Richmond last night, intruders accepted defeat in good grace.

On top of the safe, penned roughly on a cardboard box top, police found the message:

Hammarskjold, Red Premier To Discuss U. S. Fliers' Release

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold will begin face-to-face talks tomorrow afternoon, Peiping time, with Red China's Chou En-lai about the release of 11 American airmen jailed as spies.

Hammarskjold ended a journey halfway around the world at 1:45 p.m. Peiping time today and within a short period had met the Red Chinese Premier and foreign minister socially for the first time.

U.N. Receives Message

The U. N. received here a short message from Hammarskjold's party giving the time of arrival and indicating that the secretary general will get down to business in a formal meeting with Chou tomorrow.

Hammarskjold flew to Peiping on his own initiative after the U. N. assembly approved 47-5 a resolution calling on him to use the full authority of his office in "unremitting efforts" to obtain the release of the 11 aviators and all other U. N. personnel still held by the Red Chinese from the Korean War.

Red China has called the 11 Americans espionage agents and on Thanksgiving Day announced they had been sentenced to prison.

Trip Has Cabot's Blessing

The secretary general departed for Peiping with the blessings of U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who is known here to have expressed full confidence in the secretary general on this mission. It was reported the United States put no restrictions on Hammarskjold beyond those contained in the Assembly resolution directing him to seek the release of the men.

Hammarskjold has said he will confine his talks to the prisoners and has no authority to discuss admitting Red China to the U. N.

British Strike May Be Averted

LONDON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Hopes of averting a nationwide railway strike which could cripple Britain's booming prosperity rose tonight after a busy day of negotiations.

The 400,000 members of the National Union of Railwaymen have been told to be ready to strike at midnight Sunday unless their demands for wage increases are met.

An independent court of inquiry, which investigated the complaints of railway workers for the government, conceded today that they have an argument, and many union men obviously were pleased by the tone of the court's findings.

The court urged the strike call be canceled and suggested that high level negotiations be resumed between the tightly organized union and the British Transport Commission, the body which manages the 51,000-mile nationalized rail system. Useful negotiations could not take place under the menace of strike action, the court said.

New Legs For Connie

Constance DeStasi, 2½ years old, believed to be the youngest triple amputee in the nation ever fitted with artificial limbs, looks at herself in a mirror at Liberty Mutual Rehabilitation Center in Boston. A victim of a rare blood circulation disease at 8 months, Connie had to have her left leg, right foot and right hand amputated to save her life. The artificial legs will be changed as she grows and in time she will be fitted with an artificial hand.

Ladejinsky Given Key Assignment By FOA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Wolf Ladejinsky, fired by the Agriculture Department as a security risk, got a key job today with the Foreign Operations Administration. He will work on land reform in Viet Nam, helping to fight off Communist pressure there.

The appointment was announced by FOA chief Harold E. Stassen. It came after the White House intervened to end a controversy which broke out when Ladejinsky was removed Dec. 16 from his post as agricultural attache in the U. S. Embassy at Tokyo.

Cleared By State Dept.

Ladejinsky, Russian-born but now a naturalized American, had security clearance from the State Department, but when his post was shifted to the Agriculture Department by act of Congress last year Secretary of Agriculture Benson ruled that he could not be retained. Benson acted on the advice of his security officer, John Glenn Cassity.

The security conflict between Agriculture and State brought demands for a congressional investigation, and in the end the White House stepped in.

White House Statement

Immediately after Stassen's announcement today, James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, issued this statement:

"The White House asked the heads of departments and agencies involved to use their best judgment in working out this situation and we believe that judgment has been exercised."

The new responsibilities given Ladejinsky was in effect a rejection of the security assessment made by the Agriculture Department. Neither Benson nor Cassity had any immediate comment.

Stassen announced that FOA reviewed Ladejinsky's file and found him "eligible for certification for security and loyalty."

Bricker To Revive Treaty Amendment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) tomorrow will reintroduce his controversial amendment on the President's treaty making powers.

The proposal—opposed by the Eisenhower administration—took up about a month's debate in the Senate early last year. The Senate finally defeated a milder substitute offered by Sen. George (D-Ga), on Feb. 26, with 60 voting for and 31 against.

Boost In State Sales, Income Levies Asked

Governor Endorses Pay-As-You-Go Plan In Assembly Speech

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 5 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin tonight asked the Maryland Legislature to increase the State sales tax from 2 to 3 cents on the dollar and to boost the State income tax 25 to 50 per cent effective next January.

He also urged approval of a plan to have employers withhold State income tax from paychecks just as they now do for the Federal government. He asked that this move, already approved by the Legislative Council, become effective July 1 of this year.

The sales tax increase would become effective June 1, with the State collecting its first revenue from the higher tax on July 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

These fiscal changes, the governor said, will enable Maryland to raise the 28 to 29 million dollars extra it needs to meet commitments for increased State services in its 1955-56 budget.

"We have reached a period in our growth and our progress where we must raise our financial sights to continue these good services and keep in step with the demands and the opportunities of our years," he said.

"The picture is far from dark as I see it. It is a picture of enlightened, humane interest in the ill and needy among us—a picture of advancement in a society of people who look ahead—a picture of citizens and public officials who consider the future, not merely the expediency of the moment."

"State Of State" Speech

The governor's request for increased taxes came in a "State of the State" speech after convening of the 1955 General Assembly.

He said he would give a more detailed picture of the State's fiscal situation in his budget message, which is to be delivered by a Jan. 25 deadline, and discuss other State affairs in his inauguration address one week from today.

McKeldin also told the lawmakers he plans to submit legislation authorizing more home rule for Maryland counties — similar to that approved for cities by the 1954 Legislature and Maryland voters.

Most of his address centered around proposed tax increases. He said boosting the sales tax should produce about 17 million dollars extra a year in revenue. The increase would not apply to purchases of less than 50 cents.

Collection of the income tax through employers would enable the State to postpone for a year the proposed increase in income tax, McKeldin said.

Governor Explains Plan

Here's the way the governor explained it:

If the withholding payments begin coming in effective July 1, "we will have the advantage of these funds early in the fiscal year, instead of waiting for the major portion of the income tax revenue (for 1955) to come in on April 15, 1956."

In other words, the State would collect income tax for an 18-month period in the course of one fiscal year. What wasn't withheld from your pay in the last six months of 1955 would be due on April 15, 1956.

State officials have estimated this gimmick would produce 10 million dollars in extra revenue, which would not be available in later years. But by then the income tax increase would be in effect, if the McKeldin plan is approved.

He proposed upping the income

Speaker's Office Reflects Change -- Elephants Missing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP) — Even before Congress officialy opened today, it was obvious that changes have been made.

Each day the House is in session reporters troop into the speaker's office to get a preview of battle plans. And today was no exception.

There was Rep. Joe Martin (R-Mass), the outgoing speaker, waiting in his office. But gone was the desk ashtray which featured an elephant. And the two elephants that used to peer over Martin's shoulder from the mantel behind him had disappeared, too.

The place was empty, all set for the new speaker, Sam Rayburn of Texas, to move in with his knicknacks featuring the Democratic donkey.

Martin didn't have much to say in his swan song, but he did describe in single sentence how the change in House control would take place.

"They (the Democrats) will make a motion," Martin said, "we'll propose a substitute—and they'll roll over us on a voice vote."

He was clairvoyant. That's exactly the way it happened.

Long before either the House or the Senate got under way there was evidence that the 84th Congress will have its fair share of eager beavers.

The literary works of House members are posted on the bulletin board of the press gallery, and all available space was used early.

Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash) appeared to have the hottest typewriter. The bills he wants, and the explanation of why he wants them, filled six pages.

Wave Of Sell Orders Knocks Stocks Down As Much As $5

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The bull market in stocks tumbled today under a massive wave of selling that knocked some prices down around $5.

What caused the break?

Undoubtedly that question was asked across the nation tonight by the constantly increasing number of Americans now "in the market."

Was it the action of the Federal Reserve Board last night hiking the amount of cash an investor must put up when buying securities on margin?

Unquestionably that was the immediate psychological factor. However, some brokers were doubtful that the margin boost would have much effect on prices in the long run.

There is almost unanimous opinion in Wall Street that the market has been long overdue for a good-sized correction, having gone up steadily for nearly 16 months.

"It would be in the best interests of investors if the market would sell off about 10 per cent right now," commented a leading market analyst.

The wave of sell orders flashing in from brokerage houses all over the country mounted so quickly that the ticker ran as much as 15 minutes late in reporting transactions. Volume for the day totaled 4,640,000 shares, the biggest turnover since June 27, 1950, when the Korean War started.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped to $152.40, down $3.40, the biggest decline since June 26, 1950.

Many issues were off more than $1. Kennecott Copper dropped $4.50, Amerada Petroleum $5.50, General Motors $3.62, Du Pont $3.12, Westinghouse Electric $2.75, Chrysler $2.87 and Cleveland Electric Illuminating $3.25. The steels, recent market favorites, suffered. Bethlehem went down $4.62, U. S. Steel $3.12 and Republic Steel $4.62.

The Reserve Board, concerned about the sharp rise in stock prices, increased margin requirements from 50 per cent to 60 per cent. It was the first brake applied to the booming bull market since Jan. 17, 1951, when margin was boosted to 75 per cent. Fifty per cent margins had prevailed since Feb. 20, 1953.

Most observers agreed the action might prevent speculative excesses.

Boy AWOL From Training School Terrorizes Family

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 5 (AP)—A 16-year-old boy overstaying his Christmas leave from a training school terrorized the home of his wealthy father and stepmother last night with an apparent robbery attempt and a gunshot.

The gunshot, police said, narrowly missed the stepmother as she stood at a bedroom window calling for help.

The boy, Eric Matheny, son of Dr. C. C. Matheny, West Bloomfield Township osteopath, was held at the Oakland County children's home today for investigation.

State police said Eric fired the shot from a rifle he bought in Detroit yesterday on credit, charging it to his father.

Dr. Matheny said he and his wife, Sadie, were awakened by a noise in the kitchen. He said the house was in darkness and the lights failed to work. Later it was found the main electric switch had been torn out. Telephone wires also had been torn out.

The father said he and Mrs. Matheny went into the kitchen where he heard a voice, which he recognized as Eric's, ordering him to "Get some money."

"Then I heard a gun being cocked and we ran to the bedroom and barricaded the door," Dr. Matheny said.

Shortly afterwards, the shot rang out. Dr. Matheny said the bullet came through the bedroom window, missing Mrs. Matheny "by inches."

Scores Arrested In All-Out Hunt For Killers Of Panama President

Arias Transferred From His Plantation To National Guard HQ

PANAMA, Jan. 5 (AP)—Secret police and national guardsmen have jailed 70 suspects in Panama City and an unannounced number outside the national capital in the all-out hunt for the killers of President Jose Antonio Remon.

One of those arrested, ex-President Arnulfo Arias, was transferred today from his coffee plantation to national guard headquarters at David, the capital of Chiriqui Province 200 miles west of here.

Authorities apparently decided against bringing Arias to Panama City, because they feared his presence might touch off demonstrations. A chief political foe of the slain President, Arias has many supporters here as well as political enemies.

Police said they were holding for questioning in the killing an American identified as Marvin Lipstein, who was arrested at the airport Monday night. It was reported that Lipstein, who said he was born in New York City and educated at the University of Southern California, had an airline ticket to Mexico and a steamship ticket for passage from the country to Italy.

National guard officials said they are trying to trace an unidentified man wounded in the arm who sought treatment at a clinic owned by a friend of Arias.

Among others wanted for questioning is Norberto Navarro, leader of the Independent Revolutionary party. Many of those jailed belong to the Partido Panamenista (panamanian party), headed by Arias.

Arias was taken into custody at his plantation 100 miles west of David shortly after the killing Sunday night. Authorities have indicated the weapons used by the slayers implicated Arias.

Remon was shot as he chatted with friends at the Juan Franco race track, four miles from this city. Two other men were killed and three wounded in the exchange of gunfire between the President's bodyguard and his assassins.

The government has introduced measures in the National Assembly to offer a $50,000 reward for information leading to the killers and to appropriate an additional $50,000 to cover official investigation expenses.

Arias was ousted from the presidency in 1951 in a coup by the national guard which Remon headed at that time. Prior to that Arias and Remon had been close political allies.

Marland Says W. Va. Outlook Is Favorable

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. William C. Marland said tonight that the economic outlook is favorable for West Virginia in 1955.

"West Virginia faces the new year with a great deal of optimism," he said. "The coal industry is showing signs of recovery and industrial development planning is moving at a high pitch."

The governor outlined his views on the new year in a filmed, televised interview.

He said the Mountain State's future development would be guided by results of an industrial development survey being made by Arthur D. Little Inc., a firm hired by the state last year.

When it is completed, Marland said, "West Virginia will be the best factually equipped state in the nation to compete for shifting and new industrial development." He added:

"West Virginia has a realistic industrial future and 1955 may well be the key to West Virginia's economic future."

Polish Refugee Held On Blasphemy Charge

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Jan. 5 (AP)—A man who, police said, claimed he was Jesus Christ and exhibited wounds in an attempt to prove it, was arrested here today on blasphemy charges.

City Prosecutor Steven E. Perakos identified the man as John Tschaplinski, 50, a Polish refugee who, he said dressed in a loincloth and wore on his head a crown of thorns which he pushed down to produce bleeding. Three other refugees, two of them women, were also arrested on the same charge.

All four, Perakos said, claimed to be 2,000 years old.

Perakos said the four were not members of any known religious group and said the basis of the charges was that it is against the law in Connecticut to claim to be a deity.

Army Almost Gets Another Goldbrick

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 5 (AP)—The Army almost got another "goldbrick" but it won't now, thanks to legal action.

Howard Goldbrick, 17, of Jersey City, who is due to enter the Army in May, was granted permission today by County Judge James A. Coolahan to change his surname of Borodin.

In his petition, he complained that the present surname might prove "embarrasing" when he puts on Army grab" because the name goldbrick denotes a soft and easy job."

$291,000 College Fund

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 5 (AP)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., today announced a fund of $291,000 for grants to universities and colleges to help improve the teaching of science and mathematics.

Bold Thief Robs Sheriff's Office

FRANKLIN, Ky., Jan. 5 (AP)—A bold thief lured a deputy from the sheriff's office today with a fake accident report and then made off with between $300 and $400 of the sheriff's personal cash.

Deputy Sheriff Reed Shoulders was alone when he received a report by telephone of a traffic mishap. He locked up and sped to the scene.

He found no accident, but upon returning to the sheriff's office on the first floor of the courthouse he discovered the door battered open and the cash drawer emptied except for change.

Peress Paper Signer Seeks Sarge's Stripes

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—John J. McManus, who as an Army major signed the honorable discharge papers for former Maj. Irving Peress, said tonight he was seeking enlistment in the Army as a master sergeant.

McManus was released from active duty Nov. 4 under what the Army described as a "policy of strength reduction dictated by budgetary limitations."

The Army insisted that McManus' release was not connected with his "incidental part in the separation of former Maj. Peress."

McManus, a native of Rochester, said tonight he decided to enlist as a master sergeant after his requests for active duty were turned down.

on automobiles and trucks, and to raise the minimum wage to $1 an hour from 75 cents.

Rayburn was the only leader who made any extensive remarks today. After his election as speaker to succeed Republican Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, by a roll call vote of 266-198, he was sworn in by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga).

Rayburn will be 73 years old tomorrow. Another oldtimer, Sen. George (D-Ga), who will be 77 on Jan. 29, was elected president pro tem of the Senate by a voice vote. In this post, George will preside in the absence of Vice President Nixon.

The current Senate lineup is 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) who said in advance he would vote with the Democrats in organizing the Senate. Morse moved today in the center of the Democratic side of the chamber, flanked by Sen. Byrd and Sen. Green (D-RI).

The House lineup is 231 Democrats, 203 Republicans and one Democratic vacancy in Florida.

Boost In State

tax by 25 per cent for corporations, and 50 per cent for individuals and trusts.

The governor offered hope, however, that in hitting the taxpayer for more of his income the blow could be softened.

"At the present stage of our studies," he said, "we are very hopeful that the income tax exemption for dependents can be increased from $600 to $1,000 beginning with the withholding plan next July 1."

He said he was spurning a recommendation to tax cigarettes because "we are seeking to avoid hurting any line of business, or even creating what might be termed a mental hazard for business. We believe this policy is to the advantage of the state and all of its citizens."

Capitol Has Its Greatest Feminine Representation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Solemn, serious-eyed and maybe just a bit nervous, four new women lawmakers raised their right hands today and were sworn in as members of the 84th Congress.

Along with the 12 who have served before, they gave the capitol its greatest feminine representation in history. And the ladies could also count Hawaii's nonvoting delegate, Mrs. Betty Farrington, in their fold.

The newcomers, all Democrats, were Reps. Iris Blitch of Georgia, Edith Green of Oregon, Martha Griffiths of Michigan and Coya Knutson of Minnesota.

Watching from the packed galleries were the husbands of three—Hicks G. Griffiths, Detroit lawyer; Erwin Blitch, homerville druggist and farmer, and Arthur N. Green, who sold his electrical supply business in Portland to come to Washington.

The husband of the fourth, Andrew Knutson, a hotel owner in Oklee, Minn., was ill and unable to be present. But the couple's 14-year-old son, Terry, sat proudly beside his mother on the House floor.

Griffiths had reason this day to be pleased. It was he who insisted that his wife—whom he married at the University of Missouri—study law with him at the University of Michigan and run first for the Michigan Legislature and then for Congress.

Together with a fellow student, Gov. G. Mennen Williams—who was down here to see Mrs. Griffiths sworn in—the Griffiths hung out their shingel. Then Williams became governor of Michigan and now Mrs. Griffiths has come to Congress.

"That leaves me at home practicing law," said Griffiths.

Dick Green, 12, son of the new congresswoman from Oregon, was an honorary page for the day. The Greens have another son in the Army.

The Blitchs' two children—a son, Brooks, at the University of Georgia, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry Turberville, Phenix City, Ala., couldn't get here but sent their young looking dark-eyed mother warm messages.

On the other side of the capitol, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) was sworn in for her second term and for this occasion wore a blue dress and a single huge full-blown red rose.

She is the only woman Senate member. In the House there are 15 women—9 Democrats and 6 Republicans. All 11 women representatives in the last Congress were reelected.

Congratulations Sent Adenauer On 77th Birthday

BONN, Germany, Jan. 5 (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer turned 79 today, straight-backed as ever and looking ahead to further work at West Germany's helm.

There was a public reception at his chancellery on the Rhine, a private party with his seven children in his modest home and, in between, a bit of business—a conference with a French diplomat that arranged for talks between Adenauer and Premier Pierre Mendes-France in Baden Baden at the end of next week.

Congratulations of Adenauer's countrymen and the Western world poured in on the austere old statesman. Among them was a message of "warm congratulations and good wishes" from British Prime Minister Churchill, who celebrated his 80th birthday last Nov. 30.

The Chancellor, dressed in cutaway and striped trouers, stood for three hours to shake hands with a long line of diplomats and top personalities of German public life at the chancellery. A widower, he was flanked by his four sons and three daughters.

Tomorrow the Chancellor, who ordinarily puts in a brisk 12 hours a day, gets back to work with a series of conferences with leaders of his four-party coalition to map strategy for speeding parliamentary ratification of the Paris accords for West German rearmament in the Western defense lineup.

These problems and the Saar presumably will be topics in his coming conference with Mendes-France. Adenauer took time out from his birthday celebration to arrange with Jean Soutou, one of the French Premier's closest aides, the details of the Baden Baden meeting.

It will be their first meeting since they signed the historic treaties in Paris Oct. 23 to bring rearmed West Germany into NATO and the first postwar official visit of a French Premier to this Federal Republic.

Newsmen's Contempt Hearing Set Jan. 20

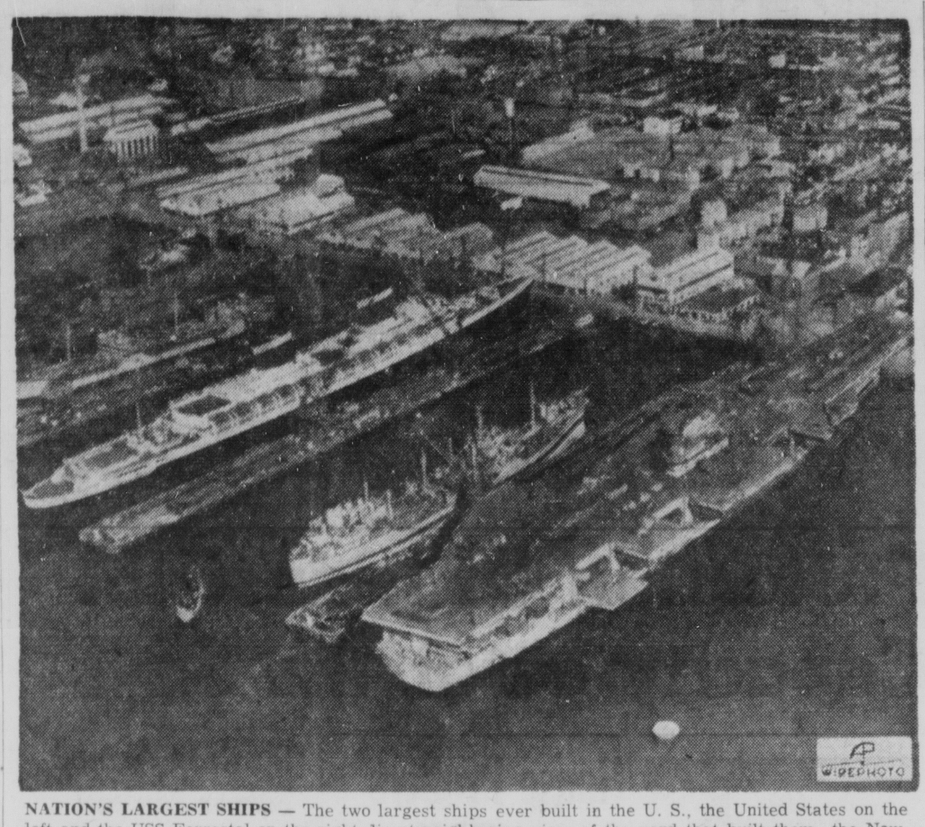

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—Westmoreland Common Pleas Court today set Jan. 20 for a hearing for six newspapermen and a commercial photographer cited for contempt of court.

They were cited by the court yesterday in connection with photographs taken inside the county courthouse Dec. 28 despite a court order forbidding them.

Cited were:

Tito Government Signs Trade Pact With Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—Russia and Yugoslavia, bitter foes in the final years of the Stalin era, signed a 20 million dollar trade agreement today.

The pact, to run for a year, marks a further step by Premier Georgi Malenkov's government to normalize relations with President Marshal Tito's Communist nation, which was ousted from the Cominform in 1948 in a row over party politics.

The pact is a barter agreement under which Yugoslavia will export chiefly meat, canned meats, tobacco and soda and Russia will send her cotton, crude oil and gasoline.

Mjalko Todorovic, a member of the Yugoslav Federal Executive Council, signed for Yugoslavia in the formal ceremony at the Soviet Trade Ministry. Foreign Trade Minister Ivan Kabanov signed for Russia.

There had been no formal trade links between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia for six years. The other Cominform countries, including Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania adjoining Yugoslavia, joined in the campaign. The new pact, however, was foreshadowed by a short term deal arranged last Oct. 1 for barter of some nonstrategic materials between the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia through the final three months of 1954.

One of the first breaks in the Moscow-Belgrade feud came in mid-1953, with an agreement between the two governments to resume the exchange of ambassadors. There have been numerous other moves from Moscow in recent months to heal the breach.

Highway Program Details To Be Drafted Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Final details of a multibillion dollar long-range highway program will be worked out here Friday in a closed door meeting of President Eisenhower's special commission on highways.

In disclosing this today, a spokesman for the commission:

1. Disavowed reports that a big cut had been made in the special 54 billion dollar, 10-year program outlined by the President.

2. Rejected as "unauthorized" but did not deny a report that the commission would propose the full 54 billion dollar program.

"The fact is," the spokesman said, "the commission hasn't reached any conclusions yet. The members hope to sign a report for submission to the President at their meeting Friday."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of the commission, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Eisenhower has said he will submit a detailed highway program to Congress on Jan. 27. The commission spokesman said it was hoped to have the final commission report on the President's desk by mid-January.

An extensive program of highway modernization has drawn support from Republican and Democratic members of Congress, but few legislators have taken a stand on a specific figure.

As of now, about 47 billion dollars is due to be spent on the nation's highways in the next 10 years with 10 billion of this sum coming from the federal government.

Eisenhower's "Grand plan" which he said is necessary in the interests of national security, called for additional spending of around 54 billions—about half going to modernize interstate highways—thus bringing the overall highway tab for the next 10 years to 101 billions.

A published report today said the commission would call for the full 101 billions.

The commission spokesman, however, said this figure represented merely one of a number of drafts.

Ailing Pontiff Takes Walk Without Support

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 5 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today walked without support in the Vatican gardens for the first time since his grave collapse of last Dec. 2.

The still ailing, 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has been taking daily automobile rides and short walks in the Vatican gardens for more than two weeks.

But today was the first time he stepped out without leaning on the arm of his private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi. The news, given by a source close to the pontiff, was especially heartening following yesterday's report that the task of preparing his delayed Christmas message to the world and other work had somewhat increased the pontiff's fatigue and weakness.

Pleasant Bank Bandit

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 5 (AP) — A lone, calm bandit held up the Parkland branch of the National Bank of Washington today and wished everybody a "Happy New Year" as he walked out with approximately $60,000.

Father Accused Of Beating Sons Attacked In Jail

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Jan. 5 (AP) —A husky farmer, charged with severely beating his two sons, was under a physician's care today after he was attacked by a dozen prisoners in the jail here.

Esco Proffitt, 42, was cut badly on the face and suffered a deep gash over one ear. Another prisoner broke his finger during the melee last night.

Sheriff Everett Rains said the attack occurred shortly after Proffitt was jailed in default of $5,000 bond on a charge of malicious striking and wounding with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

It was filed when Proffitt's two sons, John, 16, and Coy, 12, broke their pact of silence and told police they had been beaten Sunday by their father.

The sheriff said the beating, apparently with a heavy tree limb, left the younger boy's head "swollen twice the normal size." John received a gash from the center of his head to the top of his ear, the sheriff added.

A doctor who treated the boys at a Jellico, Tenn., hospital said they wouldn't have survived if they had not been as "tough as pine knots."

Sheriff Rains said the Proffitt youngsters now are being held in protective custody. Their father also was transferred to a separate cell "since feeling against him is running high," the sheriff added.

Correspondents Meet Russian Santa Claus

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—Western correspondents were admitted to the Kremlin today to shake hands with Grandfather Frost (Santa Claus) and watch thousands of Russian children dance around a huge fir tree in St. George's hall where once Czarist nobles and their ladies danced.

Tomorrow children of Western diplomats who attend Moscow's English-American school have been invited. They include the young son of U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen.

Grandfather Frost, an actor from the Moscow stage, entertained the children with the assistance of numerous singers, dancers and variety artists.

This is one of a series of parties which will continue day and night through most of January. The parties were started last year and are one of the most popular moves the government ever made. Thousands of parents are trying to get tickets for themselves and their children.

New Sea For Russia?

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 5 (AP) — Soviet Russia may be trying to create a new sea in Siberia to make up for her shortage of ice-free supply ports in the far north, the Oslo paper Morgenposten said today.

The Russians plan to "dam up the tremendous masses of water flowing northward, thus turning vast desert-like regions into a new sea," the paper's usually well-informed military writer said.

Scores Arrested In All-Out Hunt For Killers Of Panama President

Arias Transferred From His Plantation To National Guard HQ

PANAMA, Jan. 5 (AP)—Secret police and national guardsmen have jailed 70 suspects in Panama City and an unannounced number outside the national capital in the all-out hunt for the killers of President Jose Antonio Remon.

One of those arrested, ex-President Arnulfo Arias, was transferred today from his coffee plantation to national guard headquarters at David, the capital of Chiriqui Province 200 miles west of here.

Authorities apparently decided against bringing Arias to Panama City, because they feared his presence might touch off demonstrations. A chief political foe of the slain President, Arias has many supporters here as well as political enemies.

Police said they were holding for questioning in the killing an American identified as Marvin Lipstein, who was arrested at the airport Monday night. It was reported that Lipstein, who said he was born in New York City and educated at the University of Southern California, had an airline ticket to Mexico and a steamship ticket for passage from the country to Italy.

National guard officials said they are trying to trace an unidentified man wounded in the arm who sought treatment at a clinic owned by a friend of Arias.

Among others wanted for questioning is Norberto Navarro, leader of the Independent Revolutionary party. Many of those jailed belong to the Partido Panamenista (panamanian party), headed by Arias.

Arias was taken into custody at his plantation 100 miles west of David shortly after the killing Sunday night. Authorities have indicated the weapons used by the slayers implicated Arias.

Remon was shot as he chatted with friends at the Juan Franco race track, four miles from this city. Two other men were killed and three wounded in the exchange of gunfire between the President's bodyguard and his assassins.

The government has introduced measures in the National Assembly to offer a $50,000 reward for information leading to the killers and to appropriate an additional $50,000 to cover official investigation expenses.

Arias was ousted from the presidency in 1951 in a coup by the national guard which Remon headed at that time. Prior to that Arias and Remon had been close political allies.

Army Almost Gets Another Goldbrick

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 5 (AP)—The Army almost got another "goldbrick" but it won't now, thanks to legal action.

Howard Goldbrick, 17, of Jersey City, who is due to enter the Army in May, was granted permission today by County Judge James A. Coolahan to change his surname of Borodin.

In his petition, he complained that the present surname might prove "embarrasing" when he puts on Army grab" because the name goldbrick denotes a soft and easy job."

$291,000 College Fund

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 5 (AP)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., today announced a fund of $291,000 for grants to universities and colleges to help improve the teaching of science and mathematics.

Donna Reed In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5 (AP)—Film actress Donna Reed was admitted to St. John's Hospital today to undergo minor surgery. The nature of her ailment was not announced.

Marland Says W. Va. Outlook Is Favorable

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—Gov. William C. Marland said tonight that the economic outlook is favorable for West Virginia in 1955.

"West Virginia faces the new year with a great deal of optimism," he said. "The coal industry is showing signs of recovery and industrial development planning is moving at a high pitch."

The governor outlined his views on the new year in a filmed, televised interview.

He said the Mountain State's future development would be guided by results of an industrial development survey being made by Arthur D. Little Inc., a firm hired by the state last year.

When it is completed, Marland said, "West Virginia will be the best factually equipped state in the nation to compete for shifting and new industrial development." He added:

"West Virginia has a realistic industrial future and 1955 may well be the key to West Virginia's economic future."

Polish Refugee Held On Blasphemy Charge

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Jan. 5 (AP)—A man who, police said, claimed he was Jesus Christ and exhibited wounds in an attempt to prove it, was arrested here today on blasphemy charges.

City Prosecutor Steven E. Perakos identified the man as John Tschaplinski, 50, a Polish refugee who, he said dressed in a loincloth and wore on his head a crown of thorns which he pushed down to produce bleeding. Three other refugees, two of them women, were also arrested on the same charge.

All four, Perakos said, claimed to be 2,000 years old.

Perakos said the four were not members of any known religious group and said the basis of the charges was that it is against the law in Connecticut to claim to be a deity.

Bold Thief Robs Sheriff's Office

FRANKLIN, Ky., Jan. 5 (AP)—A bold thief lured a deputy from the sheriff's office today with a fake accident report and then made off with between $300 and $400 of the sheriff's personal cash.

Deputy Sheriff Reed Shoulders was alone when he received a report by telephone of a traffic mishap. He locked up and sped to the scene.

He found no accident, but upon returning to the sheriff's office on the first floor of the courthouse he discovered the door battered open and the cash drawer emptied except for change.

Peress Paper Signer Seeks Sarge's Stripes

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 5 (AP)—John J. McManus, who as an Army major signed the honorable discharge papers for former Maj. Irving Peress, said tonight he was seeking enlistment in the Army as a master sergeant.

McManus was released from active duty Nov. 4 under what the Army described as a "policy of strength reduction dictated by budgetary limitations."

The Army insisted that McManus' release was not connected with his "incidental part in the separation of former Maj. Peress."

McManus, a native of Rochester, said tonight he decided to enlist as a master sergeant after his requests for active duty were turned down.

on automobiles and trucks, and to raise the minimum wage to $1 an hour from 75 cents.

Rayburn was the only leader who made any extensive remarks today. After his election as speaker to succeed Republican Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, by a roll call vote of 266-198, he was sworn in by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga).

Rayburn will be 73 years old tomorrow. Another oldtimer, Sen. George (D-Ga), who will be 77 on Jan. 29, was elected president pro tem of the Senate by a voice vote. In this post, George will preside in the absence of Vice President Nixon.

The current Senate lineup is 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) who said in advance he would vote with the Democrats in organizing the Senate. Morse moved today in the center of the Democratic side of the chamber, flanked by Sen. Byrd and Sen. Green (D-RI).

The House lineup is 231 Democrats, 203 Republicans and one Democratic vacancy in Florida.

Boost In State

tax by 25 per cent for corporations, and 50 per cent for individuals and trusts.

The governor offered hope, however, that in hitting the taxpayer for more of his income the blow could be softened.

"At the present stage of our studies," he said, "we are very hopeful that the income tax exemption for dependents can be increased from $600 to $1,000 beginning with the withholding plan next July 1."

He said he was spurning a recommendation to tax cigarettes because "we are seeking to avoid hurting any line of business, or even creating what might be termed a mental hazard for business. We believe this policy is to the advantage of the state and all of its citizens."

Capitol Has Its Greatest Feminine Representation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Solemn, serious-eyed and maybe just a bit nervous, four new women lawmakers raised their right hands today and were sworn in as members of the 84th Congress.

Along with the 12 who have served before, they gave the capitol its greatest feminine representation in history. And the ladies could also count Hawaii's nonvoting delegate, Mrs. Betty Farrington, in their fold.

The newcomers, all Democrats, were Reps. Iris Blitch of Georgia, Edith Green of Oregon, Martha Griffiths of Michigan and Coya Knutson of Minnesota.

Watching from the packed galleries were the husbands of three—Hicks G. Griffiths, Detroit lawyer; Erwin Blitch, homerville druggist and farmer, and Arthur N. Green, who sold his electrical supply business in Portland to come to Washington.

The husband of the fourth, Andrew Knutson, a hotel owner in Oklee, Minn., was ill and unable to be present. But the couple's 14-year-old son, Terry, sat proudly beside his mother on the House floor.

Griffiths had reason this day to be pleased. It was he who insisted that his wife—whom he married at the University of Missouri—study law with him at the University of Michigan and run first for the Michigan Legislature and then for Congress.

Together with a fellow student, Gov. G. Mennen Williams—who was down here to see Mrs. Griffiths sworn in—the Griffiths hung out their shingel. Then Williams became governor of Michigan and now Mrs. Griffiths has come to Congress.

"That leaves me at home practicing law," said Griffiths.

Dick Green, 12, son of the new congresswoman from Oregon, was an honorary page for the day. The Greens have another son in the Army.

The Blitchs' two children—a son, Brooks, at the University of Georgia, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry Turberville, Phenix City, Ala., couldn't get here but sent their young looking dark-eyed mother warm messages.

On the other side of the capitol, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) was sworn in for her second term and for this occasion wore a blue dress and a single huge full-blown red rose.

She is the only woman Senate member. In the House there are 15 women—9 Democrats and 6 Republicans. All 11 women representatives in the last Congress were reelected.

Congratulations Sent Adenauer On 77th Birthday

BONN, Germany, Jan. 5 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer turned 79 today, straight-backed as ever and looking ahead to further work at West Germany's helm.

There was a public reception at his chancellery on the Rhine, a private party with his seven children in his modest home and, in between, a bit of business—a conference with a French diplomat that arranged for talks between Adenauer and Premier Pierre Mendes-France in Baden Baden at the end of next week.

Congratulations of Adenauer's countrymen and the Western world poured in on the austere old statesman. Among them was a message of "warm congratulations and good wishes" from British Prime Minister Churchill, who celebrated his 80th birthday last Nov. 30.

The Chancellor, dressed in cutaway and striped trouers, stood for three hours to shake hands with a long line of diplomats and top personalities of German public life at the chancellery. A widower, he was flanked by his four sons and three daughters.

Tomorrow the Chancellor, who ordinarily puts in a brisk 12 hours a day, gets back to work with a series of conferences with leaders of his four-party coalition to map strategy for speeding parliamentary ratification of the Paris accords for West German rearmament in the Western defense lineup.

These problems and the Saar presumably will be topics in his coming conference with Mendes-France. Adenauer took time out from his birthday celebration to arrange with Jean Soutou, one of the French Premier's closest aides, the details of the Baden Baden meeting.

It will be their first meeting since they signed the historic treaties in Paris Oct. 23 to bring rearmed West Germany into NATO and the first postwar official visit of a French Premier to this Federal Republic.

Newsmen's Contempt Hearing Set Jan. 20

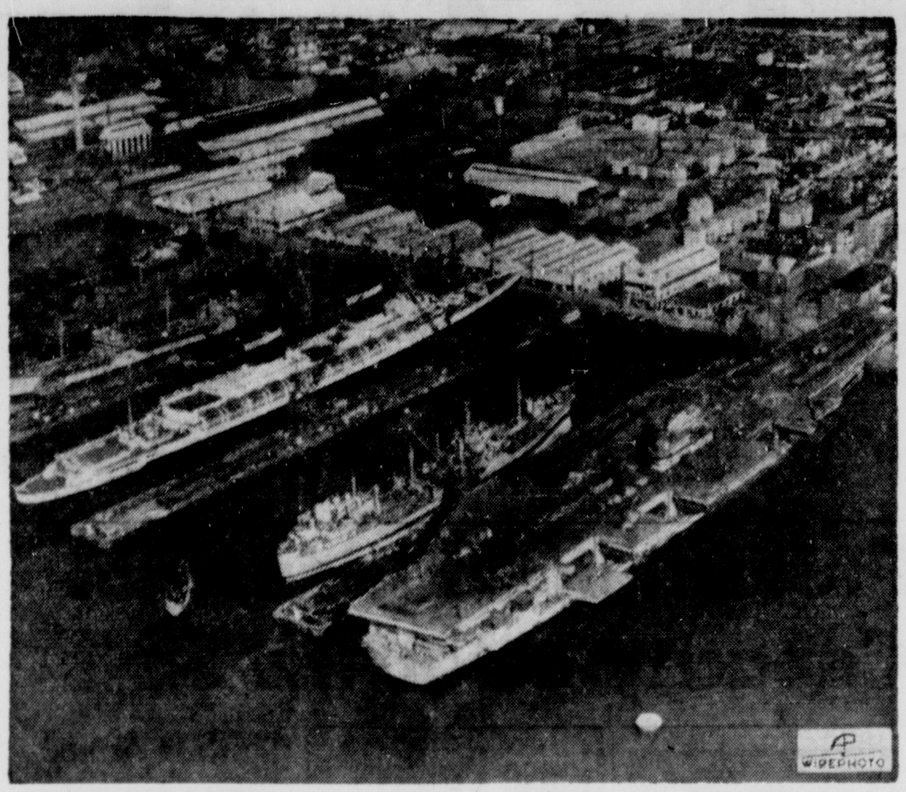

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 5 (AP)—Westmoreland Common Pleas Court today set Jan. 20 for a hearing for six newspapermen and a commercial photographer cited for contempt of court.

They were cited by the court yesterday in connection with photographs taken inside the county courthouse Dec. 28 despite a court order forbidding them.

Cited were:

Tito Government Signs Trade Pact With Soviet Union

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—Russia and Yugoslavia, bitter foes in the final years of the Stalin era, signed a 20 million dollar trade agreement today.

The pact, to run for a year, marks a further step by Premier Georgi Malenkov's government to normalize relations with President Marshal Tito's Communist nation, which was ousted from the Cominform in 1948 in a row over party politics.

The pact is a barter agreement under which Yugoslavia will export chiefly meat, canned meats, tobacco and soda and Russia will send her cotton, crude oil and gasoline.

Mjalko Todorovic, a member of the Yugoslav Federal Executive Council, signed for Yugoslavia in the formal ceremony at the Soviet Trade Ministry. Foreign Trade Minister Ivan Kabanov signed for Russia.

There had been no formal trade links between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia for six years. The other Cominform countries, including Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania adjoining Yugoslavia, joined in the campaign. The new pact, however, was foreshadowed by a short term deal arranged last Oct. 1 for barter of some nonstrategic materials between the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia through the final three months of 1954.

One of the first breaks in the Moscow-Belgrade feud came in mid-1953, with an agreement between the two governments to resume the exchange of ambassadors. There have been numerous other moves from Moscow in recent months to heal the breach.

Highway Program Details To Be Drafted Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Final details of a multibillion dollar long-range highway program will be worked out here Friday in a closed door meeting of President Eisenhower's special commission on highways.

In disclosing this today, a spokesman for the commission:

1. Disavowed reports that a big cut had been made in the special 54 billion dollar, 10-year program outlined by the President.

2. Rejected as "unauthorized" but did not deny a report that the commission would propose the full 54 billion dollar program.

"The fact is," the spokesman said, "the commission hasn't reached any conclusions yet. The members hope to sign a report for submission to the President at their meeting Friday."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of the commission, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Eisenhower has said he will submit a detailed highway program to Congress on Jan. 27. The commission spokesman said it was hoped to have the final commission report on the President's desk by mid-January.

An extensive program of highway modernization has drawn support from Republican and Democratic members of Congress, but few legislators have taken a stand on a specific figure.

As of now, about 47 billion dollars is due to be spent on the nation's highways in the next 10 years with 10 billion of this sum coming from the federal government.

Eisenhower's "Grand plan" which he said is necessary in the interests of national security, called for additional spending of around 54 billions—about half going to modernize interstate highways—thus bringing the overall highway tab for the next 10 years to 101 billions.

A published report today said the commission would call for the full 101 billions.

The commission spokesman, however, said this figure represented merely one of a number of drafts.

Ailing Pontiff Takes Walk Without Support

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 5 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today walked without support in the Vatican gardens for the first time since his grave collapse of last Dec. 2.

The still ailing, 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has been taking daily automobile rides and short walks in the Vatican gardens for more than two weeks.

But today was the first time he stepped out without leaning on the arm of his private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi. The news, given by a source close to the pontiff, was especially heartening following yesterday's report that the task of preparing his delayed Christmas message to the world and other work had somewhat increased the pontiff's fatigue and weakness.

Pleasant Bank Bandit

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 5 (AP)—A lone, calm bandit held up the Parkland branch of the National Bank of Washington today and wished everybody a "Happy New Year" as he walked out with approximately $60,000.

Father Accused Of Beating Sons Attacked In Jail

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky., Jan. 5 (AP)—A husky farmer, charged with severely beating his two sons, was under a physician's care today after he was attacked by a dozen prisoners in the jail here.

Esco Proffitt, 42, was cut badly on the face and suffered a deep gash over one ear. Another prisoner broke his finger during the melee last night.

Sheriff Everett Rains said the attack occurred shortly after Proffitt was jailed in default of $5,000 bond on a charge of malicious striking and wounding with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

It was filed when Proffitt's two sons, John, 16, and Coy, 12, broke their pact of silence and told police they had been beaten Sunday by their father.

The sheriff said the beating, apparently with a heavy tree limb, left the younger boy's head "swollen twice the normal size." John received a gash from the center of his head to the top of his ear, the sheriff added.

A doctor who treated the boys at a Jellico, Tenn., hospital said they wouldn't have survived if they had not been as "tough as pine knots."

Sheriff Rains said the Proffitt youngsters now are being held in protective custody. Their father also was transferred to a separate cell "since feeling against him is running high," the sheriff added.

Correspondents Meet Russian Santa Claus

MOSCOW, Jan. 5 (AP)—Western correspondents were admitted to the Kremlin today to shake hands with Grandfather Frost (Santa Claus) and watch thousands of Russian children dance around a huge fir tree in St. George's hall where once Czarist nobles and their ladies danced.

Tomorrow children of Western diplomats who attend Moscow's English-American school have been invited. They include the young son of U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen.

Grandfather Frost, an actor from the Moscow stage, entertained the children with the assistance of numerous singers, dancers and variety artists.

This is one of a series of parties which will continue day and night through most of January. The parties were started last year and are one of the most popular moves the government ever made. Thousands of parents are trying to get tickets for themselves and their children.

New Sea For Russia?

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 5 (AP)—Soviet Russia may be trying to create a new sea in Siberia to make up for her shortage of ice-free supply ports in the far north, the Oslo paper Morgenposten said today.

The Russians plan to "dam up the tremendous masses of water flowing northward, thus turning vast desert-like regions into a new sea," the paper's usually well-informed military writer said.

Elkins To Take Over As U. Of Md. President Jan. 20

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 5 (AP) — The University of Maryland said today it expects 2,500 guests for the formal inauguration of Dr. Wilson Homer Elkins as its new president on January 20.

Dr. Elkins, formerly president of Texas Western College at El Paso, took over his new job last Sept. 1. He had been named last spring to succeed Dr. H. C. Byrd, who resigned to make his unsuccessful campaign for governor.

The Elkins inaugural will be part of the university's 148th annual celebration of Charter Day and the various events on the program will take up most of the day.

The 10 a.m. to noon period has been designated for registration and welcoming of guests.

A luncheon for the guests of honor will be followed by the formal inauguration ceremonies at 2 p.m.

Gov. McKeldin has been invited to make one of the principal addresses after the full dress academic procession. There will be greetings by spokesmen for the Student Government Association and the faculty.

Judge William P. Cole Jr., chairman of the Board of Regents, will deliver the charge of office to the new president and Dr. Elkins will respond with the principal address of the day.

A reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Elkins will follow the ceremonies.

Dr. Elkins is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Texas, where he also was a star athlete. He holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Oxford, where he studied as a Rhodes scholar.

HOUSE MEMBERS TAKE OATH OF OFFICE — Members of the House of Representatives, hands upraised, take the oath of office in the lower chamber yesterday from Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), right, standing, hand on desk. Others are not identified.

5 Of 99 Baltimore Murders In 1954 Still Unsolved

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—Baltimore had a lot more murders in 1954, the Police Department said today in an annual review of its records, but the perpetrators of all but five were caught.

The files showed 99 murder victims in 1954, compared with 63 in 1953.

Ten of the 1953 cases still are unsolved.

George H. Mintiens, captain of detectives, said the Nov. 8 slaying of 14-year-old Carolyn Wasilewski was the most baffling of last year's cases.

"Although we have questioned more than 200 persons," Capt. Mintiens said, "we have not been able to establish a motive for this murder.

"There's no letup in the police investigation, but to date nothing of value has been uncovered which might lead to a solution and the arrest of the killer."

The other four homicides in 1954 which the police list as still unsolved:

Jan. 11 — Woodrow Wilson Robbins, 36, found with three bullets in his head in a parked car. Three children told police they saw the murderer leave the scene, but they were not able to give an accurate description.

Oct. 6 — Miriam A. Sauler, 19-year-old Negro, found in her bed suffocated by a pillow.

Dec. 1—Mrs. Florence Williams, 36-year-old Negro, fatally stabbed in the hallway of her home. Several occupants of the house said they saw a man run out the front door a few minutes earlier.

Dec. 12 — John D. Rogers, 27-year-old Negro, shot to death as he climbed from an automobile at an uptown street corner. Bystanders described a man and woman in the car but police have been unable to find them.

Attachment Against Bank Cashier Is Ordered Killed

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—An order has been entered dismissing the attachment of the personal property of John W. Meredith, 50-year-old Fairmont resident under indictment in a half-million dollar bank shortage.

U. S. District Court here received the order yesterday from Herbert S. Boreman, judge for the northern district of West Virginia.

The petition for attachment was made by two Baltimore bonding firms which seek to recover $450,944 they say they paid to the First National Bank in Fairmont under a blanket bond on which they were security.

Meredith, then cashier at the First National, was arrested at his home here last August and indicted on 18 counts by a federal grand jury on Oct. 23.

The companies, the Fidelity and Deposit Insurance Co. and Continental Casualty, said they had paid to the bank a total of $516,907 but sought to recover only $450,944 since some of the money had been recovered through certain credits and allowances.

The federal grand jury indictments against Meredith also charged Lee S. Ford of Uniontown, Pa., and John Manchin of Farmington with aiding and abetting in the shortages. Ford, 46, is president of the Hammond Brick Co. of Grafton. Manchin is a furniture dealer.

Meet At Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 5 (AP)—About 100 fruit growers from Maryland and nearby West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania gathered here today for the two-day annual meeting of the Maryland Horticultural Society.

Elections are set for tomorrow at the 57th annual session.

R. Samuel Dillon, Hancock orchardist, advised fruit growers in the area to make more extensive use of irrigation. He said growers in the Pacific northwest get 800-1500 boxes per acre while in this area the yield is 200-300.

Barber Is Fined $25 After Copper Gets Close Shave

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—A cop got a close shave today and the barber was fined $25.

The cop wasn't in a barber chair. Lieut. Edward S. Eben said he was at Baltimore and Frederick streets as Hillard E. Gray, 39, came along in a car.

Eben said the car almost hit a woman and that in pulling her out of the way he was grazed on the leg. He said the car nicked a curb and that the barber came out of the auto in something of a lather when he and Patrolman Samuel Liberto stopped him. Eben said the patrolman had to subdue Gray when he began fighting.

Magistrate William Laukaitis imposed the fine on a disorderly conduct charge.

Lankford Takes Office As Md. Congressman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Floyd Lankford of Harwood, Md., "a good Democrat 83 years old," watched her son, Richard E. Lankford take office today as Maryland's new congressman.

Also here for the ceremonies as the House convened were Lankford's wife and their two children, Sallie, 6, and Richard E. Jr. 5.

72 Illegal Stills Seized In State

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—Maryland officials said 72 illegal liquor stills were knocked off in Maryland last year, most of them in Southern Maryland or on the Eastern Shore.

The Maryland Alcohol Tax Enforcement Unit got 29 stills. The others were seized by other authorities or by Maryland and federal agents working together.

A report from Comptroller J. Millard Tawes said retailers were saved an estimated $575,797 in sales losses as a result of the stills seized by the Maryland unit.

The so-called "border patrol" also arrested 51 persons trying to bring 303 gallons of liquor across state boundaries in violation of state tax laws. Retail value was put at $3,360.

The largest number of stills—18—were seized in St. Mary's County. Charles County was next with 12, Anne Arundel had 10, Prince Georges 8 and Dorchester 7.

Elkins To Take Over As U. Of Md. President Jan. 20

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Jan. 5 (AP) — The University of Maryland said today it expects 2,500 guests for the formal inauguration of Dr. Wilson Homer Elkins as its new president on January 20.

Dr. Elkins, formerly president of Texas Western College at El Paso, took over his new job last Sept. 1. He had been named last spring to succeed Dr. H. C. Byrd, who resigned to make his unsuccessful campaign for governor.

The Elkins inaugural will be part of the university's 148th annual celebration of Charter Day and the various events on the program will take up most of the day.

The 10 a.m. to noon period has been designated for registration and welcoming of guests.

A luncheon for the guests of honor will be followed by the formal inauguration ceremonies at 2 p.m.

Gov. McKeldin has been invited to make one of the principal addresses after the full dress academic procession. There will be greetings by spokesmen for the Student Government Association and the faculty.

Judge William P. Cole Jr., chairman of the Board of Regents, will deliver the charge of office to the new president and Dr. Elkins will respond with the principal address of the day.

A reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Elkins will follow the ceremonies.

Dr. Elkins is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Texas, where he also was a star athlete. He holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Oxford, where he studied as a Rhodes scholar.

Attachment Against Bank Cashier Is Ordered Killed

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 5 (AP)—An order has been entered dismissing the attachment of the personal property of John W. Meredith, 50-year-old Fairmont resident under indictment in a half-million dollar bank shortage.

U. S. District Court here received the order yesterday from Herbert S. Boreman, judge for the northern district of West Virginia.

The petition for attachment was made by two Baltimore bonding firms which seek to recover $450,944 they say they paid to the First National Bank in Fairmont under a blanket bond on which they were security.

Meredith, then cashier at the First National, was arrested at his home here last August and indicted on 18 counts by a federal grand jury on Oct. 23.

The companies, the Fidelity and Deposit Insurance Co. and Continental Casualty, said they had paid to the bank a total of $516,907 but sought to recover only $450,944 since some of the money had been recovered through certain credits and allowances.

The federal grand jury indictments against Meredith also charged Lee S. Ford of Uniontown, Pa., and John Manchin of Farmington with aiding and abetting in the shortages. Ford, 46, is president of the Hammond Brick Co. of Grafton. Manchin is a furniture dealer.

Meet At Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 5 (AP)—About 100 fruit growers from Maryland and nearby West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania gathered here today for the two-day annual meeting of the Maryland Horticultural Society.

Elections are set for tomorrow at the 57th annual session.

R. Samuel Dillon, Hancock orchardist, advised fruit growers in the area to make more extensive use of irrigation. He said growers in the Pacific northwest get 800-1500 boxes per acre while in this area the yield is 200-300.

Barber Is Fined $25 After Copper Gets Close Shave

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—A cop got a close shave today and the barber was fined $25.

The cop wasn't in a barber chair. Lieut. Edward S. Eben said he was at Baltimore and Frederick streets as Hillard E. Gray, 39, came along in a car.

Eben said the car almost hit a woman and that in pulling her out of the way he was grazed on the leg. He said the car nicked a curb and that the barber came out of the auto in something of a lather when he and Patrolman Samuel Liberto stopped him. Eben said the patrolman had to subdue Gray when he began fighting.

Magistrate William Laukaitis imposed the fine on a disorderly conduct charge.

Lankford Takes Office As Md. Congressman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Floyd Lankford of Harwood, Md., "a good Democrat 83 years old," watched her son, Richard E. Lankford take office today as Maryland's new congressman.

Also here for the ceremonies as the House convened were Lankford's wife and their two children, Sallie, 6, and Richard E. Jr. 5.

72 Illegal Stills Seized In State

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—Maryland officials said 72 illegal liquor stills were knocked off in Maryland last year, most of them in Southern Maryland or on the Eastern Shore.

The Maryland Alcohol Tax Enforcement Unit got 29 stills. The others were seized by other authorities or by Maryland and federal agents working together.

A report from Comptroller J. Millard Tawes said retailers were saved an estimated $575,797 in sales losses as a result of the stills seized by the Maryland unit.

The so-called "border patrol" also arrested 51 persons trying to bring 303 gallons of liquor across state boundaries in violation of state tax laws. Retail value was put at $3,360.

The largest number of stills—18—were seized in St. Mary's County. Charles County was next with 12. Anne Arundel had 10, Prince Georges 8 and Dorchester 7.

W. Berlin Cuts Cables

BERLIN, Jan. 5 (AP)—West Berlin telephone officials said tonight telephone cables running into the Soviet sector of the city—already cut on that side by the Communists—will also be cut on the Western side.

5 Of 99 Baltimore Murders In 1954 Still Unsolved

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—Baltimore had a lot more murders in 1954, the Police Department said today in an annual review of its records, but the perpetrators of all but five were caught.

The files showed 99 murder victims in 1954, compared with 63 in 1953.

Ten of the 1953 cases still are unsolved.

George H. Mintiens, captain of detectives, said the Nov. 8 slaying of 14-year-old Carolyn Wasilewski was the most baffling of last year's cases.

"Although we have questioned more than 200 persons," Capt. Mintiens said, "we have not been able to establish a motive for this murder.

"There's no letup in the police investigation, but to date nothing of value has been uncovered which might lead to a solution and the arrest of the killer."

The other four homicides in 1954 which the police list as still unsolved:

Jan. 11 — Woodrow Wilson Robbins, 36, found with three bullets in his head in a parked car. Three children told police they saw the murderer leave the scene, but they were not able to give an accurate description.

Oct. 6 — Miriam A. Sauler, 19-year-old Negro, found in her bed suffocated by a pillow.

Dec. 1—Mrs. Florence Williams, 36-year-old Negro, fatally stabbed in the hallway of her home. Several occupants of the house said they saw a man run out the front door a few minutes earlier.

Dec. 12 — John D. Rogers, 27-year-old Negro, shot to death as he climbed from an automobile at an uptown street corner. Bystanders described a man and woman in the car but police have been unable to find them.

Nation Faces Major Problem Of Finding Suitable Homes For Retired Workers

EDITOR'S Note: There is no consideration in retirement more important than the place of abode for the elderly ex-worker. This, the third of five articles, discusses a problem of major proportions to millions of Americans nearing the exit from the business world—and to their families as well.

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—The horrors of the oldtime poorhouse have almost vanished from the American scene, but the problem of finding suitable homes for the aged remains a major cause of social heartache.

Surveys show that most old folk prefer to remain independent by living away from their children. But in seeking this goal, many thousands find only expensive frustration. The way is often bleak and hazardous.

Dr. Nathan Shock, chief gerontologist at the National Institutes of Health, notes with a word of alarm that oldsters in increasing numbers are signing over their assets to nursing homes in return for pledges of lifetime care.

"Such homes are springing up all over the country," Dr. Shock said in an interview. "Their prices range from $5,000 to $10,000 a year and up."

Although many such homes may provide happy and healthful surroundings for the aged, Dr. Shock says:

"Some of them make me shudder. In fine print, the contracts say that if a person becomes sick he must go to a private hospital. Naturally, many old people become ill sooner or later and are shunted off to the hospital—with all their money gone."

What are other alternatives for the old folk, bearing in mind that as time passes they are more and more likely to need general assistance and medical care?

President Eisenhower's special health commission estimates there are 8,850 private old age homes in the United States. The figure does not include hundreds, perhaps thousands, of small-scale homes operated by retired nurses who take in two or three elderly boarder-patients.

In addition, there are 11,610 nonprofit homes for the aged.

Judging from costs in the area of Washington, D. C., nearby Maryland and Virginia, the expense of supporting an aged or ailing relative in a private nursing home may be prohibitive to the average American family.

A spot check showed the average charge is $200 a month. It varies from $125 a month in cheaper homes, if the inmate is able-bodied, to $500 and up if the patient is bed-ridden and requires medical aid. Fees are even higher in homes for mental patients.

In a tour of a number of these institutions, I found that some maintained standards expected in this so-called enlightened age. But others were grim havens of loneliness and despair that might have been lifted from novels of a century or two ago.

At one institution seven ancients were crowded on narrow iron cots in one small room. The space had neither curtains nor rugs. The day was sweltering but the room had not even the comfort of a small fan. The fee to each client: $200 a month.

At a home in the Maryland countryside, I saw a gentle-eyed old lady sitting on a crowded couch alongside a babbling mongoloid who was being spoon fed with watery gruel.

Young married couples who seek to support aged and ailing relatives in their own homes usually encounter burdensome nursing costs.

The Washington Visiting Nurses Assn. says a trained nurse costs $3.25 for the first hour of a home visit and $2 an hour thereafter. A practical nurse costs at least $1 an hour or $5 a day with room and board.

And so often in modern living, there is little room in the home for elderly relatives.

Experts on old-age matters, or geontologists, say the trend toward compact living in city apartments or snug suburban homes has virtually excluded oldsters from their traditional spot by the family fireside.

Fifty years ago more than half the population in the United States lived on farms. Today 80 per cent live in cities and towns.

Thus, where the majority of elderly men and women once lived out their lives in the shelter of the family farm, they are now forced to look elsewhere. Often their lone recourse is a furnished room or an institution.

Recent surveys show that most oldsters would prefer to live by themselves—if financially able to do so—but close enough to their children to visit them often. In that way they retain their independence and self-respect without interfering with the lives of the younger generation.

Largely due to federal social security benefits, the almshouse and the poor farm have virtually disappeared, but 2½ million Americans now receive federal-state old age assistance averaging $51.39 a month. To qualify, they must be virtually destitute.

The federal government contributes about half the cost of state old age assistance payments. Each state sets its own conditions for such aid. The federal government restricts its contributions to those who are over 65 and in need.

France Frees Spy Suspect Until Trial

PARIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Rose-Marie Ollier, former French diplomat accused of passing information to Soviet agents in Australia, was freed today until her trial.

She was arrested Aug. 22, after she was implicated in testimony before the Australian Royal Commission by Vladimir Petrov, former official in the Soviet Embassy in Canberra who with his wife asked for political asylum in Australia. Petrov gave authorities information on Soviet espionage activities in that country.

Mrs. Ollier, a mother of two children, had been second secretary of the French Embassy in the Australian capital.

Brought back to France last October, she was charged with "endangering the external security of the state." If convicted, she could be sentenced to life imprisonment. Her lawyer said all the information she gave already had appeared in Australian newspapers.

Neighbors Help Woman To Raise Money For Trial

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 5 (AP)—A tiny Phoenix woman is making a house-to-house plea among her neighbors to raise money for her new trial in the fatal shooting of her husband.

Mrs. Jean Chase, 39, convicted of killing her husband Roger, who was night news editor for a local radio station and formerly a Chicago radioman, was granted a new trial by the Arizona Supreme Court last week.

Mrs. Chase is free on $2,500 bond pending the new trial.

Chase was shot on a desert highway north of here Sept. 11, 1953, as the couple was returning from a holiday in Las Vegas, Nev.

"I feel like a complete burden and I just can't ask my family to pay for my second trial. I must raise the money, at least part of it, myself, even if it means this," Mrs. Chase said.

She said she had collected $13.50 during the first day's canvass.

"People have been so nice. They have invited me in, have fixed hot coffee for me, and they have given me what they could. Most of it has been in small change or dollar bills," Mrs. Chase said.

Mrs. Chase, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in her first trial and is risking a death sentence in the second, said her mother and brother have been supporting her.

"It would be easy for me to continue to let them, but I don't want to be a burden . . . They have borrowed money and I must help myself. Mother is a widow and she is not well."

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Mrs. Chase is free on $2,500 bond pending the new trial.

Chase was shot on a desert highway north of here Sept. 11, 1953, as the couple was returning from a holiday in Las Vegas, Nev.

"I feel like a complete burden and I just can't ask my family to pay for my second trial. I must raise the money, at least part of it, myself, even if it means this," Mrs. Chase said.

She said she had collected $13.50 during the first day's canvass.

"People have been so nice. They have invited me in, have fixed hot coffee for me, and they have given me what they could. Most of it has been in small change or dollar bills," Mrs. Chase said.

Mrs. Chase, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in her first trial and is risking a death sentence in the second, said her mother and brother have been supporting her.

"It would be easy for me to continue to let them, but I don't want to be a burden . . . They have borrowed money and I must help myself. Mother is a widow and she is not well."

France Frees Spy Suspect Until Trial

PARIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Rose-Marie Ollier, former French diplomat accused of passing information to Soviet agents in Australia, was freed today until her trial.

She was arrested Aug. 22, after she was implicated in testimony before the Australian Royal Commission by Vladimir Petrov, former official in the Soviet Embassy in Canberra who with his wife asked for political asylum in Australia. Petrov gave authorities information on Soviet espionage activities in that country.

Mrs. Ollier, a mother of two children, had been second secretary of the French Embassy in the Australian capital.

Brought back to France last October, she was charged with "endangering the external security of the state." If convicted, she could be sentenced to life imprisonment. Her lawyer said all the information she gave already had appeared in Australian newspapers.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

College Girls Tell How To Make A Felt Skirt

AP Newsfeatures

The full-circle felt skirt, popular on college campuses the country over, can be made with a minimum of time and expense.

Instructors at Stephens College have evolved a method of using 72 inch material and following the pattern (above) drawn to scale.

There's no hemming to do — just cut out the circle, slash on the foldline 7½ inches for the zipper, and sew on the belt.

Here's a chance to draw on the imagination and decorate the skirt with sequin designs, angora animals, other colored felt, or a variety of sewing notions.

These skirts can be elaborately made, or simply designed to fit any occasion.

Doris Jean Layman Becomes Bride Of Francis C. Taccino

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Layman, 36 Green Street, Frostburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Doris Jean Layman, to Francis C. Taccino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taccino, 96 East Main Street, December 26 in St. Michael's Catholic Church with Rev. Francis E. Montgomery officiating.

Miss Mary Louise Layman was her sister's maid of honor, while another sister, Anita Kay Layman was flower girl, and Arthur Valanzano, ring bearer. Michael Taccino served as best man and the ushers were Glyn Geis and Samuel Taccino.

A program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Genevieve Goldsworthy, who also accompanied Miss Patricia Allen, singing, "Ave Maria," and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length net gown over satin with mandarin collar and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip length veil of tulle was held by a lace tiara embroidered in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid with streamers of white satin ribbons.

The maid-of-honor wore a ballerina length gown of blue net with a blue lace jacket and matching mitts. She carried a nosegay of American Beauty roses and had a headdress of snapdragons and roses. The flower girl wore a white satin frock with a headdress of snapdragons and carried a nosegay of pink roses and carnations.

Mrs. Layman wore a powder-blue crepe dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Taccino wore a copen-blue silk print dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bridal motif was carried out in the tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Samuel Layman, of Anacostia; Mrs. Arthur Valanzano, Eckhart, and Mrs. Michael Taccino, of Pittsburgh, Pa., served the wedding cake.

The bride is a graduate of Beall High School, the class of 1951. Until her recent resignation was employed at the Frostburg National Bank.

The bridegroom is a graduate of LaSalle High School, class of 1954, and is serving with the United States Air Force at Biloxi, Mississippi.

For their wedding trip through Pennsylvania, the bride wore a blue tweed wool suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Taccino will reside in Biloxi, Mississippi.

Mr., Mrs. Harry Hillegass Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hillegass of 456 Pennsylvania Avenue, observed their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday.

They are to be entertained Sunday with an open house in celebration of their golden wedding. It is to be given by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hillegass, from 2 until 5 o'clock, at their home. Friends and neighbors are invited to attend.

The former Miss Minerva Diehl, daughter of the late Adam and Hannah Diehl of near Beuna Vista, Pa., became the bride of Mr. Hillegass, son of the late Mrs. Sarah Hillegass, Windber, Pa., January 5, 1905. The ceremony was solemnized at Manns Choice, Pa., by the Rev. Warlick.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillegass are the parents of one son, Walter W. Hillegass. They have one grandson.

Mr. Hillegass is a retired Kelly Springfield Tire Company employe. He was employed by the company for 26 years as an electrical truck driver. He spends his time taking care of the house and of Mrs. Hillegass, who has been an invalid for the past 40 years.

A family dinner was held January 2 at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, 454 Pennsylvania Avenue. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Darnley, Miss Edith Darnley, David Lichty, Cumberland; and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Englans of Bedford, Pa.

Club Elects

The Woman's Club of St. Ambrose Catholic Church, Cresaptown, elected Mrs. Louise Boyle president at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Hyacinth Skelley, McMullen Highway.

Other officers are Mrs. Marguerite Hines, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Lovette, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Smith, treasurer.

Miss Jackson Wins Award In Drive

Miss Julia Jackson won the $50 first prize in the special membership drive of the Western Maryland Bridge Association, Albert D. Heacox said last evening.

Miss Jackson obtained five of the eight new members enrolled during the drive beginning September 1 and ending December 31.

Needing 75 points to qualify, Miss Jackson had 78 points. The points were given for bringing new players to any bridge session; each time the member plays with the guest player; each time the member plays with any guest player; for each time a guest player attends a session; and 10 points for each new member secured.

Another membership drive is being planned for early May, Mr. Heacox said.

Sixteen registrations are necessary to begin the lessons in advanced duplicate being given by A. J. Feigus. Classes will be on Fridays, either afternoon or evening, depending on the wish of the majority. The first will be at 7 p.m. tomorrow. Those wishing to take the course are to register either with Miss Julia Jackson, 4611 or Mr. Heacox, 4808.

Bernice Ketterman Becomes Bride Of Charles Hymes

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ketterman, Hendricks, W. Va., announce the marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Bernice Ketterman, to Charles Hymes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hymes.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized Christmas day in the Parsons Evangelical United Brethren Church, with Rev. G. Bland Brady officiating. The altar was decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and candelabra of lighted tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin, Baltimore, were their attendants.

The bride wore a street length dress of pleated pink crepe and matching accessories. She carried a white Bible with white rosebud marker and white satin streamers.

Her matron of honor wore a brown suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Parsons High School, class of 1954 and is employed by Barb's Drug Store. The bridegroom is a graduate of Parsons High School, class of 1953 and is employed by the Dorman Mills Inc.

An informal reception and dinner were held at the home of the bride's parents and the bridegroom's mother in Hambleton, for the bridal party and immediate families.

At present the couple is residing with her parents.

Mr., Mrs. Harry Hillegass Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hillegass of 456 Pennsylvania Avenue, observed their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday.

They are to be entertained Sunday with an open house in celebration of their golden wedding. It is to be given by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hillegass, from 2 until 5 o'clock, at their home. Friends and neighbors are invited to attend.

The former Miss Minerva Diehl, daughter of the late Adam and Hannah Diehl of near Beuna Vista, Pa., became the bride of Mr. Hillegass, son of the late Mrs. Sarah Hillegass, Windber, Pa., January 5, 1905. The ceremony was solemnized at Manns Choice, Pa., by the Rev. Warlick.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillegass are the parents of one son, Walter W. Hillegass. They have one grandson.

Mr. Hillegass is a retired Kelly Springfield Tire Company employe. He was employed by the company for 26 years as an electrical truck driver. He spends his time taking care of the house and of Mrs. Hillegass, who has been an invalid for the past 40 years.

A family dinner was held January 2 at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, 454 Pennsylvania Avenue. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Darnley, Miss Edith Darnley, David Lichty, Cumberland; and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Englans of Bedford, Pa.

Club Elects

The Woman's Club of St. Ambrose Catholic Church, Cresaptown, elected Mrs. Louise Boyle president at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Hyacinth Skelley, McMullen Highway.

Other officers are Mrs. Marguerite Hines, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Lovette, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Smith, treasurer.

Miss Jackson Wins Award In Drive

Miss Julia Jackson won the $50 first prize in the special membership drive of the Western Maryland Bridge Association, Albert D. Heacox said last evening.

Miss Jackson obtained five of the eight new members enrolled during the drive beginning September 1 and ending December 31.

Needing 75 points to qualify, Miss Jackson had 78 points. The points were given for bringing new players to any bridge session; each time the member plays with the guest player; each time the member plays with any guest player; for each time a guest player attends a session; and 10 points for each new member secured.

Another membership drive is being planned for early May, Mr. Heacox said.

Sixteen registrations are necessary to begin the lessons in advanced duplicate being given by A. J. Feigus. Classes will be on Fridays, either afternoon or evening, depending on the wish of the majority. The first will be at 7 p.m. tomorrow. Those wishing to take the course are to register either with Miss Julia Jackson, 4611 or Mr. Heacox, 4808.

Bernice Ketterman Becomes Bride Of Charles Hymes

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ketterman, Hendricks, W. Va., announce the marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Bernice Ketterman, to Charles Hymes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hymes.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized Christmas day in the Parsons Evangelical United Brethren Church, with Rev. G. Bland Brady officiating. The altar was decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums and candelabra of lighted tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin, Baltimore, were their attendants.

The bride wore a street length dress of pleated pink crepe and matching accessories. She carried a white Bible with white rosebud marker and white satin streamers.

Her matron of honor wore a brown suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Parsons High School, class of 1954 and is employed by Barb's Drug Store. The bridegroom is a graduate of Parsons High School, class of 1953 and is employed by the Dorman Mills Inc.

An informal reception and dinner were held at the home of the bride's parents and the bridegroom's mother in Hambleton, for the bridal party and immediate families.

At present the couple is residing with her parents.

Local Persons Hurt In Ohio Auto Mishap

Two of three members of a Cumberland family remain hospitalized in East Liverpool, Ohio, as a result of injuries received in an auto accident Monday, December 27.

In East Liverpool City Hospital are Mrs. Ella Klavuhn, and her son-in-law, Paul F. Gilford, both of 511 Baltimore Avenue.

Mrs. Georgetta Gilford, wife and daughter of the two injured persons, was released last week from the hospital where she was treated for a fractured right foot.

Mrs. Klavuhn is being treated for fractured right and left feet, fractured right lower leg and serious lacerations.

Gilford received internal injuries and a puncture wound of the neck and jaw.

Members of the family from Cumberland who went to East Liverpool said they were injured in a two-car headon collision at Circleville, Ohio, 10 miles from East Liverpool, as they were en route to Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilford and Mrs. Klavuhn had been visiting members of Mrs. Klavuhns family residing in East Liverpool and were en route to visit other relatives in Portsmouth.

Ohio State Police are holding under bond the driver of the car that crashed into the auto operated by Gilford.

Relatives here said the Ohio driver passed a car on the right hand side, hit a soft shoulder and careened into the side of Gilford's machine which the Cumberland man had veered as close to the guardrail as he could.

Moose Group Plans To Fete Carscaden

The president of the Maryland Moose Association, William R. Carscaden, a local attorney, will be honored at the mid-winter conference of the association Friday, through Sunday, January 21 to 23.

A leadership class enrollment honoring Carscaden will have the degree exemplified by the state champion degree staff of Catonsville Lodge 373 in the Salisbury Moose Home on Friday at 8:30 p. m.

Saturday will have an executive committee meeting and luncheon with Earl W. Horton, director of the national Moose membership conservation department, as speaker.

A dinner that evening will honor John C. Meilkle, supreme councilman. Sunday will be devoted to ceremonials and ritual review.

The event is for secretaries, governors and ritualists of Moose lodges in Maryland.

Board Members To Attend Clinic

Two top Allegany County Board of Education supervisory members will attend a reading clinic today and Friday at Towson State Teachers College.

Attending are Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, and Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools.

The clinic consultant will be Dr. Marjory Sedden Johnson supervisor of the reading program at Temple University.

The two-day event will be around reading problems in the high schools.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A newspaper columnist remarked recently that the people she has interviewed fall into two groups — those who are "comfortable" to talk with, and others. The conversational faults of the latter group were described by the writer in this manner:

"Some people live in the clouds. They are so concerned with the effect of their words that they seldom relax. Every sentence is phrased to create a character, not to project a real personality.

"Others are so unsure of themselves that they never venture a personal and singular opinion or observation. Each statement is prefaced by 'so-and-so-says.' You don't run into such people often in public life, but the less prominent often fall back on third-person props.

Ego Builders

"There are some very important people who continually wear out one topic — themselves. I asked one young actress a direct question about her childhood . . . instead of a direct answer, I heard a dissertation covering every day of her life from birth to present date.

"Sometimes I interview a man or woman who refuses to be pinned down. I don't get story material, I get questions about what it's like to be a newspaperwoman! A few people — just as difficult — jump from one thought to another, so that when I begin to write a story from my notes, there is no continuous thread.

"It's hard to believe, but some rather big names are gossips. They'd rather talk about what others are doing, and perhaps shouldn't, than what they themselves have done to be worth writing about.

"There is just one other type I find really exasperating: people who are free with their ideas and opinions, then admonish me not to print what they've just repeated!"

You, Too!

People you see quoted in newspaper columns aren't so very different from the people you know, or from yourself. If you were to read, word for word, a transcript of just one day's conversations, you would choose tones and topics more carefully. You'd never join the uncomfortable - to - talk - with groups this columnist cites.

Jaycees Hold Ladies Night

Approximately 100 persons attended the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce ladies night program Tuesday night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Mrs. Anne B. Everline, office secretary of the Jaycees since the organization was chartered in 1939, was a special guest at the affair.

George Eskin, local Fort Hill High School student who captured the state "Voice of Democracy" contest, presented his winning speech at the dinner, praising the freedom of the individual and dignity of man in "Anytown, U.S.A."

Entertainment followed the dinner program with Joseph H. Pellerzi as master of ceremonies. The Dixie Cats, six-piece band from Allegany High School which won regional amateur contest in Richmond recently, played several numbers. Games and stunts with members of the Jaycees and their wives participating were part of the entertainment program.

George Carney is president of the local organization.

B&O Carmen Will Install

E. S. Leasure, 538 Eastern Avenue, will be installed as president of Maryland Lodge 656, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, Tuesday, January 11 at 6:30 p. m. at the Odd Fellows Hall, Virginia Avenue.

Other officers of the 500-member B&O Carmen local are D. L. Boyd, vice-president; R. I. Ruckman, recording secretary; A. M. Gall, financial secretary; W. F. Staarman, treasurer.

Trustees are Boyd, six years; W. D. Johnson, four years; and C. R. Teets, two years.

Ruckman is trade education director; C. W. Miller, guide; Johnson, warden; C. C. Wolford, sentinel; and S. G. Mock, chaplain.

The local committee includes W. L. Corrick, chairman; R. H. Breighner, vice-chairman; C. R. Teets, secretary; and W. E. Bishop, member.

Class To Meet

The Work and Win Class of Living Stone Church of the Brethren will hold a business meeting January 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the church.

WM Hauls Truck Trailers On Specially Built Flatcars

The first truck trailers to be hauled by the Western Maryland Railway passed through Cumberland at 6:23 a. m. yesterday en route from Baltimore to Chicago.

The Western Maryland is an important section of a system of four connecting railroads that hook up Baltimore and Chicago, and is also in the five-railroad chain between Philadelphia and Chicago.

Two trailers on specially equipped flatcars were in the fast freight known as PSC 1. Leaving Baltimore early yesterday they will arrive in Chicago early today, Western Maryland officials report.

At Connellsville, the fast freight is carried over the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Lines, and subsequently goes over the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad to the Nickle Plate Road which takes it into Chicago.

The "piggy-back" transportation of the trailers takes the loaded vehicles to a terminal in Chicago where tractors pick them up and haul them to their local destination.

Similar service has been instituted by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which calls its trailer hauling system "Toffcee,"—"trailer on flat car," and by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Western Maryland fast freights which give second morning delivery between Philadelphia and Chicago and Baltimore and Chicago have top priority on the lines of the connecting railroads.

Appliance Store Is Entered, $100 Taken

B. J. Sunderlin, 1 East Mary Street, reported to City Police yesterday that his appliance store on Virginia Avenue was broken into sometime Sunday night an $10 in change was stolen, along with some other items in the store.

City detectives investigating the breaking and entering said a thin bladed knife was used to force the latch on the rear door of the building at 1302 Virginia Avenue. The money was taken from a container in a showcase in the main storeroom, Sunderlin said. Value of the stolen articles was set at $100.

Fort Hill Players Planning Operetta

"Little Red Riding Hood" will be the presentation of the Fort Hill High School Players at their final three-act production this school year.

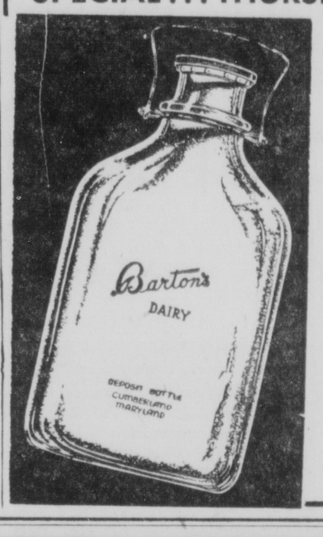

A children's play is a bi-annua. project of the organization, an operetta in conjunction with the musical groups of the school every other year.

The cast includes seven characters, four girls and three boys.

The play will be presented in the Fort Hill Auditorium during the second week of February.

Casting is under way, and Miss Helen Smith, advisor, expects to complete the cast in the near future.

MARTIN'S

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5 — (INS) — How would you like to see Dan Dailey in "The Comedian," the wonderful story Ernest Lehmann wrote for Cosmopolitan magazine several years ago?

Well, it's a big possibility. George Glass owns the screen rights to the story and he is meeting with Dan today. Dan is very excited about the whole thing, and if George can borrow him from 20th Century Fox, he's the boy who will get the plum role.

Jackie Gleason was talked about for the top role, but won't have time to make a picture.

It never ceases to astound me that Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, up to their necks with their "I Love Lucy" series, can find the time, patience and the ambition to produce TV shows other than their own.

Far from retrenching now they've bought Motion Picture Center, I happen to know Lucy and Desi are on the verge of signing Producer Sam Marx to be their executive producer—and if the deal jells — Sam's play "Girls In Greasepaint" will be made for TV

Martin Leeds, their managing director, says they are also preparing "Those Sisters" and are very much interested in Anna Maria Alberghetti and Rosemarie for the leads.

A sneak preview to end all "sneaks" (which seldom get farther away from Hollywood than San Francisco or San Diego) was when Paramount rushed through the first print on Bob Hope's "The Seven Little Foys" and flew it 3,000 miles to the Paramount Theatre in New York!

The city slickers, unused to such an event, nearly tore the place down.

The audience really came down in a heap when, at the end of what I think is Bob's best comedy, it was discovered that Bob himself was seated in the balcony with prexy Barney Balaban.

Chatter in Hollywood:

While Merle Oberon is entertaining her Spanish admirer Count Jose Estardes, Dr. Rex Ross very thoughtfully went to Palm Springs on a hunting expedition.

However, Rex telephoned the attractive Merle on the stroke of midnight New Year's Eve. She says the count is an old friend and it's no romance, but he was certainly attentive to her when they dined a few evenings ago at La Rue's.

Lee Anderson, attractive vice-president of the Jimmy McHugh Polio Foundation, collected $1,000 from George Cameron Jr., wealthy oilman, for this worthy cause.

Said George, "I am doing this to show my appreciation for the wonderful work this group is doing for the children of America."

Cameron, himself the father of four small children, realizes how important is the work the foundation is doing in supplying respirators to the hospitals.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lady Lawford, mother of Peter Lawford, is coming along nicely after her operation. She was on the critical list for a few days, but now she is convalescing at home.

All those men lunching with Terry Moore at the Luau were the crew on the plane that brought her back from Greenland and other points where she entertained the troops at Christmas.

The Charlton Heston's date with the stork is set for Feb. 27.

Novelist Ernest Gann, who broke his left leg skiing, has thrown away his crutches and is preparing for a trip half way around the world before finishing his next novel.

Sidney Blackmer, so desperately ill he wasn't expected to live, is recuperating so fast that he will be on television's Four Star Theatre Jan. 24. His pal, Pat O'Brien, took over Sid's previous assignment when he became ill.

John Farrow called Maureen O'Sullivan from New York before he took off for India and said, "Pray for a speedy return." In three hours he was on the phone again and said, "Your prayers were answered; we took off but had to turn back." Maureen's mother, Mrs. Mary O'Sullivan, returned to Dublin today.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

SIGNALS NOT COMMANDS

YOUR partner's signals are not in any sense commands. They are messages. He tries to tell you how things look from his side of the table, when he gives you an "encouraging" high card on a trick or a "discouraging" low card. But he can't see your hand. There may be facts about your own holding, which he couldn't possibly surmise, but which you absolutely know. You must therefore govern your ensuing action by a combination of what he tells you and what you see.

As soon as East heard North pass the 2-Hearts, he felt that the opener had been caught in the act of making a third-hand psychic opening of 1-No Trump, a disease to which he was known to be addicted. So East reopened the bidding with his double. He was delighted when West turned that into a penalty double with his business pass.

West, for some reason or maybe no reason for his choice of card, led the spade 3, which East took with the A. Deciding to seek a ruff in clubs, and sure his partner could regain the lead, perhaps with the trump A, he laid down the club A. When he saw his partner's 3 on it, he paused for reflection and decided West wanted him to lead something else. So he chose a trump, the 7, which West won with the A. West, feeling sure his partner had held a singleton club A, returned the 9 of that suit. Thereafter it was impossible for the defenders to take anything except the spade A and heart Q, so that South made his doubled contract to have a cheap game.

East should have realized that West's club 3 could have been from a holding of three or four, just what he hoped for. Accordingly, the low card should not have deterred him from leading his second club. That would have assured defeat of the contract with a ruff as soon as West gained the lead with the heart A.

Coed Is Chosen Maid Of Cotton

MEMPHIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—A beautiful Oklahoma blonde, De Lois Faulkner of Sallisaw, was named the 1955 Maid of Cotton tonight.

The 20-year-old senior at Oklahoma A&M, winner of six other "queen" titles, topped a field of 22 cotton belt state beauties, was named first alternate. A Galveston, Tex. schoolteacher, Mary Lou Holliday, 22, is second alternate.

The annual contest to pick the cotton industry's "good will ambassador" was held before a near-capacity invitation-only crowd in a downtown auditorium.

Beauty was important. But in this contest, the judges give heavy importance also to the candidate's poise, personality, flair for fashion and family background.

The new maid leaves Thursday for New York. She'll be outfitted with an elaborate wardrobe and make a six-month tour of North America and Europe.

She keeps the wardrobe, of course, and on her return picks up the keys to a new convertible.

A person must have been a citizen of the United States to be elected to the Hall of Fame for Great Americans.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5 — (INS) — How would you like to see Dan Dailey in "The Comedian," the wonderful story Ernest Lehmann wrote for Cosmopolitan magazine several years ago?

Well, it's a big possibility. George Glass owns the screen rights to the story and he is meeting with Dan today. Dan is very excited about the whole thing, and if George can borrow him from 20th Century Fox, he's the boy who will get the plum role.

Jackie Gleason was talked about for the top role, but won't have time to make a picture.

It never ceases to astound me that Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, up to their necks with their "I Love Lucy" series, can find the time, patience and the ambition to produce TV shows other than their own.

Far from retrenching now they've bought Motion Picture Center, I happen to know Lucy and Desi are on the verge of signing Producer Sam Marx to be their executive producer—and if the deal jells — Sam's play "Girls In Greasepaint" will be made for TV

Martin Leeds, their managing director, says they are also preparing "Those Sisters" and are very much interested in Anna Maria Alberghetti and Rosemarie for the leads.

A sneak preview to end all "sneaks" (which seldom get farther away from Hollywood than San Francisco or San Diego) was when Paramount rushed through the first print on Bob Hope's "The Seven Little Foys" and flew it 3,000 miles to the Paramount Theatre in New York!

The city slickers, unused to such an event, nearly tore the place down.

The audience really came down in a heap when, at the end of what I think is Bob's best comedy, it was discovered that Bob himself was seated in the balcony with prexy Barney Balaban.

Chatter in Hollywood:

While Merle Oberon is entertaining her Spanish admirer Count Jose Estardes, Dr. Rex Ross very thoughtfully went to Palm Springs on a hunting expedition.

However, Rex telephoned the attractive Merle on the stroke of midnight New Year's Eve. She says the count is an old friend and it's no romance, but he was certainly attentive to her when they dined a few evenings ago at La Rue's.

Lee Anderson, attractive vice-president of the Jimmy McHugh Polio Foundation, collected $1,000 from George Cameron Jr., wealthy oilman, for this worthy cause.

Said George, "I am doing this to show my appreciation for the wonderful work this group is doing for the children of America."

Cameron, himself the father of four small children, realizes how important is the work the foundation is doing in supplying respirators to the hospitals.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Lady Lawford, mother of Peter Lawford, is coming along nicely after her operation. She was on the critical list for a few days, but now she is convalescing at home.

All those men lunching with Terry Moore at the Luau were the crew on the plane that brought her back from Greenland and other points where she entertained the troops at Christmas.

The Charlton Heston's date with the stork is set for Feb. 27.

Novelist Ernest Gann, who broke his left leg skiing, has thrown away his crutches and is preparing for a trip half way around the world before finishing his next novel.

Sidney Blackmer, so desperately ill he wasn't expected to live, is recuperating so fast that he will be on television's Four Star Theatre Jan. 24. His pal, Pat O'Brien, took over Sid's previous assignment when he became ill.

John Farrow called Maureen O'Sullivan from New York before he took off for India and said, "Pray for a speedy return." In three hours he was on the phone again and said, "Your prayers were answered; we took off but had to turn back." Maureen's mother, Mrs. Mary O'Sullivan, returned to Dublin today.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

FBI Chief Reports 5% Rise In Serious Crimes In 1954

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover estimated today that despite improved law enforcement, serious crimes in the United States rose another 5 per cent to a new high in 1954.

Also, in a review of the year submitted to Atty. Gen. Brownell, Hoover asserted that, "The need for eternal vigilance against subversion by followers of the Communist party becomes more necessary with the worldwide rise of 'neutralism' and the intensified Soviet propaganda program of 'peaceful coexistence.'"

The FBI director, who currently estimates the American Communist party membership at roughly 24,000, said:

"The Communist action program for the United States is being geared to cause a lowering of our guard which, if successful, could have far reaching and disastrous consequences."

The report noted that exact crime statistics for the nation last year have not been compiled but on the basis of preliminary tabulations of police reports from all parts of the country, Hoover said:

"The past year will record a new high for the past 10 years in crimes of robbery, aggravated assault, rape, burglary and larceny."

Compared with 1953, however, there were fewer homicides and less auto thefts.

"In 1954, bank robberies totaled 307 as compared with 248 in 1953; bank burglaries 176 as compared with 154 in 1953; and bank larcenies rose to 34 compared with 16 in 1953.

"Convictions under the federal bank robbery statute totaled 315 last year as compared with 193 in 1953."

Bank embezzlements and defalcations by bank employees investigated by the FBI totaled 1,065 and Hoover said the FBI "with increasing frequency is observing cases wherein shortages have been concealed over a period of years by skillful manipulation of accounts and figures."

Discussing cases of fraud against the government, he said a total of 275 convictions were secured. He said these cases investigated by the FBI resulted in fines, savings and recoveries totaling $5,516,923 as compared with $3,518,023 and 233 convictions in 1953. In theft of government property cases, convictions totaled 701 in 1954 as against 494 in 1953.

Congressional Library Honors Whitman Poetry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP) — In 1882, the New England Society for the Suppression of Vice assailed Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" as unfit for the eyes of upright American citizens.

Today the Library of Congress opens an elaborate exhibit commemorating the 100th anniversary of the publication of "Leaves of Grass," now regarded among the greatest collections of poetry ever written by an American.

No one seriously questions any longer the propriety of Whitman's poetry. But what a storm it stirred up in the 19th Century! A library spokesman called Whitman's collection "the most controversial book" of the century.

The storm swirled around two poems in the giant work: "A Woman Waits for Me" and "Ode To A Common Prostitute."

"Leaves of Grass," whose most popular poem was the celebrated ode to Abraham Lincoln, "O Captain, My Captain," originally was published in 1855. The two challenged poems were included in a new edition which James R. Osgood & Co. printed in 1882.

Boston's district attorney, Oliver Stevens, was moved by protests to write Whitman he'd have to "expurgate" those two poems or else Boston would suppress the collection.

Whitman refused. The ban was ordered and Osgood withdrew as publisher. Whitman found another publisher, however, and the edition came out anyway. Scorned by many Americans, it first found favor through the applause of such celebrated British poets as Tennyson and Swinburne.

Much of Whitman's artistic career actually was devoted to assaults on things he considered immoral—like whisky. His first published work was a temperance tract.

Accident Probe Closed By Police

City police yesterday closed their investigation of injuries suffered by a 65-year-old grandmother who fell from a moving automobile on Washington Street early Tuesday morning.

Detective Donald H. Smith said he questioned the woman, Mrs. Ollie Snyder of 236 Paca Street, at Memorial Hospital yesterday morning and she verified that she had fallen from the car as had been reported.

Smith said Mrs. Snyder told him she was riding in the back seat of the vehicle, had leaned forward to speak to people in the front seat when the car door opened an she fell to the street.

Driver of the car, Nancy Lee Walters, 20, Mrs. Snyder's granddaughter, filed an accident report with police yesterday. She said she was driving west o Washington Street about 1 a. m. While the car was traveling about 25 miles an hour on a straightway with a slight grade, the left rear door of the car opened and Mrs. Snyder fell out, the report claimed. The driver said she came to a complete stop when she discovered what had happened.

Mrs. Snyder, who suffered a fractured left leg, injuries of the arm and head and multiple bruises and facial cuts, is in satisfactory condition, hospital attendants said.

Rights-Of-Way Deeded To County Board

Rights-of-way have been obtained for future work on a short street in Bowling Green and have been deeded to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, according to papers filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court land records office.

J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the County Roads Department, said the property owners along Maple Street petitioned the County Commissioners to have the street surface treated.

The procedure, he explained, is to have the rights-of-way deeded to the County Commissioners. Then at the next budget session, which in this case is April, the commissioners see if they can work the project into the year's program.

Maple Street, he said, runs from Bowling Avenue to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad right-of-way. It is a dead end street.

Those signing over the rights-of-way were Ray T. and Olive Lee Ryan, Andrian R. and Esther M. Martin, Douglas A. and Ellen H. Golliday, William C. and Catherine J. Day; Ralph G. and Ethel M. Cover, Rev. C. Lloyd Voll, president, and William C. Holbrook, secretary of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Willys L. and Leona R. Smelser, Elizabeth E. and Winfield H. Adam, and Henry C. and Marine M. Convery.

Bowling Green Firemen, Auxiliary Will Install

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies Auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers today at 7 p.m. at the fire hall.

An entertainment program will follow the business session, and members of the Auxiliary have arranged a buffet luncheon.

Gets Building Permit

A permit to erect a two-story double dwelling on part of 424 on Lot 43 Memorial Avenue has been granted by the building engineer to G. F. Reiter. Cost is estimated at $15,000 and work will be done by Henry Dressman.

Rev. Warner To Talk To Men Of LaSalle

Men of LaSalle will meet today at 8 p.m. at Carroll Hall.

Rev. Carroll Warner, OFM Cap., will speak. His talk will concern the building fund for a proposed new school.

Between 420 and 450 tons of steel products, on the average, are required for every million dollars spent on highway construction in the United States.

FBI Chief Reports 5% Rise In Serious Crimes In 1954

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover estimated today that despite improved law enforcement, serious crimes in the United States rose another 5 per cent to a new high in 1954.

Also, in a review of the year submitted to Atty. Gen. Brownell, Hoover asserted that, "The need for eternal vigilance against subversion by followers of the Communist party becomes more necessary with the worldwide rise of 'neutralism' and the intensified Soviet propaganda program of 'peaceful coexistence.'"

The FBI director, who currently estimates the American Communist party membership at roughly 24,000, said:

"The Communist action program for the United States is being geared to cause a lowering of our guard which, if successful, could have far reaching and disastrous consequences."

The report noted that exact crime statistics for the nation last year have not been compiled but on the basis of preliminary tabulations of police reports from all parts of the country, Hoover said:

"The past year will record a new high for the past 10 years in crimes of robbery, aggravated assault, rape, burglary and larceny."

Compared with 1953, however, there were fewer homicides and less auto thefts.

"In 1954, bank robberies totaled 307 as compared with 248 in 1953; bank burglaries 176 as compared with 154 in 1953; and bank larcenies rose to 34 compared with 16 in 1953.

"Convictions under the federal bank robbery statute totaled 315 last year as compared with 193 in 1953."

Bank embezzlements and defalcations by bank employees investigated by the FBI totaled 1,065 and Hoover said the FBI "with increasing frequency is observing cases wherein shortages have been concealed over a period of years by skillful manipulation of accounts and figures."

Discussing cases of fraud against the government, he said a total of 275 convictions were secured. He said these cases investigated by the FBI resulted in fines, savings and recoveries totaling $5,516,923 as compared with $3,518,023 and 233 convictions in 1953. In theft of government property cases, convictions totaled 701 in 1954 as against 494 in 1953.

Congressional Library Honors Whitman Poetry

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP) — In 1882, the New England Society for the Suppression of Vice assailed Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" as unfit for the eyes of upright American citizens.

Today the Library of Congress opens an elaborate exhibit commemorating the 100th anniversary of the publication of "Leaves of Grass," now regarded among the greatest collections of poetry ever written by an American.

No one seriously questions any longer the propriety of Whitman's poetry. But what a storm it stirred up in the 19th Century! A library spokesman called Whitman's collection "the most controversial book" of the century.

The storm swirled around two poems in the giant work: "A Woman Waits for Me" and "Ode To A Common Prostitute."

"Leaves of Grass," whose most popular poem was the celebrated ode to Abraham Lincoln, "O Captain, My Captain," originally was published in 1855. The two challenged poems were included in a new edition which James R. Osgood & Co. printed in 1882.

Boston's district attorney, Oliver Stevens, was moved by protests to write Whitman he'd have to "expurgate" those two poems or else Boston would suppress the collection.

Whitman refused. The ban was ordered and Osgood withdrew as publisher. Whitman found another publisher, however, and the edition came out anyway. Scorned by many Americans, it first found favor through the applause of such celebrated British poets as Tennyson and Swinburne.

Much of Whitman's artistic career actually was devoted to assaults on things he considered immoral—like whisky. His first published work was a temperance tract.

Accident Probe Closed By Police

City police yesterday closed their investigation of injuries suffered by a 65-year-old grandmother who fell from a moving automobile on Washington Street early Tuesday morning.

Detective Donald H. Smith said he questioned the woman, Mrs. Ollie Snyder of 236 Paca Street, at Memorial Hospital yesterday morning and she verified that she had fallen from the car as had been reported.

Smith said Mrs. Snyder told him she was riding in the back seat of the vehicle, had leaned forward to speak to people in the front seat when the car door opened an she fell to the street.

Driver of the car, Nancy Lee Walters, 20, Mrs. Snyder's granddaughter, filed an accident report with police yesterday. She said she was driving west o Washington Street about 1 a. m. While the car was traveling about 25 miles an hour on a straightway with a slight grade, the left rear door of the car opened and Mrs. Snyder fell out, the report claimed. The driver said she came to a complete stop when she discovered what had happened.

Mrs. Snyder, who suffered a fractured left leg, injuries of the arm and head and multiple bruises and facial cuts, is in satisfactory condition, hospital attendants said.

Group Selects October Dates For Land Week

Followup Meeting Planned Jan. 31

Maryland Land Week, which will emphasize the four Western Maryland counties this year, will be observed the week of October 9.

A decision on the dates was made Tuesday afternoon when representatives of Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties met at the Hotel Alexander in Hagerstown. Washington County Agent Mark K. Miller was temporary chairman of the meeting and Allegany County Agent Joseph M. Steger was temporary secretary.

Besides favoring fall dates rather than a period in the summer, the representatives selected a 12-member committee to plan details for land week. Selected from Allegany County were Charles L. Kopp, retired superintendent of schools and a member of the County Forest Conservancy Board; Floyd Buser, president of the County Farm Bureau, and Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, a past president of the County Homemakers Council.

A followup meeting will be conducted Monday afternoon, January 31, in the office of County Agent Steger in the Court House here.

Representing Allegany County besides Steger were District Forester William H. Johnson, Martin M. Gordon, soil conservationist, and Dale Arner, wildlife technician of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

A number of dignitaries from Annapolis and College Park also attended the Hagerstown meeting.

Sailor, Stabbed In Quarrel, Improves

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher yesterday said the parents of Edward Raymond Vinci, 19-year-old Pekin sailor, have reported their son is improving in Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser, W.Va.

Vinci was stabbed in the abdomen during an argument in a Westernport restaurant December 30. Held in connection with the case is Richard Kerns, 18, of Westernport. No charge has been placed pending outcome of Vinci's injuries.

Equity Suits Filed

Five equity suits have been filed so far in the first week of the new year in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Howard William Jones vs. Marie Katherine Jones, Mary C. Zimmerla vs. John A. Zimmerla, Virginia L. Anderson vs. James A. Anderson, Betty Blackmon vs. William D. Blackmon and Shirley Mae Swan vs. Kenneth Douglas Swan.

Vandalism Reported In South End

City Police are investigating reports of vandalism in the vicinity of Fifth Street in South Cumberland by a gang of young boys armed with air rifles and slingshots.

Lt. James E. Van of the City Detective Bureau, said the vandals shot out windows in the Church of God building at the corner of Fifth and Seymour streets, threw stones on the roof of the unfinished church and otherwise destroyed the church property.

Mrs. Margaret E. Kane, 407 Fifth Street, also reported that the gang broke off corner stones in front of her home, shot out the windows with air guns and threw rocks in the windows and onto the roof.

City Detective Joseph Stitcher is investigating.

Maryland Death Rate Reaches All-Time Low

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP)—The State Department of Health said preliminary figures indicate Maryland's 1954 death rate reached an all-time low.

The dip in the rate of deaths was influenced heavily by a whopping cut of 44.9 per cent in tuberculosis deaths in the State.

The 1954 birth rate — 65,000 during the year — was also at an all time high.

Last year's overall death rate of 9.1 per thousand of population is 5.4 per cent lower than the three-year 1951 to 1953 average of 9.7.

Only 13.6 per 100,000 of population died of TB last year. The 1951-1953 average was 24.6 per 100,000. Ten years ago, the TB death rate was 71.3.

The number of TB cases has not decreased correspondingly, it was reported. New cases continue to crop up at a brisk but somewhat reduced rate.

New methods of treatment were credited with reducing the mortality rate.

Heart disease, the State's No. 1 killer, remains the cause of more than 40 per cent of all deaths but has declined 7.4 per cent.

Dr. A. W. Hedrich, chief of the division of vital records and statistics, said the percentage decline in heart disease deaths was four times as high for people under 65, the period when it is considered preventable, than for people more than 65.

Navy Seeking Ex-Servicemen

The Navy is seeking men with previous Naval service, and according to Lt. Commander W. T. Davern, in charge of recruiting in the Baltimore area, is offering a new inducement to enlistment.

Under a new regulation, men who have been out of the Navy a year or less, may now re-enlist in most grades with their old ratings. Prior to this announcement, three months out of service caused any ex-sailor to lose his rating if he re-enlisted. The time has been extended for nine months in an effort to encourage experienced Navy men to return to the fleet.

Local recruiters said yesterday the Navy is attracting more and more young men, but the older and more experienced men are needed to help train the youngsters, fill many stations and man the fleet.

Recruiters said this new policy will be in effect until June 30, and it is the first time the offer has been made since 1942, when the three-months period on retaining ratings on re-enlistment was adopted.

Amended Resolution Sent To State Board

An amended resolution on the financing of Cumberland's sewage treatment system has been forwarded to the State Board of Health, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

He said the resolution is to be acted upon at the January 14 meeting of the board in Baltimore.

The state asked that the original resolution, filed some time ago, be amended to include figures on the cost of the project, plus mention of a $90,000 bond issue sold in 1934 under a Board of Health mandate and still outstanding.

Mayor Eves said the city has been assured that, with the suggested changes, the resolution will be passed next week, paving the way for the awarding of the contract.

Navy Seeking Ex-Servicemen

The Navy is seeking men with previous Naval service, and according to Lt. Commander W. T. Davern, in charge of recruiting in the Baltimore area, is offering a new inducement to enlistment.

Under a new regulation, men who have been out of the Navy a year or less, may now re-enlist in most grades with their old ratings. Prior to this announcement, three months out of service caused any ex-sailor to lose his rating if he re-enlisted. The time has been extended for nine months in an effort to encourage experienced Navy men to return to the fleet.

Local recruiters said yesterday the Navy is attracting more and more young men, but the older and more experienced men are needed to help train the youngsters, fill many stations and man the fleet.

Recruiters said this new policy will be in effect until June 30, and it is the first time the offer has been made since 1942, when the three-months period on retaining ratings on re-enlistment was adopted.

Amended Resolution Sent To State Board

An amended resolution on the financing of Cumberland's sewage treatment system has been forwarded to the State Board of Health, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

He said the resolution is to be acted upon at the January 14 meeting of the board in Baltimore.

The state asked that the original resolution, filed some time ago, be amended to include figures on the cost of the project, plus mention of a $90,000 bond issue sold in 1934 under a Board of Health mandate and still outstanding.

Mayor Eves said the city has been assured that, with the suggested changes, the resolution will be passed next week, paving the way for the awarding of the contract.

Church Ladies To Meet

FROSTBURG — The Ladies Aid Society of First Congregational Church will meet this evening at 7:45 o'clock, in the church social room. There will be an election of officers, and the present officers will serve as hostesses.

Dimes Dance Slated January 29 By VFW

A March of Dimes dance will be held by Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, January 29 at the post home.

The plans for the dance were completed at a meeting Tuesday night. Rudy Sullivan will provide music for the affair, which will get under way at 9 p. m.. General chairman is Raymond Reynolds. A floor show with local talent is being planned.

A membership rally will get under way soon and the date will be announced later.

The regular Saturday night dances will resume this Saturday with music by Rudy Sullivan. Members and friends are invited. Dancing begins at 9:30 p. m.

Schedule Meetings

The regular weekly meeting of the City Recreation Department Badminton Club for Adults will be held today from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Fort Hill School gymnasium. The club is still open to family groups and individuals.

The club for boys will meet Saturday from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and for girls 2:30 to 5 p.m.

12 Area Men Join US Army

Twelve area men enlisted in the US Army at the local recruiting station during the latter part of December, according to M.Sgt. George M. Wells, recruiter in charge.

The group, all three-year enlistees, were shipped to Ft. Jackson, S. C. for initial processing.

Enlisted are James A. Stevens, 23 Hill Street, Frostburg; Howard Joseph Corley, 918 Gay Street, city; Raymond Eugene Minnick Jr., Hyndman, Pa.; Robert Logan, Van Dyke, Mich., who was visiting at Emoryville, W. Va. and enlisted with Kenneth Lynn Hipp of Emoryville.

Marriage Licenses

Peter Ray Brangard Jr., and Mary Kathryn Moore, both Fairchance, Pa.

Ronald Chester May, Lloydell, Pa., and Evelyn May Boyer, Windber, Pa.

John Henry Kuhn, Cresaptown, and Margaret Frances Hill, RFD 4, Christie Road.

Elks' Ladies To Meet

FROSTBURG — The Ladies of the Elks will resume their regular social meetings this evening, at 8:30 o'clock, at the Elks Home. Mrs. William Davis is chairman of the hostesses.

Lives Can Be Saved With Safety Devices

Safety experts in the automotive and allied industries have been advocating for many years more and better safety equipment for the millions of automobiles on the nation's highways. Airplanes have incorporated many safety gadgets which have been accepted and taken for granted by the passengers of the airways. But the public has not demanded or even shown much interest in these same life-saving gadgets when applied to automobiles.

With the automotive death rate approaching 40,000 annually, and with new car engines reaching heretofore undreamed of horsepower and compression, it is imperative that safety equipment be installed on automobiles, and quickly.

The safety belt, a very simple and inexpensive yet remarkably successful contrivance, is one of many such devices which could be installed on all cars as standard equipment. Many experiments with this life-saving belt have demonstrated its practicability. Despite this only a small percentage of automobiles are equipped with a safety belt and most of these were installed by the owners themselves.

Of course there are many other safety devices worthy of mention such as crash helmets, collapsible windshields, padded dashboards, shock absorbing steering columns, and better constructed seats. But it has been estimated that the safety belt alone could reduce personal injuries 50 per cent and greatly reduce the number of those killed.

When one remembers all the paraphernalia the first automobile drivers needed just to keep themselves free from dust, mud and oil-dusters, goggles and cover-all caps—it should make the modern driver a mite embarrassed to object to a simple, unobtrusive rig attached to his car when he knows it may some day save his life.

The Ladejinsky Case

The case of Wolf Ladejinsky concerns a public official once employed by the Department of Agriculture and subsequently by the Department of State. His most recent position was as chief of the Far Eastern Division of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations attached to our embassy in Japan. That office has now been transferred to the Department of Agriculture by Act of Congress, in which agency it will be the Foreign Agricultural Services.

The State Department is satisfied with Ladejinsky's services and praises him for his work. He has been screened by State for security purposes and has not been found unsatisfactory. The Department of Agriculture finds Ladejinsky inadequate and is not satisfied with his security clearances.

The Ladejinsky case has been boomed up into a major political issue. The Department of Agriculture's case, so far as the public is concerned, rests on two indisputable facts:

1. He was once employed by the forerunner of Amtorg, a Russian trading agency which has also served as a cover for espionage;
2. He has some sisters still living in Russia.

The presentation of the case against Wolf Ladejinsky by the Department of Agriculture has, thus far, been amateurish and discredits the anti-Communist movement and the system of screening more than it harms Ladejinsky. If the Department of Agriculture cannot produce a better case, Ezra Taft Benson, who is, in my opinion, the ablest man in our cabinet, ought to admit that he has been misinformed and he ought to apologize to Ladejinsky. If Mr. Benson has a better case, he ought to state it now.

In all the material I have read on subversives and Communists since 1917, I have never quite seen the equal of a statement by John Glen Cassity, the Agriculture Department's security chief, which reads:

"Would you write articles critical of the Communist government if close members of your family were living in Russia and you knew the tactics the Communists use?

"It is doubtful anyone would do it unless he had reason to believe his family would not be harmed."

Does Mr. Cassity know anything of human idealism, of martyrdom for a belief, of a faith that transcends personal interest? Does he know anything of the history of the Mormon church, for instance? Ezra Taft Benson is a Mormon and he could tell Mr. Cassity of the sacrifices, the suffering of the early Mormons who were driven by fanatical opposition from place to place until they reached the wilderness of the Salt Lake region. Did those men think of safety and body comfort any more than some of my ancestors did when they hurled themselves into the auto-da-fe rather than desert their God and their ideals? None of these men and women ever gave a thought to what their idealism might do to their relatives. Apparently Mr. Cassity never heard of that.

I do not know whether Ladejinsky is an idealist, is competent to be our agricultural representative, or whether he has a worse record than has been disclosed. But when Mr. Milan D. Smith of the Department of Agriculture quotes from a letter from George N. Vitt to establish the wickedness of Wolf Ladejinsky, it is necessary to inquire into the bona fides of Vitt as an expert. In the vast literature on communism and anti-communism, George N. Vitt's name does not appear as a qualified expert. There is no evidence in his letter to show expertness. It is said that he is a White Russian who fled from the Bolsheviks in 1919. His letter says:

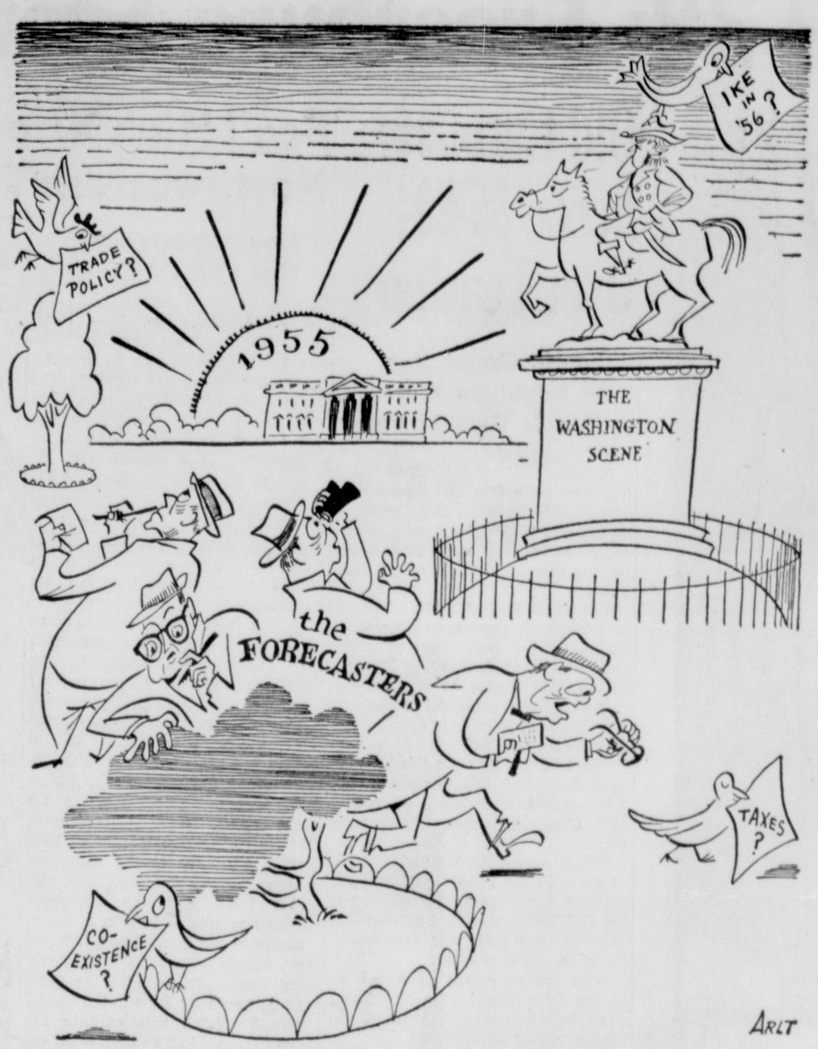

"Mr. L. may be 100 per cent innocent, but facts from his past speak against him. Thus, for the sake of Uncle Sam he must go, as unjust as it may be to him personally if he is innocent of Commie connections or sympathies . . ."

What kind of vicious tripe is this? Are we to punish the innocent as well as the guilty? No matter what one thinks of Senator Joe McCarthy, he never offered this as a test of subversion.

Anti-communism is the most important cause before the American people today. This cause must not be corrupted by indecent attitudes, by ignorance, by self-serving vengeance. And it is the active anti-Communists who must take up the cudgels against such statements as those made by Cassity and Vitt, if their efforts are not to be discredited.

Busy, Busy Bird Watchers

Political Pot Is Boiling Despite Talk Of Amiability

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—There's a lot of double-talk being heard hereabouts which is designed by some of the political spokesmen to convey the idea that in the new session of Congress everything is going to be smooth and calm between the administration and the Democrats.

But the sugar-coated words of professed amiability are merely the tactful way to camouflage the explosive weapons of political combat which are to be used the moment circumstances are most propitious.

When, for example, the Senate's Democratic leader in his public statement says his party isn't going to "oppose" the President but that there will be "differences at times" and that these will represent "convictions," this is but another way of saying that opposition will be vigorously recorded when it's good politics to do so and criticism will be soft-pedaled when it is obviously unpopular.

Good Politics

That's the way it has always been and, at this session in particular, after the rumors of a prospective "cold war" between the Republicans and the Democrats heard during the last campaign, it would be indiscreet indeed to announce the declaration of any such war. It's much better to let the obstruction come up with seeming spontaneity. That's good politics.

As for the Democratic caucus in the House — which, of course, wasn't held with newspapermen present—the word got out afterward that Messrs. Rayburn and McCormack of the Democratic leadership had incited a bit of warfare behind closed doors. The United Press reports both these men as having told the caucus of Democrats that they must neither "forgive nor forget" Vice President Nixon for having allegedly impugned the loyalty of Democrats in campaign speeches and that they must not "forgive or forget" President Eisenhower for having commended the vice president for a valuable role in the campaign.

This is more like the realistic vocabulary that the politicians use when they bare their innermost thoughts.

So the "cold war" in Congress is likely to crop out in various ways. Maybe the Republicans, too, will not "forgive or forget" that in the 1948 campaign President Truman said the Republican party was "unwittingly the ally of the Communist party." Maybe, also, the Republicans will decide that perhaps Mr. Truman ought to be required to answer for his part in the case of Harry Dexter White. For even though Mr. Truman was advised of the charge that White was a member of the Soviet spy ring in America, two letter of commendation nevertheless were sent to White by Mr. Truman several months after the FBI gave him the reports. Many people outside Washington haven't been able to "forgive or forget" this espisode, either.

Mansfield's Private War

Then there's the so-called "numbers game," which relates to the statesments by the Eisenhower administration that 8,000 or more "security risk" charges were filed against government employes and that included were many thousands of employes who resigned instead of facing trial while many thousands of others were actually dismissed.

Senator Mansfield, of Montana, Democrat, has declared a little war of his own against the Eisenhower administration on the "security risk" controversy. He wants the Senate Civil Service Committee to list the names of persons fired for subversive activities or for being Communists or traitors. He also wants to know which ones were hired by the present or preceding administrations.

It will be recalled that this is exactly how the McCarthy controversy started in the Senate, when the Wisconsin senator called attention to security risks and then was needled publicly by the Democrats on the floor of the Senate into naming some of those accused.

If it is the purpose of the Democratic party to insist that all names be made public—something the Truman administration refused to do—it will, of course, attach a stigma to many persons whose affiliations or connections may have been of a tenuous or short-lived character but who are nevertheless, under existing rules, not considered eligible for government employment.

Maybe the country does want all this linen washed out in public, but, if so, the Democratic party certainly has not favored it heretofore. It must be a sign that the Democrats think it's good politics to argue further about the Communist issue in an attempt to direct criticism at the Eisenhower administration, either for softness or harshness as the case may be.

So the political pot is boiling here notwithstanding the expressions of harmony and brotherly love on Capitol Hill.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Only question about our foreign policy is what time does the boat sail?

That line is packaged for export with Congress divided as sharply as a dude's hair.

Some of the seed will fall on stony ground. And return in many days with bigger rocks.

Ike has succeeded in establishing a rapport between the desk-ridden members of Congress. Everything is non-partisan right up until the time they start taking the vote.

The non-partisan policy is an effort to share equal blame for our foreign friendships.

Two men on a hoss is the happiest form of donated transportation. But there's only one guy in the saddle.

Vandenberg got a load of this pro rata representation in Truman's administration. Harry gave Vandy a delegate's commission to United Nations. And at the same time tried to defeat Vandy in Michigan for re-election to the Senate. If that's the kind of politics that stops at the water's edge you're better off swimming.

Democrats who are up for reloading in 1956 haven't forgotten that shuffle. There's nothing nonpartisan in Washington since they outlawed public drinking cups.

We concede in 1948 a Democrat feenagled a Republican. Eight years later the shoe can be on the other foot and the bunion can be in the other shoe. Either way it's just a morsel for a hungry Univac.

Bi-partisantry at its best is playing both ends against the middle like a hoop snake with sugar on its tail. It didn't work any too neat for Cordell Hull and Tom Dewey in Franklin Roosevelt's time. You can always depend the other man has made up his mind a size smaller than yours.

Evaluation Of Salk Polio Vaccine Tests Is Underway

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The world is eargerly awaiting the results of the Salk polio vaccine. More than 1,830,000 children in various areas throughout 44 states took part in the project, one of the largest mass studies ever conducted in this country.

The staff evaluating the statistics is just as busy as was the group that gave the injections. More than 120 office and laboratory workers have undertaken the task of tabulating and analyzing the 144 million pieces of assembled information.

The records must be checked and double checked because errors at this stage will have a far reaching effect on future use of the vaccine. In addition, blood studies are being conducted on 40,000 youngsters to determine whether the number of protective antibodies increased after the vaccine was given.

When the experiment is concluded next spring, we should know whether the Salk vaccine works and if so, how well. Most of the rumors are on the favorable side. Furthermore, many pharmaceutical companies have been licensed to manufacture the product, suggesting that those in the know have faith in the vaccine.

Several unique experiments were carried out last year on specific tests for polio. Such procedures are needed because there are no polio tests similar to those available for typhoid, syphilis, and tuberculosis. To complicate the picture, paralysis may be caused by disorders other than polio and in addition, the nonparalytic type of polio is an indefinite condition that mimics a number of disturbances, including the common cold.

One of the latest virus tests stems from a cancer project that was started more than five years ago. At that time, scientists found a way to grow malignant cells in a test tube. One particular group (strain HeLa) has been multiplying ever since. Viruses destroy these cells.

During the 1953 polio epidemic in Minnesota, stool specimens from 513 cases were subjected to this test. The results were positive in 78 of the paralytic and 42 per cent of the nonparalytic cases. The majority of specimens were positive within three days after fever subsided and in 50 per cent of the patients, viruses were found two to three weeks later.

This research not only suggests a new way to study the virus but also to demonstrate that many of the so-called nonparalytic forms of polio are not really polio. Furthermore, the presence of these organisms in the stools again emphasizes the importance of good sanitation in preventing the disease.

BLOOD ABNORMALITIES

Mrs. Y. writes: Is polycythemia the name of the blood disease that causes jaundiced babies?

REPLY

No. The Rh factor is involved in many instances of jaundice in babies. In polycythemia, which favors adults, too much hemoglobin and too many red cells are present.

PUFFY LIDS

N. W. writes: Is there any exercise to eliminate bags from under the eyes?

REPLY

No, although in some who wake up with this swelling, it disappears after they have been up and about for a while. If the bagginess is due to a collection of fat pads beneath the skin, surgery offers permanent relief.

GRACEFUL OR AWKWARD

C. M. writes: Why do some people have better coordination than others do? I'm referring to those in good health.

REPLY

People differ in 101 ways. Coordination is one; the ability to think quickly is another. Personality and reaction time are still others.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Milton Berle boasts that he's finally met the most spoiled animal in all the world—a rabbit who is an only child!

Successful authors are pestered by total strangers who want advice on their lengthy manuscripts, or free copies of books plus an autobiographical sketch for "essays they are preparing," or lectures—for no fee—at their local clubs. Most writers just throw these entreaties into the waste basket. John O'Hara, author of "A Rage to Live," "Appointment in Samarra," and "Pal Joey," has evolved his own house rule for this sort of nuisance. "My fee for reading any work of fiction," he announces, "is $5,000. For non-fiction, the same. For poetry, $1,000 a line. For consultation about might-be-good ideas, $15,000. All fees payable in advance."

This has worked out so well for O'Hara, he's only been sent four unsolicited 1,000-page manuscripts (with no return postage, of course) in a recent week.

Report For Eisenhower Hits Federal Support Of School Lunch Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A secret report is on its way to PresidentEisenhower's desk urging him to cripple the school lunch program.

The report is written by the Commission on Intergovernment Relations, formerly headed by Clarence Manion, who was replaced by Meyer Kestabaum, head of Hart, Schaffner and Marx, after Manion resigned over the Bricker Amendment battle.

The commission, which is supposed to improve government efficiency, has taken a strong stand through its subcommittee on education against spending federal money for the school lunch program.

Though acknowledging that the "school lunch program is beneficial to the health and welfare of school children," the report urges local financing and concludes: "(The program) is not a federal responsibility. Federal participation should be gradually tapered off."

The secret report also recognizes that "years of depression and war have left a grossly inadequate school plant," yet in the same breath, it recommends flatly: "The general conclusion is that federal aid is not necessary for either current operating expenses for public schools or for capital expenditures for new school facilities."

The commission's solution is to let the states and local communities put up the money for school construction "in accordance with the will of their citizens."

This would mean unequal educational opportunities for American youngsters, the commission acknowledges, because of "differences in fiscal ability among states."

However, the report observes hopefully: "Those differences have been narrowing considerably in the last two decades, but they are still substantial. Efforts to narrow the gap should aim at raising the economic level and the capacity of the less wealthy states rather than subsidizing them. Existing disparities have been and can continue to be ameliorated by the prudent use of the progressive federal tax system."

Backstage Fight

These drastic recommendations stirred up such a battle behind the scenes, however, that almost half the presidential commission absolutely refused to sign the report. One member, Atlanta's school superintendent Paul West, was so sore that he put out a sizzling minority report blasting the majority recommendations as "a futile attempt to reverse the course of American history."

"There is no doubt that our state and local tax structures need overhauling," writes West, "but here again the (majority) report wishes to engage the people in a theoretical debate while postponing the solution of a more pressing problem—adequate education for children and youth who will grow into adulthood while we reform our tax structure."

West was joined in his backstage fight by such distinguished educators as Roy Simpson, California's superintendent of public instruction; Very Rev. Msg. Thomas J. Quigley of Pittsburgh; Oscar Earhardt, chairman of the St. Louis School Board; and Carl J. Megel, president of the American Federation of Teachers. They frankly considered the majority recommendations as a threat to the nation's educational future.

On the other side, the majority signers were led by Adam S. Bennion of Salt Lake City and Roger A. Freeman of Olympia, Wash., both prominent educators in their home states. They also were joined by ex-Gov. Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey, President Henry Wriston of Brown University and A. Boyd Campbell, president of the Mississippi School Supply Company and education chairman for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

At one point, the majority report partially backs down on withdrawing federal money from the schools. Pointing out that federal funds are furnished for roads, hospitals, airports and other facilities, the report admits: "Schools are working under a handicap if all of their funds must be raised locally or by states while other facilities are partly financed by the federal government. While we are opposed generally speaking to grants-in-aid, as the whole import of our report has indicated, we believe that if that principle is to be abandoned and there are to be grants-in-aid, schools should not be ignored."

Vocational Education

This brought an answering blast from West, who declares: "The report of the committee stands or falls on the assumption that the clock will be turned back and that in the very near future, federal grants for highway, airport and hospital construction will cease, thereby making grants in aid to education unnecessary. The report adduces no evidence to sustain this assumption; indeed, as recently as July 1954, President Eisenhower called for an expanded highway construction program financed by federal and state funds."

"State and local government can and should provide from their own funds an adequate vocational program," the report states.

However, the minority fought vigorously against abandoning this program, which teaches improved farming methods in backward rural areas.

The showdown over federal aid to education will now be passed to the White House.

Moscow's Great Debate

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The American and Soviet governments appear to have one thing, at least, in common. Both governments are internally divided about the direction their foreign policy should take, now that the basic decision to rearm Western Germany has at long last been made.

The evident suggestion that the Soviet government is divided on this question is, as always, fragmentary and inconclusive. But it is a good deal less so than usual.

When Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen returned to Moscow recently, he reported back that the sense of tension had measurably increased there in the few days since he had left. The British ambassador, Sir William Hayter, who also returned to Moscow at about the same time, reported back to London precisely the same thing.

One obvious reason for this tension in Moscow was, of course, the French voting on the German rearmament issue. But another reason also appeared, when long editorials about the future of the Soviet policy were published just before Christmas in Pravda and Izvestia.

Took Opposing Views

Izvestia is the organ of the Soviet government, and is thus accounted the mouthpiece of Premier Georgi Malenkov. Pravda is the organ of the Soviet Communist party, and is thus accounted the mouthpiece of N. S. Krushchev, secretary of the party. The two papers took almost diametrically opposite lines.

Izvestia called for a continuation of essentially the present policy—increased emphasis on production of consumer goods, and a "coexistence" policy abroad. Pravda called, in effect, for a "hard" line abroad, and a return to all-out priority for heavy industrial production, which means arms production.

The next day, Pravda published another long editorial, and this time Pravda fell in line with Izvestia. By knowledgeable Russians as well as foreign observers, this episode was universally taken to mean that there has been a basic disagreement on policy as between Malenkov and Krushchev, and that this disagreement had been settled in Malenkov's favor.

The episode was further taken to mean that the Russian rulers wished to make known the existence of the disagreement. The purpose was, presumably, partly to remind the West that the Soviets could adopt a tougher line if they wanted to. But another purpose certainly was to give Krushchev, as it were, his day in court, and to remind the Russian people that no one inherited all the powers of the dead Stalin.

Rulers Free To Disagree

It is quite genuinely true, in the view of Bohlen and all other foreign observers, that there is still no single absolute dictator in post-Stalin Russia. Moreover, the extent to which the Soviet rulers—though notably not the ruled—feel free to disagree with each other is remarkable.

For example, there was a recent meeting between certain "neutrals" and a number of the Russian leaders, including Malenkov, Krushchev, and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Malenkov and Krushchev engaged in a lot of free-wheeling about Soviet policy. Molotov quite obviously felt that his special province was being invaded by amateurs, and made no attempt to conceal his irritation from the foreigners. The meeting very nearly became a sort of three-cornered argument between the Russians.

There is a good deal to suggest, in short, that a "great debate" of sorts is in progress within the Soviet government. No one, of course, believes that the essential objectives of the Soviet regime have changed. But it is natural that the Soviet rulers should debate whether the "soft" policy which achieved a triumph in Asia and almost achieved a greater triumph in Europe, has not about played itself out, now that the French have at last agreed to the rearmament of West Germany.

Not Fully Decided

Malenkov's recent equivocal remarks about the desirability of a four-power "meeting at the summit" further suggests that the issue has not yet been fully decided. The Soviet rulers, apparently, simply have not made up their minds whether such a meeting would serve Soveit purposes, since it is now seemingly impossible further to delay German rearmament.

A great debate is also, of course, in progress within the American government. This debate also concerns whether it is worth trying to negotiate with the Soviets, now that the German rearmament issue is presumably settled; and if so whether this is the time to try it. On one side are those who believe that the Soviets at least share the West's interests in avoiding mutual incineration; and that it is worth trying to agree on a set of ground rules to this end. At least to some extent, President Eisenhower inclines to this view—as does British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill.

On the other side are those who have strong doubts about the value of any negotiation with the Russians except on the most limited and specific issues. Secretary of State Dulles entertains these doubts—and British Foreign Secretary Eden shares them. Thus a kind of global great debate is going on, in Washington, in Moscow, in London. No doubt it will be settled one way or another before this year ends.

I do not know whether Ladejinsky is an idealist, is competent to be our agricultural representative, or whether he has a worse record than has been disclosed. But when Mr. Milan D. Smith of the Department of Agriculture quotes from a letter from George N. Vitt to establish the wickedness of Wolf Ladejinsky, it is necessary to inquire into the bona fides of Vitt as an expert. In the vast literature on communism and anti-communism, George N. Vitt's name does not appear as a qualified expert. There is no evidence in his letter to show expertness. It is said that he is a White Russian who fled from the Bolsheviks in 1919. His letter says:

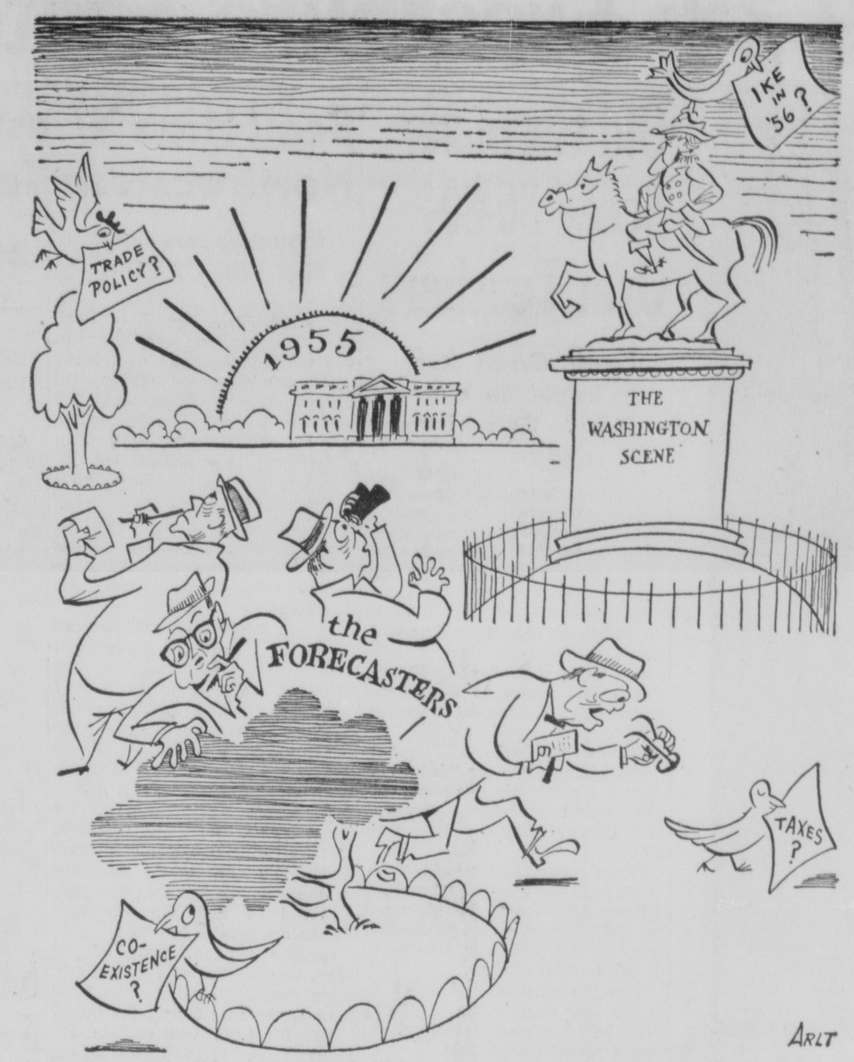

"Mr. L. may be 100 per cent innocent, but facts from his past speak against him. Thus, for the sake of Uncle Sam he must go, as unjust as it may be to him personally if he is innocent of Commie connections or sympathies . . ."

What kind of vicious tripe is this? Are we to punish the innocent as well as the guilty? No matter what one thinks of Senator Joe McCarthy, he never offered this as a test of subversion.

Anti-communism is the most important cause before the American people today. This cause must not be corrupted by indecent attitudes, by ignorance, by self-serving vengeance. And it is the active anti-Communists who must take up the cudgels against such statements as those made by Cassity and Vitt, if their efforts are not to be discredited.

Report For Eisenhower Hits Federal Support Of School Lunch Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A secret report is on its way to PresidentEisenhower's desk urging him to cripple the school lunch program.

The report is written by the Commission on Intergovernment Relations, formerly headed by Clarence Manion, who was replaced by Meyer Kestabaum, head of Hart, Schaffner and Marx, after Manion resigned over the Bricker Amendment battle.

The commission, which is supposed to improve government efficiency, has taken a strong stand through its subcommittee on education against spending federal money for the school lunch program.

Though acknowledging that the "school lunch program is beneficial to the health and welfare of school children," the report urges local financing and concludes: "(The program) is not a federal responsibility. Federal participation should be gradually tapered off."

The secret report also recognizes that "years of depression and war have left a grossly inadequate school plant," yet in the same breath, it recommends flatly: "The general conclusion is that federal aid is not necessary for either current operating expenses for public schools or for capital expenditures for new school facilities."

The commission's solution is to let the states and local communities put up the money for school construction "in accordance with the will of their citizens."

This would mean unequal educational opportunities for American youngsters, the commission acknowledges, because of "differences in fiscal ability among states."

However, the report observes hopefully: "Those differences have been narrowing considerably in the last two decades, but they are still substantial. Efforts to narrow the gap should aim at raising the economic level and he capacity of the less wealthy states rather than subsidizing them. Existing disparities have been and can continue to be ameliorated by the prudent use of the progressive federal tax system."

Backstage Fight

These drastic recommendations stirred up such a battle behind the scenes, however, that almost half the presidential commission absolutely refused to sign the report. One member, Atlanta's school superintendent Paul West, was so sore that he put out a sizzling minority report blasting the majority recommendations as "a futile attempt to reverse the course of American history."

"There is no doubt that our state and local tax structures need overhauling," writes West, "but here again the (majority) report wishes to engage the people in a theoretical debate while postponing the solution of a more pressing problem—adequate education for children and youth who will grow into adulthood while we reform our tax structure."

West was joined in his backstage fight by such distinguished educators as Roy Simpson, California's superintendent of public instruction; Very Rev. Msg. Thomas J. Quigley of Pittsburgh; Oscar Earhardt, chairman of the St. Louis School Board; and Carl J. Megel, president of the American Federation of Teachers. They frankly considered the majority recommendations as a threat to the nation's educational future.

On the other side, the majority signers were led by Adam S. Bennion of Salt Lake City and Roger A. Freeman of Olympia, Wash., both prominent educators in their home states. They also were joined by ex-Gov. Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey, President Henry Wriston of Brown University and A. Boyd Campbell, president of the Mississippi School Supply Company and education chairman for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

At one point, the majority report partially backs down on withdrawing federal money from the schools. Pointing out that federal funds are furnished for roads, hospitals, airports and other facilities, the report admits: "Schools are working under a handicap if all of their funds must be raised locally or by states while other facilities are partly financed by the federal government. While we are opposed generally speaking to grants-in-aid, as the whole import of our report has indicated, we believe that if that principle is to be abandoned and there are to be grants-in-aid, schools should not be ignored."

Vocational Education

This brought an answering blast from West, who declares: "The report of the committee stands or falls on the assumption that the clock will be turned back and that in the very near future, federal grants for highway, airport and hospital construction will cease, thereby making grants in aid to education unnecessary. The report adduces no evidence to sustain this assumption; indeed, as recently as July 1954, President Eisenhower called for an expanded highway construction program financed by federal and state funds."

"State and local government can and should provide from their own funds an adequate vocational program," the report states.

However, the minority fought vigorously against abandoning this program, which teaches improved farming methods in backward rural areas.

The showdown over federal aid to education will now be passed to the White House.

Political Pot Is Boiling Despite Talk Of Amiability

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—There's a lot of double-talk being heard hereabouts which is designed by some of the political spokesmen to convey the idea that in the new session of Congress everything is going to be smooth and calm between the administration and the Democrats.

But the sugar-coated words of professed amiability are merely the tactful way to camouflage the explosive weapons of political combat which are to be used the moment circumstances are most propitious.

When, for example, the Senate's Democratic leader in his public statement says his party isn't going to "oppose" the President but that there will be "differences at times" and that these will represent "convictions," this is but another way of saying that opposition will be vigorously recorded when it's good politics to do so and criticism will be soft-pedaled when it is obviously unpopular.

Good Politics

That's the way it has always been and, at this session in particular, after the rumors of a prospective "cold war" between the Republicans and the Democrats heard during the last campaign, it would be indiscreet indeed to announce the declaration of any such war. It's much better to let the obstruction come up with seeming spontaneity. That's good politics.

As for the Democratic caucus in the House — which, of course, wasn't held with newspapermen present—the word got out afterward that Messrs. Rayburn and McCormack of the Democratic leadership had incited a bit of warfare behind closed doors. The United Press reports both these men as having told the caucus of Democrats that they must neither "forgive nor forget" Vice President Nixon for having allegedly impugned the loyalty of Democrats in campaign speeches and that they must not "forgive or forget" President Eisenhower for having commended the vice president for a valuable role in the campaign.

This is more like the realistic vocabulary that the politicians use when they bare their innermost thoughts.

So the "cold war" in Congress is likely to crop out in various ways. Maybe the Republicans, too, will not "forgive or forget" that in the 1948 campaign President Truman said the Republican party was "unwittingly the ally of the Communist party." Maybe, also, the Republicans will decide that perhaps Mr. Truman ought to be required to answer for his part in the case of Harry Dexter White. For even though Mr. Truman was advised of the charge that White was a member of the Soviet spy ring in America, two letter of commendation nevertheless were sent to White by Mr. Truman several months after the FBI gave him the reports. Many people outside Washington haven't been able to "forgive or forget" this espisode, either.

Mansfield's Private War

Then there's the so-called "numbers game," which relates to the statesments by the Eisenhower administration that 8,000 or more "security risk" charges were filed against government employes and that included were many thousands of employes who resigned instead of facing trial while many thousands of others were actually dismissed.

Senator Mansfield, of Montana, Democrat, has declared a little war of his own against the Eisenhower administration on the "security risk" controversy. He wants the Senate Civil Service Committee to list the names of persons fired for subversive activities or for being Communists or traitors. He also wants to know which ones were hired by the present or preceding administrations.

It will be recalled that this is exactly how the McCarthy controversy started in the Senate, when the Wisconsin senator called attention to security risks and then was needled publicly by the Democrats on the floor of the Senate into naming some of those accused.

If it is the purpose of the Democratic party to insist that all names be made public—something the Truman administration refused to do—it will, of course, attach a stigma to many persons whose affiliations or connections may have been of a tenuous or short-lived character but who are nevertheless, under existing rules, not considered eligible for government employment.

Maybe the country does want all this linen washed out in public, but, if so, the Democratic party certainly has not favored it heretofore. It must be a sign that the Democrats think it's good politics to argue further about the Communist issue in an attempt to direct criticism at the Eisenhower administration, either for softness or harshness as the case may be.

So the political pot is boiling here notwithstanding the expressions of harmony and brotherly love on Capitol Hill.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Only question about our foreign policy is what time does the boat sail?

That line is packaged for export with Congress divided as sharply as a dude's hair.

Some of the seed will fall on stony ground. And return in many days with bigger rocks.

Ike has succeeded in establishing a rapport between the deskridden members of Congress. Everything is non-partisan right up until the time they start taking the vote.

The non-partisan policy is an effort to share equal blame for our foreign friendships.

Two men on a hoss is the happiest form of donated transportation. But there's only one guy in the saddle.

Vandenberg got a load of this pro rata representation in Truman's administration. Harry gave Vandy a delegate's commission to United Nations. And at the same time tried to defeat Vandy in Michigan for re-election to the Senate. If that's the kind of politics that stops at the water's edge you're better off swimming.

Democrats who are up for reloading in 1956 haven't forgotten that shuffle. There's nothing nonpartisan in Washington since they outlawed public drinking cups.

We concede in 1948 a Democrat feenagled a Republican. Eight years later the shoe can be on the other foot and the bunion can be in the other shoe. Either way it's just a morsel for a hungry Univac.

Bi-partisantry at its best is playing both ends against the middle like a hoop snake with sugar on its tail. It didn't work any too neat for Cordell Hull and Tom Dewey in Franklin Roosevelt's time. You can always depend the other man has made up his mind a size smaller than yours.

Moscow's Great Debate

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The American and Soviet governments appear to have one thing, at least, in common. Both governments are internally divided about the direction their foreign policy should take, now that the basic decision to rearm Western Germany has at long last been made.

The evident suggestion that the Soviet government is divided on this question is, as always, fragmentary and inconclusive. But it is a good deal less so than usual.

When Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen returned to Moscow recently, he reported back that the sense of tension had measurably increased there in the few days since he had left. The British ambassador, Sir William Hayter, who also returned to Moscow at about the same time, reported back to London precisely the same thing.

One obvious reason for this tension in Moscow was, of course, the French voting on the German rearmament issue. But another reason also appeared, when long editorials about the future of the Soviet policy were published just before Christmas in Pravda and Izvestia.

Took Opposing Views

Izvestia is the organ of the Soviet government, and is thus accounted the mouthpiece of Premier Georgi Malenkov. Pravda is the organ of the Soviet Communist party, and is thus accounted the mouthpiece of N. S. Krushchev, secretary of the party. The two papers took almost diametrically opposite lines.

Izvestia called for a continuation of essentially the present policy—increased emphasis on production of consumer goods, and a "coexistence" policy abroad. Pravda called, in effect, for a "hard" line abroad, and a return to all-out priority for heavy industrial production, which means arms production.

The next day, Pravda published another long editorial, and this time Pravda fell in line with Izvestia. By knowledgeable Russians as well as foreign observers, this episode was universally taken to mean that there has been a basic disagreement on policy as between Malenkov and Krushchev, and that this disagreement had been settled in Malenkov's favor.

The episode was further taken to mean that the Russian rulers wished to make known the existence of the disagreement. The purpose was, presumably, partly to remind the West that the Soviets could adopt a tougher line if they wanted to. But another purpose certainly was to give Krushchev, as it were, his day in court, and to remind the Russian people that no one inherited all the powers of the dead Stalin.

Rulers Free To Disagree

It is quite genuinely true, in the view of Bohlen and all other foreign observers, that there is still no single absolute dictator in post-Stalin Russia. Moreover, the extent to which the Soviet rulers—though notably not the ruled—feel free to disagree with each other is remarkable.

For example, there was a recent meeting between certain "neutrals" and a number of the Russian leaders, including Malenkov, Krushchev, and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Malenkov and Krushchev engaged in a lot of free-wheeling about Soviet policy. Molotov quite obviously felt that his special province was being invaded by amateurs, and made no attempt to conceal his irritation from the foreigners. The meeting very nearly became a sort of three-cornered argument between the Russians.

There is a good deal to suggest, in short, that a "great debate" of sorts is in progress within the Soviet government. No one, of course, believes that the essential objectives of the Soviet regime have changed. But it is natural that the Soviet rulers should debate whether the "soft" policy which achieved a triumph in Asia and almost achieved a greater triumph in Europe, has not about played itself out, now that the French have at last agreed to the rearmament of West Germany.

Not Fully Decided

Malenkov's recent equivocal remarks about the desirability of a four-power "meeting at the summit" further suggests that the issue has not yet been fully decided. The Soviet rulers, apparently, simply have not made up their minds whether such a meeting would serve Soveit purposes, since it is now seemingly impossible further to delay German rearmament.

A great debate is also, of course, in progress within the American government. This debate also concerns whether it is worth trying to negotiate with the Soviets, now that the German rearmament issue is presumably settled; and if so whether this is the time to try it. On one side are those who believe that the Soviets at least share the West's interests in avoiding mutual incineration; and that it is worth trying to agree on a set of ground rules to this end. At least to some extent, President Eisenhower inclines to this view—as does British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill.

On the other side are those who have strong doubts about the value of any negotiation with the Russians except on the most limited and specific issues. Secretary of State Dulles entertains these doubts—and British Foreign Secretary Eden shares them. Thus a kind of global great debate is going on, in Washington, in Moscow, in London. No doubt it will be settled one way or another before this year ends.

Evaluation Of Salk Polio Vaccine Tests Is Underway

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The world is eargerly awaiting the results of the Salk polio vaccine. More than 1,830,000 children in various areas throughout 44 states took part in the project, one of the largest mass studies ever conducted in this country.

The staff evaluating the statistics is just as busy as was the group that gave the injections. More than 120 office and laboratory workers have undertaken the task of tabulating and analyzing the 144 million pieces of assembled information.

The records must be checked and double checked because errors at this stage will have a far reaching effect on future use of the vaccine. In addition, blood studies are being conducted on 40,000 youngsters to determine whether the number of protective antibodies increased after the vaccine was given.

When the experiment is concluded next spring, we should know whether the Salk vaccine works and if so, how well. Most of the rumors are on the favorable side. Furthermore, many pharmaceutical companies have been licensed to manufacture the product, suggesting that those in the know have faith in the vaccine.

Several unique experiments were carried out last year on specific tests for polio. Such procedures are needed because there are no polio tests similar to those available for typhoid, syphilis, and tuberculosis. To complicate the picture, paralysis may be caused by disorders other than polio and in addition, the nonparalytic type of polio is an indefinite condition that mimics a number of disturbances, including the common cold.

One of the latest virus tests stems from a cancer project that was started more than five years ago. At that time, scientists found a way to grow malignant cells in a test tube. One particular group (strain HeLa) has been multiplying ever since. Viruses destroy these cells.

During the 1953 polio epidemic in Minnesota, stool specimens from 513 cases were subjected to this test. The results were positive in 78 of the paralytic and 42 per cent of the nonparalytic cases. The majority of specimens were positive within three days after fever subsided and in 50 per cent of the patients, viruses were found two to three weeks later.

This research not only suggests a new way to study the virus but also to demonstrate that many of the so-called nonparalytic forms of polio are not really polio. Furthermore, the presence of these organisms in the stools again emphasizes the importance of good sanitation in preventing the disease.

BLOOD ABNORMALITIES

Mrs. Y. writes: Is polycythemia the name of the blood disease that causes jaundiced babies?

REPLY

No. The Rh factor is involved in many instances of jaundice in babies. In polycythemia, which favors adults, too much hemoglobin and too many red cells are present.

PUFFY LIDS

N. W. writes: Is there any exercise to eliminate bags from under the eyes?

REPLY

No, although in some who wake up with this swelling, it disappears after they have been up and about for a while. If the bagginess is due to a collection of fat pads beneath the skin, surgery offers permanent relief.

GRACEFUL OR AWKWARD

C. M. writes: Why do some people have better coordination than others do? I'm referring to those in good health.

REPLY

People differ in 101 ways. Coordination is one; the ability to think quickly is another. Personality and reaction time are still others.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Milton Berle boasts that he's finally met the most spoiled animal in all the world—a rabbit who is an only child!

Successful authors are pestered by total strangers who want advice on their lengthy manuscripts, or free copies of books plus an autobiographical sketch for "essays they are preparing," or lectures—for no fee—at their local clubs. Most writers just throw these entreaties into the waste basket. John O'Hara, author of "A Rage to Live," "Appointment in Samarra," and "Pal Joey," has evolved his own house rule for this sort of nuisance. "My fee for reading any work of fiction," he announces, "is $5,000. For non-fiction, the same. For poetry, $1,000 a line. For consultation about might-be-good ideas, $15,000. All fees payable in advance."

This has worked out so well for O'Hara, he's only been sent four unsolicited 1,000-page manuscripts (with no return postage, of course) in a recent week.

Keyser Tops Piedmont, 49-38; Frostburg State Quint Loses

Tornado Wins Fourth Game At Foul Line

Sheltonmen Overcome Early Lions Margin To Score Triumph

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 5 — Overcoming an early Piedmont High lead Coach John Shelton's Keyser High Golden Tornado romped to a 49-38 triumph here tonight before approximately 600 basketball fans.

In registering their fourth win of the season the Sheltonmen rallied to go ahead for the first time 18-17 on Scott Ward's goal late in the second period and from then on were never headed.

The loss was the fifth in eight starts this campaign for Coach William "Huck" Miers Lions.

Keyser actually won the game at the foul line where the Tornado outscored Piedmont 19-6. The Lions held a 16-15 edge in field goals.

Piedmont took a quick 6-0 lead and led 15-10 at the close of the first quarter. Keyser closed the gap to go ahead on Ward's twin-pointer and then left the floor at intermission with a 20-19 edge.

In the final half Keyser widened the margin steadily as Ward and George Wilson paced the attack with 14 and 11 points respectively.

Bobby Niland garnered 15 markers for the Lions in a losing cause. Clay Smith and Paul Amtower exited via personal fouls in the fourth quarter for Piedmont while James Nicol of Keyser was ejected in the late stages on fouls.

In the preliminary contest Keyser's Jayvees defeated Piedmont's junior varsity quint, 37-32. The lineups:

Old Germans Score 86-80 Over Teachers

Pence, Green Star In Exhibition Win, Marple Gets 21 Points

Cumberland's Old Germans, using superior height and strength to advantage, edged the scrappy Frostburg State Teachers College quint, 86-80, last night before 305 paying fans in SS. Peters and Paul gym.

The exhibition contest, in which no Frostburg records are counted, was a thriller from start to finish and it took hot shooting by Player-Coach Bob Pence in the second half to pull the game out of the fire for the local five.

Third Straight Win

The triumph was the third of the season for the Old Germans who were paced by Pence's 25 points and Clyde Green's stellar floor play.

Pence connected for eight of his 11 goals in the second half and his 10th twin-pointer of the night put the Old Germans ahead for the last time at 75-74 with four minutes to go in the final quarter.

With the exception of a 5-5 tie in the first quarter the Frostburg quint held the lead throughout the stanza which ended 23-20.

Marple Gets Hot

Frostburg regained the lead again 52-51 on Dave Marple's fouls in the third quarter and a 61-61 deadlock was broken when Jim Cave and Bob Kirk each sank a pair of free tosses to give Frostburg a 65-61 lead at the close of the period.

Marple, who paced the losers with 21 markers, was terrific in third quarter when he put on a brilliant exhibition of shooting, garnering six goals and two fouls.

Bob Lookabaugh went out on six personals in the fourth quarter with the Old Gees leading 73-72 while Marple made his exit late in the final head as Frostburg trailed 84-78.

An odd feature of the game was the fact the Old Germans scored 43 points and Frostburg tallied 40 markers in each half. The lineups:

Beall High Wrestlers Host Northwestern Team Tonight

Mountaineers Seek First Win Of Year

FROSTBURG, Jan. 5 — Beall High's Mountaineer wrestling team will participate in its first home match this season tomorrow night by hosting the Northwestern High team from Hyattsville. The match will get under way at 7:30 p. m. in the Beall High School gym.

This is the third season for Beall in the wrestling field under Coach Ray Hull and the match will be the first time these two schools have met. Northwestern is in its second year of popularizing the mat sport.

Twelve inter-school matches are on tap for tomorrow's engagement with Coach Hull nominating the following grapplers to see action:

Wayne Rice, 95 pound class; Richard Plummer or Rodney Johnson in the 103 pound class; Donald Lewis, 112 pounds; Paul Wolford, 120 pounds; Jack Folk, 127; James L wis, 133; James Keedy, 138 Gary Taylor, 145; Robert Wolford, 154; Bill Eichhorn, 165; Mike Passarell, 175; and Ronald Plummer in the unlimited class. The two Lewis boys and the Plummer youths are sets of brothers.

Andrew Drugan, coach of the West Virginia School for Deaf and Blind grapplers, will be the third man in the ring for all the bouts.

Bill Eichhorn will captain the Beall team in tomorrow's encounter.

Beall, which won three inter-school matches while losing five last year, has failed to win in two meetings this season, dropping decisions to Bedford, Pa., High's Bisons and the West Virginia School for Deaf and Blind of Romney.

Loeffler Says Kentucky Best

Road Wins Would Clinch Cage Title

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5 (AP) — Coach Ken Loeffler of LaSalle's defending NCAA basketball champions is ready to rate Kentucky's unbeaten Wildcats as the best outfit in the country—provided "they beat some good teams away from home."

Loeffler's Explorers (9-3) lost to Kentucky at Lexington last month in the finals of the Wildcats tournament and Loeffler says the loss was expected.

"I'd say the ratings of Kentucky, Duquesne and us are about right," he continued. "But I think Kentucky can win a clear claim to being the best by taking some tough ones on the road."

He said that Duquesne "won a tough one on the road by beating us" and then added "we won nine out of 12 on the road which is pretty good."

"It could be," he went on, "if Kentucky played Niagara, Loyola of New Orleans, Duquesne and a couple others on the road they might drop a couple too."

"But, I still think they must be ranked the best," he admitted.

Many Orioles Fans From Out Of City

Survey Shows Most White Collar Workers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, apparently the first major league baseball team ever to apply this "scientific sample" business to fans, found out today most of them are "white collar" workers.

And only 65 per cent invariably rooted for the Orioles.

Dick Armstrong, club public relations director, said some policy changes are in the works as the result of his findings.

He was surprised when tabulations indicated 26.1 per cent of the 1,060,910 fans who paid to see the Birds play here last year came from beyond Baltimore and environs.

"The experts always said Baltimore would never support major league baseball because it couldn't draw enough fans from outside the city," Armstrong pointed out.

The Oriole publicity man formerly worked for Dr. George Gallup and studied scientific polling techniques at Princeton.

He started his baseball fan project last July 2 and at 20 games between then and Aug. 22 had ushers tap fans here and there with questionnaires.

"It is generally assumed the bulk of your fans are factory employes," Armstrong says.

"But we found white collar workers were the largest single group —41.5 per cent. Another 14.3 per cent were professional people or executives. Skilled and unskilled factory workers made up only 24.8 per cent of the crowd."

Of the 26 per cent from out of town, more than half came from outside of Maryland, and more than half of these came from nearby Pennsylvania.

Less than one per cent of the out-of-towners came from Washington, only 2 per cent from Washington suburbs. One thing that kept Baltimore out of the major leagues so long was a fear it would funnel off Washington's fans.

Owen Seeking To End Losses In Senior Bowl

North And South Grid Teams Clash Saturday

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 5 (AP)—Coach Steve Owen admitted today he had a right fair South squad for Saturday's sixth annual Senior Bowl, North Coach Paul Brown agreed with Owen and made his annual prediction that his "out-manned" Yankees would lose.

"We've got good talent and this might be the year we'll catch up with them," Owen said.

Brown's predictions to the contrary, the North has won the last three games under the coach of the championship Cleveland pro Browns. Owen, South coach for all five games, won the first two.

His probable offensive line included ends Max Boydston, Oklahoma, and Frank McDonald, Miami (Fla.); tackles James Ray Smith, Baylor, and Sid Fournet; guards Bud Brooks, Arkansas, and George Atkins, Auburn; and center Jack Locklear, Auburn.

Brown said nothing about probable starters but he appeared to be favoring a backfield unit composed of quarterback Dave Leggett, Ohio State; backs Bob McNamara, Minnesota; Corky Taylor, Kansas State; and fullback Alan Ameche, Wisconsin.

Northern linemen who appeared to have a slight edge were ends Dean Dugger, Ohio State, and Jim Garrity, Penn State; tackles Don Glantz, Nebraska, and Frank Morze, Boston College; guards Tom Bettis, Purdue, and Henry Bullough, Michigan State; and center John Damore, Northwestern or Bob Thornton, Ohio State.

The squads will work in morning and afternoon drills again tomorrow, and taper off with a single drill Friday.

Kickoff for the Saturday game is 2:45 p.m. (EST). It will be broadcast by CBS but will not be televised.

Jensen Receives Gene Mack Award

BOSTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Selection of outfield star Jackie Jensen to receive the Gene Mack Memorial Award as the most valuable member of the Boston Red Sox in 1954 was announced tonight by the Boston Chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn.

Jensen, who batted .276 and drove in 117 runs, will be honored at the Boston writers' annual dinner Jan. 26.

Gavilan Drops Saxton Rematch

Leaves Way Open For Basilio Title Fight

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Former welterweight champion Kid Gavilan cleared the way for a Johnny-Saxton-Carmen Basilio title bout in Syracuse April 1 by withdrawing his claims for an immediate rematch with Saxton.

Saxton, who won the title from Gavilan in Philadelphia last October, and Basilio, the No. 1 contender, are expected to sign for the fight in a couple of days.

Upon receipt of Gavilan's withdrawal — in writing — Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, promised Gavilan a match with the Saxton-Basilio winner within 45 days of the Syracuse scrap.

Gavilan also was assured of a Feb. 23 date at Miami—possibly against Sugar Ray Robinson, ex-welterweight and middleweight king. Robinson holds two victories over the Cuban.

Gavilan said he would be managed in the future by Yamil Chade, superintendent of a Havana bank.

According to Chade he is making final arrangements to purchase Gavilan's contract from Angel Lopez under which Lopez would receive a small percentage of Gavilan's ring earnings until 1957.

Ray Robinson Kayoes Rindone In Sixth Round

DETROIT, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, rusty and cautious for five rounds, flashed his old lightning-like form and knocked out crude, plodding Joe Rindone of Boston at 1:37 of the sixth round tonight to successfully launch his comeback before a roaring crowd in Olympia Stadium.

A right sent Rindone to the canvass, head down and hurt. He slowly climbed up, as though a 500-pound safe was on his burly shoulders, but it was too late.

Referee Johnny Weber reached the count of 10 and signaled that Sugar Ray was the winner in his first fight since June, 1952—a period of 30 months.

Mt. Top Basketball League Is Formed

THOMAS, W. Va., Jan. 5—A six-team Mountain Top Basketball League was formed recently at Thomas and will open a 60-game schedule on Saturday, January 8.

Franchises in the circuit have been granted Parsons VFW, Thomas, Bayard and Friendsville fire departments, Oakland Moose and Oakland American Legion quints. The teams will meet each other four times during the regular season on a home-and-home basis for a total of 20 games apiece for the campaign.

Harlan Kelley of Oakland is general chairman of the league.

Taylors Win Two

Cas Taylors defeated Woodmen of the World, 2-1, last night in a playoff of a postponed Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match. Jake Fisher had 18 points for Taylors and Folk had 21 for WOW.

Three Tied In Pro-Am

Besselink, Hebert, Evans Each Card 61

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5 (AP)—Three of the lesser known professionals walked off with the honors in the pro-celebrity event leading up to tomorrow's start of the $32,500 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y., Jay Hebert of Long Island, and Max Evans of Utica, Mich., aided by their amateur partners, won $416.66 each out of the $2,500 pro-amateur purse. All tied with a best ball score of 61, 10 under par.

Paired with the pros for today's 18-hole round were such amateurs as Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, singers Gordon MacRae and Dennis Morgan.

The 72-hole attraction, first of 15 tournaments on the PGA winter schedule, winds up Sunday. The winner will collect $5,000.

National open champion Ed Furgol heads the array of top players. Included is the 1954 winner, Fred Wampler, who hasn't done much in tournament golf since.

PGA champion Chick Harbert, Lloyd Mangrum, Bob Toski, Tommy Bolt, Fred Haas Jr., Jack Burke Jr., Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler, Bud Holscher, Jimmy Demaret, Peter Thomson, Frank Stranahan — some old, some new but all familiar to golf galleries — are included in the field.

Catholic Leaguers To Clash Tonight

St. Peter's of Westernport will play St. Patrick's of Cumberland and St. Michael's, Frostburg, will oppose St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage, in a Catholic Youth Basketball League doubleheader tonight at 7 p. m. on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Westernport, Frostburg and the local St. Patrick's quints are now in a triple deadlock for second place with 3-2 records.

The front-running SS. Peter and Paul quint (5-0) will be entertained by St. Mary's on the latter's floor tonight at 7:30. St. Mary's has failed to crash the win column in five starts.

Arizona State College Returns To Good Graces

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. council restored Arizona State College of Tempe to good standing today. The television committee, winding up its business for 1954, learned that football attendance during the past season was up 2.5 percent in spite of increased TV "competition" and the college football coaches made a strong pitch for more spring practice.

Hemric Tops ACC In Shots, Rebounds

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 5 (AP)—Dickie Hemric, star of the Wake Forest basketball team, tops the Atlantic Coast Conference in grabbing rebounds and in field goal shooting percentage.

Hemric, who at 6-6 is far from the tallest player in the league, has accounted for an average of 17.8 rebounds per game and has hit on 97 of 189 shots from the floor for a shooting average of .513.

Lee Collins of South Carolina (15.9) and Ron Shavlick of North Carolina State (15.6) trail Hemric in the rebound department.

Clemson's Bill Yarborough is the ACC's top scorer with an average of 30.5 points per game but Virginia's Buzzy Wilkinson and Hemric are right on his heels. Wilkinson's average is an even 30 points per game and Hemric's is 29.4. Not far behind this top trio is North Carolina's Len Rosenbluth with a 27.5 mark.

Keyser Tops Piedmont, 49-38; Frostburg State Quint Loses

Tornado Wins Fourth Game At Foul Line

Sheltonmen Overcome Early Lions Margin To Score Triumph

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 5 — Overcoming an early Piedmont High lead Coach John Shelton's Keyser High Golden Tornado romped to a 49-38 triumph here tonight before approximately 600 basketball fans.

In registering their fourth win of the season the Sheltonmen rallied to go ahead for the first time 18-17 on Scott Ward's goal late in the second period and from then on were never headed.

The loss was the fifth in eight starts this campaign for Coach William "Huck" Miers Lions.

Keyser actually won the game at the foul line where the Tornado outscored Piedmont 19-6. The Lions held a 16-15 edge in field goals.

Piedmont took a quick 6-0 lead and led 15-10 at the close of the first quarter. Keyser closed the gap to go ahead on Ward's twin-pointer and then left the floor at intermission with a 20-19 edge.

In the final half Keyser widened the margin steadily as Ward and George Wilson paced the attack with 14 and 11 points respectively.

Bobby Niland garnered 15 markers for the Lions in a losing cause. Clay Smith and Paul Amtower exited via personal fouls in the fourth quarter for Piedmont while James Nicol of Keyser was ejected in the late stages on fouls.

In the preliminary contest Keyser's Jayvees defeated Piedmont's junior varsity quint, 37-32. The lineups:

Catholic Leaguers To Clash Tonight

St. Peter's of Westernport will play St. Patrick's of Cumberland and St. Michael's, Frostburg, will oppose St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage, in a Catholic Youth Basketball League doubleheader tonight at 7 p. m. on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Westernport, Frostburg and the local St. Patrick's quints are now in a triple deadlock for second place with 3-2 records.

The front-running SS. Peter and Paul quint (5-0) will be entertained by St. Mary's on the latter's floor tonight at 7:30. St. Mary's has failed to crash the win column in five starts.

Arizona State College Returns To Good Graces

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. council restored Arizona State College of Tempe to good standing today. The television committee, winding up its business for 1954, learned that football attendance during the past season was up 2.5 percent in spite of increased TV "competition" and the college football coaches made a strong pitch for more spring practice.

Old Germans Score 86-80 Over Teachers

Pence, Green Star In Exhibition Win, Marple Gets 21 Points

Cumberland's Old Germans, using superior height and strength to advantage, edged the scrappy Frostburg State Teachers College quint, 86-80, last night before 305 paying fans in SS. Peters and Paul gym.

The exhibition contest, in which no Frostburg records are counted, was a thriller from start to finish and it took hot shooting by Player-Coach Bob Pence in the second half to pull the game out of the fire for the local five.

Third Straight Win

The triumph was the third of the season for the Old Germans who were paced by Pence's 25 points and Clyde Green's stellar floor play.

Pence connected for eight of his 11 goals in the second half and his 10th twin-pointer of the night put the Old Germans ahead for the last time at 75-74 with four minutes to go in the final quarter.

With the exception of a 5-5 tie in the first quarter the Frostburg quint held the lead throughout the stanza which ended 23-20.

Marple Gets Hot

Frostburg regained the lead again 52-51 on Dave Marple's fouls in the third quarter and a 61-61 deadlock was broken when Jim Cave and Bob Kirk each sank a pair of free tosses to give Frostburg a 65-61 lead at the close of the period.

Marple, who paced the losers with 21 markers, was terrific in third quarter when he put on a brilliant exhibition of shooting, garnering six goals and two fouls.

Bob Lookabaugh went out on six personals in the fourth quarter with the Old Gees leading 73-72 while Marple made his exit late in the final head as Frostburg trailed 84-78.

An odd feature of the game was the fact the Old Germans scored 43 points and Frostburg tallied 40 markers in each half. The lineups:

Old Germans	G	F	PF	Pts.
Pence, f	11	3-6	2	25

Hemric Tops ACC In Shots, Rebounds

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 5 (AP)—Dickie Hemric, star of the Wake Forest basketball team, tops the Atlantic Coast Conference in grabbing rebounds and in field goal shooting percentage.

Hemric, who at 6-6 is far from the tallest player in the league, has accounted for an average of 17.8 rebounds per game and has hit on 97 of 189 shots from the floor for a shooting average of .513.

Lee Collins of South Carolina (15.9) and Ron Shavlick of North Carolina State (15.6) trail Hemric in the rebound department.

Clemson's Bill Yarborough is the ACC's top scorer with an average of 30.5 points per game but Virginia's Buzzy Wilkinson and Hemric are right on his heels. Wilkinson's average is an even 30 points per game and Hemric's is 29.4. Not far behind this top trio is North Carolina's Len Rosenbluth with a 27.5 mark.

Beall High Wrestlers Host Northwestern Team Tonight

Mountaineers Seek First Win Of Year

FROSTBURG, Jan. 5 — Beall High's Mountaineer wrestling team will participate in its first home match this season tomorrow night by hosting the Northwestern High team from Hyattsville. The match will get under way at 7:30 p. m. in the Beall High School gym.

This is the third season for Beall in the wrestling field under Coach Ray Hull and the match will be the first time these two schools have met. Northwestern is in its second year of popularizing the mat sport.

Twelve inter-school matches are on tap for tomorrow's engagement with Coach Hull nominating the following grapplers to see action:

Wayne Rice, 95 pound class; Richard Plummer or Rodney Johnson in the 103 pound class; Donald Lewis, 112 pounds; Paul Wolford, 120 pounds; Jack Folk, 127; James L wis, 133; James Keedy, 138 Gary Taylor, 145; Robert Wolford, 154; Bill Eichhorn, 165; Mike Passarell, 175; and Ronald Plummer in the unlimited class. The two Lewis boys and the Plummer youths are sets of brothers.

Andrew Drugan, coach of the West Virginia School for Deaf and Blind grapplers, will be the third man in the ring for all the bouts.

Bill Eichhorn will captain the Beall team in tomorrow's encounter.

Beall, which won three inter-school matches while losing five last year, has failed to win in two meetings this season, dropping decisions to Bedford, Pa., High's Bisons and the West Virginia School for Deaf and Blind of Romney.

Loeffler Says Kentucky Best

Road Wins Would Clinch Cage Title

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5 (AP) — Coach Ken Loeffler of LaSalle's defending NCAA basketball champions is ready to rate Kentucky's unbeaten Wildcats as the best outfit in the country—provided "they beat some good teams away from home."

Loeffler's Explorers (9-3) lost to Kentucky at Lexington last month in the finals of the Wildcats tournament and Loeffler says the loss was expected.

"I'd say the ratings of Kentucky, Duquesne and us are about right," he continued. "But I think Kentucky can win a clear claim to being the best by taking some tough ones on the road."

He said that Duquesne "won a tough one on the road by beating us" and then added "we won nine out of 12 on the road which is pretty good."

"It could be," he went on, "if Kentucky played Niagara, Loyola of New Orleans, Duquesne and a couple others on the road they might drop a couple too."

"But, I still think they must be ranked the best," he admitted.

Many Orioles Fans From Out Of City

Survey Shows Most White Collar Workers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, apparently the first major league baseball team ever to apply this "scientific sample" business to fans, found out today most of them are "white collar" workers.

And only 65 per cent invariably rooted for the Orioles.

Dick Armstrong, club public relations director, said some policy changes are in the works as the result of his findings.

He was surprised when tabulations indicated 26.1 per cent of the 1,060,910 fans who paid to see the Birds play here last year came from beyond Baltimore and environs.

"The experts always said Baltimore would never support major league baseball because it couldn't draw enough fans from outside the city," Armstrong pointed out.

The Oriole publicity man formerly worked for Dr. George Gallup and studied scientific polling techniques at Princeton.

He started his baseball fan project last July 2 and at 20 games between then and Aug. 22 had ushers tap fans here and there with questionnaires.

"It is generally assumed the bulk of your fans are factory employes," Armstrong says.

"But we found white collar workers were the largest single group —41.5 per cent. Another 14.3 per cent were professional people or executives. Skilled and unskilled factory workers made up only 24.8 per cent of the crowd."

Of the 26 per cent from out of town, more than half came from outside of Maryland, and more than half of these came from nearby Pennsylvania.

Less than one per cent of the out-of-towners came from Washington, only 2 per cent from Washington suburbs. One thing that kept Baltimore out of the major leagues so long was a fear it would funnel off Washington's fans.

Owen Seeking To End Losses In Senior Bowl

North And South Grid Teams Clash Saturday

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 5 (AP)—Coach Steve Owen admitted today he had a right fair South squad for Saturday's sixth annual Senior Bowl. North Coach Paul Brown agreed with Owen and made his annual prediction that his "out-manned" Yankees would lose.

"We've got good talent and this might be the year we'll catch up with them," Owen said.

Brown's predictions to the contrary, the North has won the last three games under the coach of the championship Cleveland pro Browns. Owen, South coach for all five games, won the first two.

His probable offensive line included ends Max Boydston, Oklahoma, and Frank McDonald, Miami (Fla.); tackles James Ray Smith, Baylor, and Sid Fournet; guards Bud Brooks, Arkansas, and George Atkins, Auburn; and center Jack Locklear, Auburn.

Brown said nothing about probable starters but he appeared to be favoring a backfield unit composed of quarterback Dave Leggett, Ohio State; backs Bob McNamara, Minnesota; Corky Taylor, Kansas State; and fullback Alan Ameche, Wisconsin.

Northern linemen who appeared to have a slight edge were ends Dean Dugger, Ohio State, and Jim Garrity, Penn State; tackles Don Glantz, Nebraska, and Frank Morze, Boston College; guards Tom Bettis, Purdue, and Henry Bullough, Michigan State; and center John Damore, Northwestern or Bob Thornton, Ohio State.

The squads will work in morning and afternoon drills again tomorrow, and taper off with a single drill Friday.

Kickoff for the Saturday game is 2:45 p.m. (EST). It will be broadcast by CBS but will not be televised.

Jensen Receives Gene Mack Award

BOSTON, Jan. 5 (AP)—Selection of outfield star Jackie Jensen to receive the Gene Mack Memorial Award as the most valuable member of the Boston Red Sox in 1954 was announced tonight by the Boston Chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn.

Jensen, who batted .276 and drove in 117 runs, will be honored at the Boston writers' annual dinner Jan. 26.

MOVING UP . . . . . By Alan Maver

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS) — Sometimes we think we must be on more sucker lists than anybody in the world.

We are forever being importuned to make a quick million bucks by investing a few thousands in some penny gold mining shares in Canada or a can't-miss oil well in Afghanistan or Arkansas or a diamond mine in South Africa.

Every racing tout sheet, especially those in Baltimore, knows our address, and once one of these birds find you they never let up.

We wondered which would be first to reach us in 1955 and we find our old friend, the Caliente Future Book, beating the gun with a golden opportunity for the 1955 Santa Anita Handicap.

Strangely enough, this one (operated in Mexico) is licensed and legitimate. And we'd get paid if we won.

We enjoy the Caliente book because it offers such sweet enticing odds.

For instance, there are 103 horses listed, and you have your chance to invest any sum you like on any number of horses—which are listed at 4 to 1 on the great colt, Determine, to five nags at 1,000 to 1.

Looking at those 1000-to-1 shots, you might be willing to give those odds that the five nags aren't even members of the horse family.

At the track you can only bet to win, place or show but the Caliente book goes a step further. It gives you odds against any horse you name finishing fourth.

Thus on a 1000-to-1 shot, you are offered 500 to 1 the horse doesn't place, 250 to 1 it doesn't show and 125 to 1 it doesn't even run fourth.

It would be fairer odds to offer 1,000 to 1 that such a nag won't even get to the post. And if your horse doesn't run you lose your bet because all wagers are made on a pay-or-play basis.

Almost half the field is listed at prices ranging from 100 to 1000 to 1.

You may think that nobody in his right mind would risk anything on those 1000 to 1 shots. If so, you are greatly mistaken.

There are always people who will take a chance on anything if the price is big enough. Then there are those who will place a big bet on, say, Determine, at 4 to 1, and spread a dollar or two over a bunch of those long shots.

We know a wealthy man who bets two bucks on every horse which shows odds of 20 to 1 or better at the track. On a rainy day when long shots are winning, he's out in front. But he winds up the year a loser. However, he can afford his fun. Some of us can't.

Grid Hall Of Fame Officers Are Elected

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame today reelected Chester J. La Roche of New York as chairman of the board and vice-Adm. John H. Brown Jr., USN retired, as president for 1955.

Tom Hamilton, athletic director at Pittsburgh, was chosen vice president, and Edgar Garbisch, former Army great, was named treasurer. George Little was renamed executive secretary.

BOWL GAMES are still with us. The finale comes up in Los Angeles January 16 when the fifth annual Pro Bowl game is played. Coaching the East All-Stars will be Jim Trimble, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles and head man of the West is Buck Shaw, recently deposed as coach of the San Francisco 49ers. (International)

Navy Cagers End Losing Streak, 77-56

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5 (AP) — Navy's basketball team ended a four-game losing streak today by trouncing William and Mary 77-56.

Ken McCally led Navy scoring with 23 points while the Middies were holding William and Mary's Johnny Mahoney to 14, less than half the 29-point per game average he brought into the game.

The victory was Navy's second of the season in six starts and the first since the opener against Yale. William and Mary has a 5-6 record.

It's here today! A NEW Total Power

Esso Extra Gasoline with the...

HIGHEST OCTANE OF ALL TIME!

EXTRA-OCTANE PERFORMANCE!

This vastly improved new TOTAL POWER Esso Extra is the highest octane gasoline ever offered you for your car—higher by far than any other gasoline! It meets the requirements of every one of today's automobiles—regardless of compression ratio. Try a tankful today. Now more than ever it's the best gasoline you can buy!

How to get continuous EXTRA-OCTANE PERFORMANCE...

The continued power output of your engine depends on both your gasoline and your motor oil! Your gasoline actually supplies the power, but your motor oil must keep your engine clean enough to deliver this power. When you use ordinary motor oils, power-robbing carbon deposits build up in your engine—thus reducing the power that any gasoline can give you. Esso Standard's great new Uniflo Motor Oil has been scientifically designed to combat these carbon deposits. Used in combination with new TOTAL POWER Esso Extra Gasoline it will give you continuous EXTRA-OCTANE PERFORMANCE — mile after mile and month after month!

LEADERSHIP THROUGH RESEARCH

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (INS) — Sometimes we think we must be on more sucker lists than anybody in the world.

We are forever being importuned to make a quick million bucks by investing a few thousands in some penny gold mining shares in Canada or a can't-miss oil well in Afghanistan or Arkansas or a diamond mine in South Africa.

Every racing tout sheet, especially those in Baltimore, knows our address, and once one of these birds find you they never let up.

We wondered which would be first to reach us in 1955 and we find our old friend, the Caliente Future Book, beating the gun with a golden opportunity for the 1955 Santa Anita Handicap.

Strangely enough, this one (operated in Mexico) is licensed and legitimate. And we'd get paid if we won.

We enjoy the Caliente book because it offers such sweet enticing odds.

For instance, there are 103 horses listed, and you have your chance to invest any sum you like on any number of horses—which are listed at 4 to 1 on the great colt, Determine, to five nags at 1,000 to 1.

Looking at those 1000-to-1 shots, you might be willing to give those odds that the five nags aren't even members of the horse family.

At the track you can only bet to win, place or show but the Caliente book goes a step further. It gives you odds against any horse you name finishing fourth.

Thus on a 1000-to-1 shot, you are offered 500 to 1 the horse doesn't place, 250 to 1 it doesn't show and 125 to 1 it doesn't even run fourth.

It would be fairer odds to offer 1,000 to 1 that such a nag won't even get to the post. And if your horse doesn't run you lose your bet because all wagers are made on a pay-or-play basis.

Almost half the field is listed at prices ranging from 100 to 1000 to 1.

You may think that nobody in his right mind would risk anything on those 1000 to 1 shots. If so, you are greatly mistaken.

There are always people who will take a chance on anything if the price is big enough. Then there are those who will place a big bet on, say, Determine, at 4 to 1, and spread a dollar or two over a bunch of those long shots.

We know a wealthy man who bets two bucks on every horse which shows odds of 20 to 1 or better at the track. On a rainy day when long shots are winning, he's out in front. But he winds up the year a loser. However, he can afford his fun. Some of us can't.

Grid Hall Of Fame Officers Are Elected

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame today reelected Chester J. La Roche of New York as chairman of the board and vice-Adm. John H. Brown Jr., USN retired, as president for 1955.

Tom Hamilton, athletic director at Pittsburgh, was chosen vice president, and Edgar Garbisch, former Army great, was named treasurer. George Little was renamed executive secretary.

BOWL GAMES are still with us. The finale comes up in Los Angeles January 16 when the fifth annual Pro Bowl game is played. Coaching the East All-Stars will be Jim Trimble, coach of the Philadelphia Eagles and head man of the West is Buck Shaw, recently deposed as coach of the San Francisco 49ers. (International)

Navy Cagers End Losing Streak, 77-56

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5 (AP) — Navy's basketball team ended a four-game losing streak today by trouncing William and Mary 77-56.

Ken McCally led Navy scoring with 23 points while the Middies were holding William and Mary's Johnny Mahoney to 14, less than half the 29-point per game average he brought into the game.

The victory was Navy's second of the season in six starts and the first since the opener against Yale. William and Mary has a 5-6 record.

Tri-Towns Boy Scouts To Hold Annual Circus

Plans Outlined For Other Events

PIEDMONT — The Boy Scout Troops of the Tri-Towns District will present their annual Scout Circus at Piedmont High School auditorium Monday evening February 7 in observance of the thirty-first annual National Boy Scout Week February 6-12.

About seven acts will be presented. It is planned to have a musical group also and it will follow the same pattern as previous circuses, Alton R. Fortney, district chairman of camping and activities, announced Tuesday evening at the January meeting of the Tri-Towns District Scouters in the Odd Fellow's Hall.

Scoutmaster Harry J. Biggs, will serve as ringmaster. George McDowell, district commissioner will be the general director.

During scout week the scouts will trim business windows with a program relative to scouting.

The annual Sweetheart Ball sponsored by the Tri-Towns Senior Council will be held at Bruce High School March 25 from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Art Shaffer's Orchestra will provide the music. Members of the Senior Council of Chambersburg, Pa., will be invited again this year.

Plans are also being made for them to be taken on a tour through the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The annual spring trip to Washington will be made on April 30 and May 1. Fortney stated they will take a boat ride from Mt. Vernon. The scouts have been given permission to place a wreath on the Unknown Soldier's grave in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Protestant scouts will attend a service in the Amphitheatre there. The speaker will be Rev. James L. Robertson, a former pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of Piedmont and now pastor of the Clarenton Methodist Church at Arlington.

The Catholic Scouts will attend Mass at Fort Meyers. Fortney stated that he would contact Washington newspapers for publicity of the affair.

Carl McMillen, district chairman, reported that the Boy Scouts gave assistance in the distribution of the food baskets for the United Organizations at Christmas time, and that scouters manned a Salvation Army kettle for one day before Christmas.

Edward S. Filler Advanced To Army Maor

THOMAS—Two men from Thomas have been promoted in rank according to Major Eli M. Dews, Unit Advisor for the Reserve Unit located in this area.

Edward S. Filler, of Thomas, has been promoted to the grade of Major in the U. S. Army Reserve. Major Filler is operations officer for the 2nd Battalion, 398th Infantry Regiment with headquarters in Fairmont, and is attached to Company "F" 398th Infantry Regiment in Thomas. Major Filler is president of the Duncan Telephone Company in Tucker County.

Carl O. Nestor of Parsons has been promoted to the grade of sergeant and is also attached to the local unit.

Moorefield Lions Hear Club Reports

MOOREFIELD—Lewis Moomau, president of Moorefield Lions Club, reported 40 families were supplied with Christmas baskets and 11 orphans were given clothing, toys and candy. The club passed a resolution of thanks to the Moose lodge, the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company, the Boy Scouts, Mrs. J. B. Chapman and to the school principals and teachers for the help given in packing, delivering and making up the baskets.

Ted Burns, chairman of the March of Dimes reported that the Lions would engage in the annual contest for funds with the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company and that on Saturday, January 15, crews of solicitors would be stationed on the corner of Main and Winchester streets. Assisting Burns on the committee are Rev. Richard Morgan, W. C. Harper and Bill Clark.

O. H. Bean reported on the progress of the Industrial committee.

Fire Destroys Shears' Home

KEYSER — Fire destroyed the home of A. L. Shears, a one-story frame structure on Limestone Road, east of Keyser Wednesday afternoon. The blaze was discovered about 2 p. m., by a neighbor, who telephoned the Keyser Volunteer Fire Department. That fire fighting unit was assisted by the McCoole Fire Company, but the fire was beyond control when they arrived.

The building was a total loss, estimated at $800.

Game Warden Is Indicted For Manslaughter

David Gilpin Faces Trial In Romney

ROMNEY, W. Va. (AP) — David Gilpin, West Virginia district game warden for this area, has been indicted on an involuntary manslaughter charge as the result of a fatal shooting last Nov. 27.

The Hampshire County grand jury returned the indictment Tuesday.

Gilpin was charged with the death of Grover "Andy" Michael, 41, of Shanks, W.Va., as the result of an incident which developed while the conservation officer was investigating an illegal deer kill.

Gilpin said his revolver discharged accidentally when he stumbled. The bullet hit Michael in the back.

The grand jury also indicted Raymond B. Poland, who was with Michael, on a charge of participating in an illegal deer kill. No charge had previously been placed against Poland.

Indictments were also returned against Beverly Calvin Kerns, 20; James W. Fletcher, 19, and James Lee Largent, 20, all of Whitacre, Va., for contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old Capon Bridge girl. The Fletcher youth is stationed with the Army at Fort Riley, Kan.

Also indicted was Eston Kidwell, 22, of near Paw Paw, for contributing to the delinquency of a 14-year-old Slanesville area girl.

The jurors failed to return indictments against Kenneth Wright, of near Augusta, who had been held under bond on a negligent homicide charge as the result of the death of George S. McKee last October 12 in a highway accident, or against Paul Brown, Springfield, who had been held under bond on an alleged charge of grand larceny.

Comprising the grand jury were Albert W. Stewart, Harry Hiett, James N. Haines, Deskin Abe, Hoy Haines, B. B. Billmyre, Paul Keister, Robert B. Haines, John H. Houser, John D. Harmison, Ward E. Potter, John I. Ansel, H. E. Duckworth, Harold Cheshire, Homer Daugherty and John C. Loy.

Attorney Tells Club About Legal Rights Of Women

MOOREFIELD — Attorney Charles Bean was guest speaker at the January meeting of the Moorefield Woman's Club, held at the home of Mrs. H. G. Muntzing Monday night. Attorney Bean spoke on "The Status of West Virginia Women," bringing out the fact that there were few discriminations against women as far as the law of West Virginia was concerned. He showed how the common law of England, from which many modern laws have been taken, allowed women no power to contract or convey land and in some cases, if a woman's property was sold the money went to her husband. This is no longer true. He discussed the dower right — the right of a spouse to ⅓ interest in real estate owned by the other.

Mr. Bean talked also on the importance of making a will, showing that property left inestate was arbitrarily handled by the law: ⅓ life interest in real estate going to surviving spouse; ⅓ interest in personal property going outright to living spouse; the rest being divided between the children and if there were no children, reverting to parents, brothers and sisters and other relatives.

The interest of some women in the state in being allowed to serve on juries was mentioned but the local club feels that jury duty is something they can get along without. Mr. Bean concluded that the only real advantage, legally, to being a woman in West Virginia was exemption from the poll tax!

The members of the club gave a towel and soap shower for Korean women at this meeting.

The Sunshine chairman reported 25 Christmas boxes sent to shutins during the holiday.

Mrs. Donald Baker, safety chairman, urged the members to join the Star Driver Program being promoted by the Safety Committee in an effort to reduce accidents.

The president, Mrs. C. B. Bishoff, reported that winners of the Art Contest are Miss Sidney Williams, Miss Margaret Sherman and Miss Lucy Fisher, with honorable mention going to Misses Lea Inskeep and Nancy Love. These young ladies are all members of the Art Class at Moorefield High School.

It was announced that the State Federation of Women's Clubs would hold its annual convention at Greenbrier Hotel, White Sulphur Springs, March 10-12.

Mrs. C. R. Whiteman announced that Mrs. R. J. Bean, Mrs. A. J. Ludwick and Mrs. Howard Belt would serve with her on the City Beautiful Project. Mrs. Wyndell Everett announced $50 is ready to be applied to the curtain debt.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. W. C. Harper, Mrs. John Harman, Mrs. K. G. Vance and Mrs. J. B. Chipley, in addition to Mrs. Muntzing.

Heiskell To Show New Tractors Jan. 7

FROSTBURG—Ford Motor Company's new farm tractors for 1955 will go on display Friday at the show rooms of the Heiskell Motor Sales, here, according to an announcement made yesterday.

M. S. Heiskell, local dealer, said the new tractors represent a major break with the past, as far as the manufacturer is concerned, since five models for 1955 are to be shown. In the past Ford has been a "single-model" producer for nearly half a century.

Heiskell said area farmers and tractor users and all other interested persons are invited to the initial showing beginning at 8 a.m. Friday.

Sets Appointment

PARSONS—Mrs. Solina Raese, wife of the late C. W. Raese of Davis has been appointed as an attache' to the State Senate which will convene in Charleston in February. Mrs. Raese's husband spent three terms as a member of the House of Delegates from Tucker County prior to his death this year.

Huge Bake Sale To Boost Valley High Boosters

Three Communities Will Participate

LONACONING — Valley High School Boosters Club will sponsor a bake sale January 15, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

The sale of all baked goods, including cakes, pies, home-made candies, potato salad, baked beans, etc., will be held in the three communities, Barton, Lonaconing and Midland at places to be announced.

Members of the Booster club will man bake sale headquarters in each town and donations will be received during the Saturday sale.

Dave Williams is to be in charge of the Midland area; Mrs. Cecil Dye is in charge of Barton area; Mrs. Margaret Green is chairman for Lonaconing area; in arranging for the bake sale.

Funds realized from the bake sales will be used by the Valley Booster Club to support scholastic activities at the high school including the athletic department as well as other departments.

Students at Valley High School have been asked to contact their parents to indicate their contribution pledges of baked goods for the bake sale. Thomas P. Staup will be faculty chairman for the collection of baked items.

Tri-Towns Boy Scouts To Hold Annual Circus

Plans Outlined For Other Events

PIEDMONT — The Boy Scout Troops of the Tri-Towns District will present their annual Scout Circus at Piedmont High School auditorium Monday evening February 7 in observance of the thirty-first annual National Boy Scout Week February 6-12.

About seven acts will be presented. It is planned to have a musical group also and it will follow the same pattern as previous circuses, Alton R. Fortney, district chairman of camping and activities, announced Tuesday evening at the January meeting of the Tri-Towns District Scouters in the Odd Fellow's Hall.

Scoutmaster Harry J. Biggs, will serve as ringmaster. George McDowell, district commissioner will be the general director.

During scout week the scouts will trim business windows with a program relative to scouting.

The annual Sweetheart Ball sponsored by the Tri-Towns Senior Council will be held at Bruce High School March 25 from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Art Shaffer's Orchestra will provide the music. Members of the Senior Council of Chambersburg, Pa., will be invited again this year.

Plans are also being made for them to be taken on a tour through the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The annual spring trip to Washington will be made on April 30 and May 1. Fortney stated they will take a boat ride from Mt. Vernon. The scouts have been given permission to place a wreath on the Unknown Soldier's grave in the Arlington National Cemetery.

Protestant scouts will attend a service in the Amphitheatre there. The speaker will be Rev. James L. Robertson, a former pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of Piedmont and now pastor of the Clarenton Methodist Church at Arlington.

The Catholic Scouts will attend Mass at Fort Meyers. Fortney stated that he would contact Washington newspapers for publicity of the affair.

Carl McMillen, district chairman, reported that the Boy Scouts gave assistance in the distribution of the food baskets for the United Organizations at Christmas time, and that scouters manned a Salvation Army kettle for one day before Christmas.

Edward S. Filler Advanced To Army Maor

THOMAS—Two men from Thomas have been promoted in rank according to Major Eli M. Dews, Unit Advisor for the Reserve Unit located in this area.

Edward S. Filler, of Thomas, has been promoted to the grade of Major in the U. S. Army Reserve. Major Filler is operations officer for the 2nd Battalion, 398th Infantry Regiment with headquarters in Fairmont, and is attached to Company "F," 398th Infantry Regiment in Thomas. Major Filler is president of the Duncan Telephone Company in Tucker County.

Carl O. Nestor of Parsons has been promoted to the grade of sergeant and is also attached to the local unit.

Moorefield Lions Hear Club Reports

MOOREFIELD—Lewis Moomau, president of Moorefield Lions Club, reported 40 families were supplied with Christmas baskets and 11 orphans were given clothing, toys and candy. The club passed a resolution of thanks to the Moose lodge, the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company, the Boy Scouts, Mrs. J. B. Chapman and to the school principals and teachers for the help given in packing, delivering and making up the baskets.

Ted Burns, chairman of the March of Dimes reported that the Lions would engage in the annual contest for funds with the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company and that on Saturday, January 15, crews of solicitors would be stationed on the corner of Main and Winchester streets. Assisting Burns on the committee are Rev. Richard Morgan, W. C. Harper and Bill Clark.

O. H. Bean reported on the progress of the Industrial committee.

The club members viewed two movies presented by Ludwick-Chevrolet, "How To Go Places," with valuable tips on vacation travel, and "Junior Drivers," showing how Phoenix, Ariz., taught driving courtesy in kindergarten and grade schools.

This is no longer true. He discussed the dower right — the right of a spouse to ⅓ interest in real estate owned by the other.

Mr. Bean talked also on the importance of making a will, showing that property left intestate was arbitrarily handled by the law: ⅓ life interest in real estate going to surviving spouse; ⅓ interest in personal property going outright to living spouse; the rest being divided between the children and if there were no children, reverting to parents, brothers and sisters and other relatives.

The interest of some women in the state in being allowed to serve on juries was mentioned but the local club feels that jury duty is something they can get along without. Mr. Bean concluded that the only real advantage, legally, to being a woman in West Virginia was exemption from the poll tax!

The members of the club gave a towel and soap shower for Korean women at this meeting.

The Sunshine chairman reported 25 Christmas boxes sent to shutins during the holiday.

Mrs. Donald Baker, safety chairman, urged the members to join the Star Driver Program being promoted by the Safety Committee in an effort to reduce accidents.

The president, Mrs. C. B. Bishoff, reported that winners of the Art Contest are Miss Sidney Williams, Miss Margaret Sherman and Miss Lucy Fisher, with honorable mention going to Misses Lea Inskeep and Nancy Love. These young ladies are all members of the Art Class at Moorefield High School.

It was announced that the State Federation of Women's Clubs would hold its annual convention at Greenbrier Hotel, White Sulphur Springs, March 10-12.

Mrs. C. R. Whiteman announced that Mrs. R. J. Bean, Mrs. A. J. Ludwick and Mrs. Howard Belt would serve with her on the City Beautiful Project. Mrs. Wyndell Everett announced $50 is ready to be applied to the curtain debt.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. W. C. Harper, Mrs. John Harman, Mrs. K. G. Vance and Mrs. J. B. Chipley, in addition to Mrs. Muntzing.

Huge Bake Sale To Boost Valley High Boosters

Three Communities Will Participate

LONACONING — Valley High School Boosters Club will sponsor a bake sale January 15, from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

The sale of all baked goods, including cakes, pies, home-made candies, potato salad, baked beans, etc., will be held in the three communities, Barton, Lonaconing and Midland at places to be announced.

Members of the Booster club will man bake sale headquarters in each town and donations will be received during the Saturday sale.

Dave Williams is to be in charge of the Midland area: Mrs. Cecil Dye is in charge of Barton area; Mrs. Margaret Green is chairman for Lonaconing area; in arranging for the bake sale.

Funds realized from the bake sales will be used by the Valley Booster Club to support scholastic activities at the high school including the athletic department as well as other departments.

Students at Valley High School have been asked to contact their parents to indicate their contribution pledges of baked goods for the bake sale. Thomas P. Staup will be faculty chairman for the collection of baked items.

Heiskell To Show New Tractors Jan. 7

FROSTBURG—Ford Motor Company's new farm tractors for 1955 will go on display Friday at the show rooms of the Heiskell Motor Sales, here, according to an announcement made yesterday.

M. S. Heiskell, local dealer, said the new tractors represent a major break with the past, as far as the manufacturer is concerned, since five models for 1955 are to be shown. In the past Ford has been a "single-model" producer for nearly half a century.

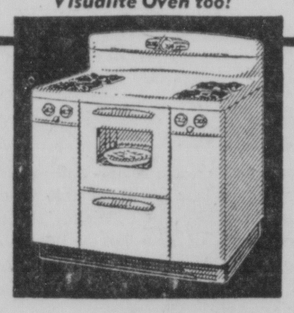

Heiskell said area farmers and tractor users and all other interested persons are invited to the initial showing beginning at 8 a.m. Friday.

Sets Appointment

PARSONS—Mrs. Solina Raese, wife of the late C. W. Raese of Davis has been appointed as an attache' to the State Senate which will convene in Charleston in February. Mrs. Raese's husband spent three terms as a member of the House of Delegates from Tucker County prior to his death this year.

Grapes Affiliates With Red Ball Line

Grapes Transfer and Storage Company, RFD 3, Bedford Road, announces its affiliation as local representative of the American Red Ball Transit Company, oldest long-distance moving and storage service in the nation.

In addition to local moving service to individuals and organizations in the Cumberland area, the Grapes Company also provides intercity and cross-country moving service with close contact, through a central dispatch office, with hundreds of Red Ball agents in principal cities.

Under the modern Red Ball transit plan, trained personnel pack all articles into padded containers, wrinkle-proof wardrobes and dust-free packages. Red Ball agents unpack all contents at the new destination.

There are between two million and seven million lepers in the world.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

". . . And here's proof that my company is run in a business-like manner . . . Just read a few of those 'drop dead' notes from our employee suggestion box, Mr. Sneedby . . ."

Grapes Affiliates With Red Ball Line

Grapes Transfer and Storage Company, RFD 3, Bedford Road, announces its affiliation as local representative of the American Red Ball Transit Company, oldest long-distance moving and storage service in the nation.

In addition to local moving service to individuals and organizations in the Cumberland area, the Grapes Company also provides intercity and cross-country moving service with close contact, through a central dispatch office, with hundreds of Red Ball agents in principal cities.

Under the modern Red Ball transit plan, trained personnel pack all articles into padded containers, wrinkle-proof wardrobes and dust-free packages. Red Ball agents unpack all contents at the new destination.

There are between two million and seven million lepers in the world.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and heartfelt appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of my beloved wife, Marie Schultz. I especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and heartfelt appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of my beloved wife, Marie Schultz. I especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.

Stock Market Prices Crack In Worst Break Since 1950

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Prices cracked today in the stock market in the worst break since the start of the Korean War.

Selling came in waves with the greatest in the final hour when the high speed ticker was as much as 15 minutes behind in reporting what was happening on the floor of the stock exchange.

The deluge followed a hike in margin requirements by the Federal Reserve Board to 60 per cent from 50 per cent.

That means you will have to put up 60 per cent cash to buy new stocks. Previous holdings on margin aren't affected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $3.40 at $152.40, greatest drop since June 26, 1950, when it slipped off $4.00 on the start of the Korean War.

The industrial component of the average was off $5.40, rails fell $2.60, and utilities were lower by 70 cents.

On Monday the average stood at the second highest level in its history, topped only by the all-time high of $157.70 on Sept. 3, 1929.

The market today was the broadest on record with 1,290 issues traded. Yesterday's market had set a new record high with 1,279 issues. There were only 147 gainers and 995 losers with 68 new highs for the year touched during the day and 4 new lows registered.

Volume stepped up to 4,640,000 shares, greatest since June 27, 1950, when it was 4,860,000.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE, CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, being No. 23,882 Equity, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public auction on Saturday, January 8, 1955, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., in front of the Second National Bank, corner of Baltimore and S. Liberty Streets, Cumberland, Maryland, the following improved real estate:

ALL that piece or parcel of land lying and being on the northerly side of Harrison Street, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, State of Maryland, which is more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

BEGINNING for said parcel at a point on the northerly side of Harrison Street, at the end of the first line of a deed from John T. Edwards to Harry Little and wife, dated April 19, 1912, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County in Liber No. 109, folio 670; and running thence with the northerly side of said Harrison Street, North 76 degrees 18 minutes East 24.85 feet to its intersection with the center line of the division wall between the brick houses, Nos. 94 and 96 Harrison Street; thence with said center line and said line prolonged, North 13 degrees 42 minutes west 105 feet to Oak Alley; thence with said alley, South 76 degrees 18 minutes West 24.85 feet to the end of the second line of the aforesaid deed from John T. Edwards to Harry Little and wife; thence with said second line reversed, South 13 degrees 42 minutes East 105 feet to the place of beginning.

THE AFORESAID PROPERTY is the same property which was conveyed by deed dated the 29th day of March, 1920, by John T. Edwards to Clara Ellen Wilhelm, now deceased, said deed being recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 132, folio 272. The said property is known as No. 222 Harrison Street, Cumberland, Maryland, and is improved with a 3-story brick house with a cellar under the whole house and an attic, heated with steam heat, stoker fired; the first floor consists of three rooms, pantry, and with enclosed porch; the second floor being four rooms and bath; and the third floor, three rooms; with attic usable for sleeping. The property is further improved with a double garage. The property has the usual city conveniences.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash. A deposit of one-third will be required at the time of sale, balance payable in cash upon the final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, and the delivery of a good and sufficient deed therefor. Taxes, water rent, and all public charges to be adjusted to date of sale.

EARL E. MANGES,

Keyser Takes Step Toward Acquiring New State Armory

KEYSER — The land that was offered to the city of Keyser for a swimming pool and recreation purposes by the Reynolds heirs and Arnold Ludwick, with the exception of the immediate site for the swimming pool, will be returned to the original owners. The mayor and city council agreed, at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, that the land not used will be re-conveyed.

It was the understanding of the city group, that the original owners, who have been approached on the matter of giving assistance to the state in a plan to have land donated for the erection of a National Guard Armory at Keyser, are said to look favorably on the idea of each presenting half of the land needed for the armory.

The city will re-deed the land to the original owners as a result of the action of the council. By so doing, it will make it possible to secure land for the armory.

Only routine matters were discussed at the meeting, in addition to the land exchange.

Parsons High Gets New Sound System

PARSONS—A new sound system has been installed in Parsons High School according to Earl Corcoran, principal. The new system which will be in use this week, will make it possible that all communications can be heard from the halls of the school.

The cost of the new sound system is payable in ten yearly installments, the first one when the installation is completed will be $151. It is expected to be ready this week.

The Hi-Y club of Parsons with Harold Shaffer as advisor is sponsoring the payments for their project.

Two Teachers Granted Leave

KEYSER — The Mineral County board of education held its first meeting of the year Monday evening in the board offices in the Court House, and G. Harley Dixon, Piedmont, veteran member of the board was re-elected president and two leaves of absence were granted to faculty members. They are Mrs. Margaret Umstot, Fort Ashby, and Paul Hood, Ridgeley High School. No announcement was made as to who will be appointed to fill the positions.

The board discussed the need of an assistant superintendent to be appointed but no action was taken. Several names were discussed unofficially. It is expected the vacancy will be filled soon.

Stock Market Prices Crack In Worst Break Since 1950

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Prices cracked today in the stock market in the worst break since the start of the Korean War.

Selling came in waves with the greatest in the final hour when the high speed ticker was as much as 15 minutes behind in reporting what was happening on the floor of the stock exchange.

The deluge followed a hike in margin requirements by the Federal Reserve Board to 60 per cent from 50 per cent.

That means you will have to put up 60 per cent cash to buy new stocks. Previous holdings on margin aren't affected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $3.40 at $152.40, greatest drop since June 26, 1950, when it slipped off $4.00 on the start of the Korean War.

The industrial component of the average was off $5.40, rails fell $2.60, and utilities were lower by 70 cents.

On Monday the average stood at the second highest level in its history, topped only by the all-time high of $157.70 on Sept. 3, 1929.

The market today was the broadest on record with 1,290 issues traded. Yesterday's market had set a new record high with 1,279 issues. There were only 147 gainers and 995 losers with 68 new highs for the year touched during the day and 4 new lows registered.

Volume stepped up to 4,640,000 shares, greatest since June 27, 1950, when it was 4,860,000.

Keyser Takes Step Toward Acquiring New State Armory

KEYSER — The land that was offered to the city of Keyser for a swimming pool and recreation purposes by the Reynolds heirs and Arnold Ludwick, with the exception of the immediate site for the swimming pool, will be returned to the original owners. The mayor and city council agreed, at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, that the land not used will be re-conveyed.

It was the understanding of the city group, that the original owners, who have been approached on the matter of giving assistance to the state in a plan to have land donated for the erection of a National Guard Armory at Keyser, are said to look favorably on the idea of each presenting half of the land needed for the armory.

The city will re-deed the land to the original owners as a result of the action of the council. By so doing, it will make it possible to secure land for the armory.

Only routine matters were discussed at the meeting, in addition to the land exchange.

Parsons High Gets New Sound System

PARSONS—A new sound system has been installed in Parsons High School according to Earl Corcoran, principal. The new system which will be in use this week, will make it possible that all communications can be heard from the halls of the school.

The cost of the new sound system is payable in ten yearly installments, the first one when the installation is completed will be $151. It is expected to be ready this week.

The Hi-Y club of Parsons with Harold Shaffer as advisor is sponsoring the payments for their project.

Election Board, City Agree On Redistricting

Charter Amendment Would Be Needed

A plan for unifying voting districts of the City of Cumberland with those of Allegany County was agreed upon last night at a meeting of the Board of Election Supervisors, the Mayor and Council of Cumberland and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The officials, in the unanimous action, expressed pleasure that the first step has been taken toward coordinating the registration records of the city and county.

Speaking for the city, Mayor Roy W. Eves pointed out that the redistricting of the city voting locations is the "first step" and a constructive one, but pointed out that the consolidation plan cannot be placed into effect until the charter of the City of Cumberland is changed.

Any final action, he added, cannot be taken until the home rule bill becomes effective.

Lester Bolinger, draftsman for the City Engineering Department, explained the plan of geographic boundaries which would divide the city into six districts, generally following natural boundaries and making only minor changes in county district lines.

Would Eliminate Wards

The new election map would eliminate present ward boundaries which have had no significance since the commission form of government was adopted here.

William A. Wilson, member of the Election Board, pointed out that body has the power to make any needed changes, and that no new legislation would be needed on the part of the county.

Bolinger told the officials he had separated the city into six districts and that the division into precincts could be done according to population.

The redistricting, Election Board Member Matthew J. Mullaney said, will necessitate only minor changes in assessment records, and does not constitute a significant problem.

Cites Trend

Wilson said the change is in line with trends, citing the fact that Frederick is now engaged in changing its lines so city and county voting limits will coincide.

He said the decision to redistrict is timely, since the Board wants to get the work done before the 1956 election.

Wilson added that if the proposed election law goes through as it now stands, voting machines will be mandatory in 1958.

He said the board, however, plans to ask that machines be purchased sooner, so people will have a chance to become familiar with them before the next national election.

Wilson told the officials he and Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, estimate it will cost the city and county about $3,500 each to change the voting records.

Voting Machines Urged

All parties agreed the cost was reasonable. Funds are to be provided in future budgets.

Most of the cost of the change, Wilson pointed out, will be saved the first time an election is held with voting machines. The use of voting machines will eliminate the need for two clerks, each paid $22, in each of the city's 25 polling places, resulting in a saving of $2,200 in a city primary and general election.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested that when the city's charter is amended, the Election Board should be given charge of the city primary, as it now does the city general election.

One Record Plan

When the plan is placed into effect, all of the city's voting records would be consolidated with those of the county at the Court House.

This would eliminate the confusion which has resulted in elections from the fact that citizens must be registered on both city and county voting records to be eligible to vote in all elections.

The attitude of all of the officials was summed up in Lemmert's comment, "I think it is progress."

Representing the city were Mayor Eves and Commissioners Buchholtz, John J. Long and William J. Edwards. Lemmert and James Orr represented the County Commissioners, and Wilson, Mullaney and Victor Hebb, the election board.

Driver Unhurt As Car Hits Curb

Officer Louis D. Downey said Robert M. Iser, 4 Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley, was on his way home at 3:30 p.m. when his convertible spun, damaging the right front and left rear wheels.

Grand Jury Conducts Regular Inspections

Yesterday was "Inspection Day" for the grand jury for the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court as committees from the investigating body inspected various county institutions.

The grand jurors are scheduled to reconvene this afternoon and are expected to submit their report to the court.

Takes Banking Post

Martin L. Ford, 424 Greene Street, packs his luggage in preparation for a flight to Liberia, where he will serve as a supervisor in the Bank of Monrovia for the next two years. He is a World War II veteran and has served as a diplomatic courier in addition to several banking assignments.

Former Diplomatic Courier To Leave Today For Liberia

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

A 29-year-old local man boards a Pan-American plane in New York today for a flight to Liberia, where he will serve for the next two years as a supervisor for that country's only bank.

Liberia will not seem too strange to Ford, since he visited the country several times in 1951-52 when he was a diplomatic courier for the State Department.

Ford will be stationed in Monrovia, the capital city of the country located on the southwest coast of Africa.

He will be one of six American supervisors of the Bank of Monrovia, Inc., a subsidiary of Firestone Plantations, Inc., which in turn is a subsidiary of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

Is ETO Veteran

The bank employs about 32 native workers and provides modern banking facilities, serving as the government depository for the Republic of Liberia.

Ford is a native of Cumberland, a son of Mrs. Leona M. Ford, 424 Greene Street, and the late John E. Ford.

He graduated from LaSalle High School in 1943 and from St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., in 1950.

Prior to completing his formal education he served from 1943 to 1946 in the Army Air Force. During his tour of duty in the ETO, he was a staff sergeant, serving as ball turret gunner on B-17s.

After graduating from St. Francis, Ford served for two years as a diplomatic courier, visiting virtually all of the countries located on four continents.

He left the State Department post in February 1952 for a year's work as teller in the First National Bank here.

Expects Poor Climate

For the past year, he has been working for the Treasury Department as an assistant national bank examiner, attached to the Fifth Federal Reserve District in Richmond, Va. He resigned that post in November to accept the position with private industry in Liberia.

Ford said he believes his new post will be a "good break," since he is interested in the working of the rubber industry.

He will live in Monrovia, a city of about 12,000 population.

Ford says he realizes Liberia does not have an "ideal climate." That is something of an understatement, since the weather is tropical and humid.

The country has two seasons, a hot and a rainy season, and temperatures range uniformly high, between 80 and 100, and never less than 50. During part of the year, the country is swept with dry winds blowing from the Sahara Desert.

Liberia, an independent Negro republic, has a population of about 3,750,000, all of the African race.

Founded By Freedmen

It was founded in 1822 when a settlement was made at Monrovia by Negro freedmen from the United States, with the assistance of American colonization societies.

Liberia became a republic July 26, 1847. Its constitution is modeled after that of the United States. English is the official language, but 28 dialects are used by natives. United States currency is used for exchange.

Liberia furnishes about 10 per cent of this country's rubber imports and about 1,000,000 tons of iron ore—rated as the highest quality mined.

Ford said there will be one consolation—if he ever gets homesick for the Free State, he can travel to nearby Maryland County in Liberia, one of the geographic sections named for this state.

Head of the republic since 1943 is President William V. Tubman, whose grandfather was born in Georgia.

Trade School To Begin Class In Machine Shop

Because of increased demand for training in the machinist trade, the Allegany Trade School will make an effort to start a new class in machine shop training beginning Monday, January 17, according to J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational, industrial and adult education in the county schools.

This class will be an afternoon and night class starting at 3 o'clock and running through 9:30 o'clock. The course is 33½ months long and is designed to prepare the individual for precision machinist work.

The present daytime class is at full capacity, all Korean veterans. To accommodate other veterans an afternoon and night class is the only solution, Lonnholm reported.

Korean veterans desiring to enroll in this course should contact the registrar, Ira E. Northcraft, at the Paca Street office in the rear of the Greene Street fire station in person for full information as to enrollment and Veterans Administration requirements. They may, if they desire, contact the VA office on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

Positive enrollment must be made at or before 3 p. m. Thursday, January 13. A minimum of 14 enrollees will be required and a maximum of 20 will be accepted. Lonnholm advises veterans to enroll early as the policy is to accept those who apply first.

Girl Scouts Plan Annual Dinner, Board Election

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council and election of officers will be held January 12 at 6:30 p. m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Arch streets.

All board members, all council members and all Girl Scout adult leaders are eligible to attend the dinner session. According to Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive secretary of the council, reservations for the dinner should be made at the Girl Scout House not later than tomorrow at 5 p. m.

In addition to the election of officers and new board members, the program will include presentation of training certificates to a number who have completed their required program of adult training; and reports from those who attended a recent regional conference.

Printed copies of the year's work, which will also show the growth and expansion of the Girl Scout movement here, will be distributed.

Flintstone Boy To Get State Farm Bureau Prize

Coy Huffman, a Flintstone High School junior, will be awarded a State Farm Bureau prize for gardening at the group's annual convention Friday, January 14, in Baltimore.

Kenneth M. Malone, Huffman's vocational agriculture teacher, reported that the boy will be awarded a state third prize. He said it is the first time in his five years as a teacher at Flintstone that one of his students has won such an award.

State Senate Names Goldstein Its President

Maneuver Leaves Redden Outside

By LOU PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 5 (AP) — Sen. Goldstein (D-Calvert), representing Maryland's smallest county, vaulted into the biggest job in the State Senate today as the 90-day 1955 Legislature swung into gear.

The 41-year-old Southern Maryland Democrat was picked as Senate president in a slick piece of political maneuvering which left State Sen. Redden (D-Caroline), the heavy pre-session favorite, out in the cold.

Goldstein's election came after Del. Luber (D-Balto 5th) became speaker of the House of Delegates for the fifth straight year. He beat out Del. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges), whose vigorous campaign crumbled when the 25-member Eastern Shore bloc dropped into the Luber camp.

Senators Disgruntled

Southern Maryland senators, disgruntled by the action of Shore delegates in shunting Wilkinson aside, retaliated by refusing to go along with Redden as the Eastern Shore candidate for Senate president.

The picture changed so quickly that Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester), originally the lone Shore holdout against Redden, cancelled a morning duck hunting trip and hustled across the Chesapeake to Annapolis for the party caucus.

Malkus wound up with the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), who had teamed with Malkus in the original skirmish against the combination of Redden and Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th), was named majority floor leader.

With the floor leader assignment goes the chairmanship of the Finance Committee, whose biggest job will be the fine-tooth combing of Republican Gov. McKeldin's proposals to raise about 28½-million dollars in additional money to balance a whopping budget.

Floor Leader

Luber handed Del. Boone (D-Balto County) the house majority floor leadership and Del. Simpkins (D-Somerset) was named chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Boone also assumed the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee.

Thus the floor leadership and chairmanship of the money committees in both houses fell to Baltimore County men.

The Republicans, outnumbered 21-8 in the Senate and 98-25 in the House, settled on Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany) and Del. Derr (R-Frederick) as minority leaders. Kimble, whose 20 years in the Senate make him dean of them all, held the minority leadership throughout his last several terms.

Start Late

Once the Democrats had disposed of intra-party differences, Maryland's governmental machinery finally got into action. The Senate convened at 2:36 p.m., more than two and one-half hours late. The House had gone in about half an hour earlier.

Both houses then received bills vetoed by McKeldin after passage in 1954 and deferred action on them until Monday night. They received the first of some 60 measures screened between sessions by the Legislative Council.

Then in joint session they formally declared McKeldin the victor over Democrat H. C. Byrd in the election last November, and recessed until McKeldin appeared before another joint session at 8 p.m. with his "state of the State" message.

Of the nine vetoed 1954 bills, at least two are expected to produce some political fireworks. One would provide a bonus for ex-servicemen and cost the State an estimated 100-million dollars in increased sales taxes. The other would postpone for one year increases in fees for motor vehicles tags.

Measures Screened

A lawyer, farmer and real estate man, Goldstein is a native of Prince Frederick, seat of the county with a population of 12,272 in the 1950 census.

As president he succeeds Della, who held the job the last four years.

Clinics Planned Today

The Health Department has scheduled a child health clinic today at 10 a. m. in Corriganville and a pediatric clinic from 9 a. m. to noon in City Hall.

Harp Duo To Perform Here

The well-known Washington father-and-daughter harp duo, William T. Cameron and Constance Cameron, will play on the Cumberland Civic Orchestra program at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the Allegany High School auditorium. They will play a number of unusual arrangements for the harp duet, including some original compositions by Cameron.

County Judges Plan To Attend Ceremony Today

McLaughlin To Take His Oath Of Office

Both Allegany County judges will be in Hagerstown this morning for the swearing in of State Senator David Kenneth McLaughlin as the new circuit judge for Washington County.

Senator McLaughlin was appointed Tuesday night by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to fill the vacancy caused by the death December 8 of Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris was in Hagerstown for a trial yesterday and planned to remain there overnight. Chief Judge George Henderson said he would travel to Hagerstown early this morning.

Meanwhile, in Hagerstown two candidates defeated in bids for the House of Delegates in November were mentioned yesterday as possible successors to Republican Delegate Charles Downey, expected to be named state senator from Washington County.

The word from Republican sources was no decision had been reached however, and that it could go to someone other than Atty. Edwin Miller or William C. Porter, wholesale tobacco distributor. Miller is a U. S. commissioner. Both are from Hagerstown.

The Republican State Central Committee was understood to be in a controversy over a recommendation.

Downey, 38-year-old farm machine dealer from Williamsport, is expected to succeed McLaughlin.

Driver To Be Questioned

The driver of a car involved in a fatal crash on Route 36 near Shaft on December 27 is to be questioned today in the State's Attorney's office.

He is James Summers, 20, of Midland, who will be discharged today from Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

Summers was badly injured in the spectacular crash which killed Robert Green, 17, of 30 Stoyer Street, Frostburg, and caused critical injuries to the dead lad's brother, Gene Green, 19. Gene is reported in a satisfactory condition in Miners Hospital.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher asked that Summers be brought here for questioning today after being informed yesterday afternoon that he was to be released from the hospital.

Two Cows From Mason Herd Top Butterfat Producers

The two top butterfat producers in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association during December both are owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown.

The champion for the month, according to the report of Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, is Mason's grade Holstein known simply as No. 431295. She had 76 pounds of butterfat, or 5.9 per cent of her 1,290 pounds of December milk.

Second among the top 10 butterfat producers was No. 482833, another of Mason's grade Holsteins, with 73 pounds of butterfat in 1,550 pounds of milk. A third Mason cow was tied for fifth place.

Closest behind the two biggest Mason producers were two other cows belonging to Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings. One, No. 41, had 71 pounds of butterfat in 1,970 pounds of December milk. The other, No. 59, had 70 pounds in 1,890 pounds of milk. No. 59 was the association's November champion.

Three other dairy farms had cows on the honor list. Ivan C. Wilson of Midland had three cows among the best butterfat producers. They were tied for fifth, tied for seventh and 10th. I. L. Brooke and Sons of Pinto had a registered Holstein tied for seventh place. Ernest A. Light, also of Pinto, had the ninth rated cow, a graded Guernsey. The other nine top butterfat producers all were Holsteins.

Arnold and Miller tested 660 cows in the past month. They averaged 569 pounds of milk, 23.1 pounds butterfat and 4.06 per cent butterfat.

Father-Daughter Harp Duo Will Play At Concert Here

A feature of the Cumberland Civic Orchestra concert scheduled here January 11 at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium will be the well known father-and-daughter harp duo, William T. Cameron and Constance Cameron of Washington.

The harpists have appeared previously as featured soloists at the Carter Barron Amphitheater and the Department Auditorium in Washington on programs presented by the United States Navy Band, in which organization Cameron has been harpist since 1932.

A former student at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, where he studied under the prominent harpist, Carlos Salzedo, Cameron has been harp instructor to Constance, or "Penny" as she is better known, since she was 3½ years old.

At 13, "Penny" has had a wealth of musical experience in playing harp duets with her father. She is now a second-year student at Sousa Junior High School in Washington where last February the duo gave an entire program for the student assembly.

They have also appeared in a number of Washington churches, hospitals, clubs and other organizations, and have performed in New York, Rhode Island, Indiana and West Virginia.

"Penny" and her father will play a number of unusual arrangements for harp duet on the program, including some original compositions of Cameron's.

A group of expecially arranged popular songs will be featured, as well as a requested "Christmas Carol Medley" in keeping with the program, which was postponed from the overcrowded pre-Christmas season.

Salvation Army To Fill Post In South End

The appointment of officers to take charge of the South Cumberland Salvation Army Corps is expected soon, according to Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel.

He said Col. V. J. Huffman, Baltimore, divisional commander, has assured the Advisory Board that a married couple will be assigned to the post not later than the third week of January.

Officers from the Citadel have taken on the additional duties in South Cumberland since Lt. Harold May resigned his post there late in October to become assistant pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church here.

Reporting on the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program, Capt. Biggs said contributions totaled $5,245.57, and that all but $4 of that has been spent.

He added there will be a slight deficit, since some bills have not come in.

The Salvation Army, he said, provided 357 food orders to families representing 1,359 persons in the Cumberland area, and 199 orders, for 895 persons, in out-of-town locations. Another 12 baskets were delivered to those who applied for aid too late to provide grocery orders.

The Red Shield Boys Club, he said, has resumed its regular schedule after holiday interruptions. The club meets each Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. in the basement of the Citadel for workshop activities, and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p. m. for other club activities.

Tree Collection Set

Discarded Christmas trees will be picked up in Ridgeley today and tomorrow by Myrle Zimmers.

Ike's House To Get Floor Made Here

When President Eisenhower retires to his farmhouse near Gettysburg, Pa., he will walk on Cumberland-made flooring.

That was disclosed here last night with the announcement that the order for the flooring to be used in the Eisenhower farm house was placed yesterday with the Buchanan Lumber Company of this city.

The floor will be manufactured from a clear grade of white oak of random widths, varying from four to eight inches. This pattern of flooring is a reproduction of the colonial "plank" design. It is becoming increasingly popular in ranch-type and early American styled homes.

Material from which the flooring will be produced was grown and sawed by mills within a 100-mile radius of Cumberland. It was kiln-dried and entirely produced by the local firm.

The Buchanan Lumber Company has been producing this style flooring and shipping it to lumber yards in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, New Jersey, New York, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

President Eisenhower bought the 189-acre farm with its 100-year old house on the edge of the Civil War battlefield back in 1950. The President and his First Lady have looked upon the Gettysburg residence as the first "real home" they ever have had.

In planning their home in Pennsylvania, the Eisenhowers have had the old dwelling virtually torn down and practically started from scratch. It now is believed that the remodeled and rebuilt home with Cumberland flooring will be completed in the spring.

Because of the Eisenhowers' keen interest in the home and their talk of retiring there, some Washington correspondents have been speculating that he is not planning to run for a second term so that he can retire in January 1957. However, President Eisenhower has made no statement about his intentions.

The Weather

Yesterday was a miserable day with overcast skies, rain and cold temperatures. And outside last night was no place to be with the cold rain falling about the city. Continued rain is expected today according to the forecast and the temperature will probably warm up during the afternoon. The high temperature yesterday was 34 degrees with a low reading of 28 degrees and at 8:30 p. m. yesterday the mercury stood at 31 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 100 per cent with .06 inches rainfall.

Kimble Proposal Would Demand Report On U. Md.

Senate Committee To Study Action

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) sought legislative help today to force the University of Maryland Board of Regents to submit a controversial report on the university's scholastic accreditation.

The report, never fully made public, was an issue of the 1954 general election campaign.

Kimble introduced a resolution shortly after the Maryland Senate opened its 1955 session "requesting and directing" the regents to submit the report to the secretary of the Senate. He urged immediate adoption.

However, the measure was referred to the Finance Committee for study on the motion of Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), newly appointed majority floor leader. Turnbull said he was the only senator in 1951 against a bill granting the university autonomy over its affairs but that he felt it too early in the current session to act "with headlong haste" in the matter.

People "Ought To Know"

Kimble, minority floor leader, agreed to Turnbull's suggestion that sending it to committee to permit time for study and to let new members (of the Senate) get better acclimated.

Kimble's resolution, which came with startling suddenness after 24 Legislative Council bills had been introduced, said the university is the only state agency in Maryland "not subject to pitiless publicity." He said it receives 11 million dollars a year in taxpayers' money.

"The people of Maryland are greatly disturbed and alarmed about this matter," he said. "Maybe the weaknesses noted in the report are exaggerated, maybe they have already been corrected, ..but I believe the people of Maryland ought to know if there is anything wrong with this great university of ours."

He said the purpose of the resolution was to get the report in the hands of the Senate secretary and then the Senate could decide how it wanted to look into it. Kimble suggested that the Senate might even want to have it studied by a committee in executive session and then decide what could or could not be made public.

Says Senate Should Report

"I think the people would accept with confidence a report by the Senate on the condition of the university," the veteran lawmaker added.

Attempts have been made to get a look at the report ever since the charge was made in the recent political campaign that the Middle States Assn. of colleges and secondary schools had put the university on probation because of certain alleged deficiencies.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, longtime president of the University of Maryland, was running for governor on the Democratic ticket when the storm arose.

A former member of Sen. Kimble's Allegany County delegation, Del. Horace P. Whitworth Jr., only last month lost an attempt in Baltimore to obtain a court order to make the report public.

The court held that the legislative act which gave the university autonomy over its affairs, except for financial matters, was authority enough for the regents to refuse to let anyone see the report.

Surplus Food Registration Includes 1,536

The Red Cross in Cumberland and at the various branches throughout the county registered and certified a total of 1,536 families for surplus foods during the past three-day registration. This registration is for the distribution in February.

The figure is one of the highest number registered by the Red Cross in a single month, and does not include those being registered by the Associated Charities, Salvation Army and Allegany County Welfare Board.

Furloughs at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at both Cumberland and Keyser, as well as other layoffs in smaller businesses and industries, brought out new registrants for the first time, registration clerks observed.

Totals by branches for the three days include: Frostburg, 349 families Lonaconing, 277; Cumberland, 226; Mt. Savage, 155; Barton, 155; Midland, 153; Luke-Westernport, 120, and Eckhart, 101.

Election Board, City Agree On Redistricting

Charter Amendment Would Be Needed

A plan for unifying voting districts of the City of Cumberland with those of Allegany County was agreed upon last night at a meeting of the Board of Election Supervisors, the Mayor and Council of Cumberland and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The officials, in the unanimous action, expressed pleasure that the first step has been taken toward coordinating the registration records of the city and county.

Speaking for the city, Mayor Roy W. Eves pointed out that the redistricting of the city voting locations is the "first step" and a constructive one, but pointed out that the consolidation plan cannot be placed into effect until the charter of the City of Cumberland is changed.

Any final action, he added, cannot be taken until the home rule bill becomes effective.

Lester Bolinger, draftsman for the City Engineering Department, explained the plan of geographic boundaries which would divide the city into six districts, generally following natural boundaries and making only minor changes in county district lines.

Would Eliminate Wards

The new election map would eliminate present ward boundaries which have had no significance since the commission form of government was adopted here.

William A. Wilson, member of the Election Board, pointed out that body has the power to make any needed changes, and that no new legislation would be needed on the part of the county.

Bolinger told the officials he had separated the city into six districts and that the division into precincts could be done according to population.

The redistricting, Election Board Member Matthew J. Mullaney said, will necessitate only minor changes in assessment records, and does not constitute a significant problem.

Cites Trend

Wilson said the change is in line with trends, citing the fact that Frederick is now engaged in changing its lines so city and county voting limits will coincide.

He said the decision to redistrict is timely, since the Board wants to get the work done before the 1956 election.

Wilson added that if the proposed election law goes through as it now stands, voting machines will be mandatory in 1958.

He said the board, however, plans to ask that machines be purchased sooner, so people will have a chance to become familiar with them before the next national election.

Wilson told the officials he and Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, estimate it will cost the city and county about $3,500 each to change the voting records.

Voting Machines Urged

All parties agreed the cost was reasonable. Funds are to be provided in future budgets.

Most of the cost of the change, Wilson pointed out, will be saved the first time an election is held with voting machines. The use of voting machines will eliminate the need for two clerks, each paid $22, in each of the city's 25 polling places, resulting in a saving of $2,200 in a city primary and general election.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz suggested that when the city's charter is amended, the Election Board should be given charge of the city primary, as it now does the city general election.

One Record Plan

When the plan is placed into effect, all of the city's voting records would be consolidated with those of the county at the Court House.

This would eliminate the confusion which has resulted in elections from the fact that citizens must be registered on both city and county voting records to be eligible to vote in all elections.

The attitude of all of the officials was summed up in Lemmert's comment, "I think it is progress."

Representing the city were Mayor Eves and Commissioners Buchholtz, John J. Long and William J. Edwards. Lemmert and James Orr represented the County Commissioners, and Wilson, Mullaney and Victor Hebb, the election board.

Driver Unhurt As Car Hits Curb

A Potomac State College student escaped injury yesterday afternoon when his car skidded on Greene Street atop Dingle Hill, hit a curbing and spun around.

Officer Louis D. Downey said Robert M. Iser, 4 Carpenter Avenue, Ridgeley, was on his way home at 3:30 p.m. when his convertible spun, damaging the right front and left rear wheels.

Grand Jury Conducts Regular Inspections

Yesterday was "Inspection Day" for the grand jury for the January term of Allegany County Circuit Court as committees from the investigating body inspected various county institutions.

The grand jurors are scheduled to reconvene this afternoon and are expected to submit their report to the court.

Takes Banking Post

Martin L. Ford, 424 Greene Street, packs his luggage in preparation for a flight to Liberia, where he will serve as a supervisor in the Bank of Monrovia for the next two years. He is a World War II veteran and has served as a diplomatic courier in addition to several banking assignments.

Former Diplomatic Courier To Leave Today For Liberia

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

A 29-year-old local man boards a Pan-American plane in New York today for a flight to Liberia, where he will serve for the next two years as a supervisor for that country's only bank.

He is Martin L. Ford, 424 Greene Street, who left here yesterday for New York to begin his new adventure.

Liberia will not seem too strange to Ford, since he visited the country several times in 1951-52 when he was a diplomatic courier for the State Department.

Ford will be stationed in Monrovia, the capital city of the country located on the southwest coast of Africa.

He will be one of six American supervisors of the Bank of Monrovia, Inc., a subsidiary of Firestone Plantations, Inc., which in turn is a subsidiary of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

Is ETO Veteran

The bank employs about 32 native workers and provides modern banking facilities, serving as the government depository for the Republic of Liberia.

Ford is a native of Cumberland, a son of Mrs. Leona M. Ford, 424 Greene Street, and the late John E. Ford.

He graduated from LaSalle High School in 1943 and from St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., in 1950.

Prior to completing his formal education he served from 1943 to 1946 in the Army Air Force. During his tour of duty in the ETO, he was a staff sergeant, serving as ball turret gunner on B-17s.

After graduating from St. Francis, Ford served for two years as a diplomatic courier, visiting virtually all of the countries located on four continents.

He left the State Department post in February 1952 for a year's work as teller in the First National Bank here.

Expects Poor Climate

For the past year, he has been working for the Treasury Department as an assistant national bank examiner, attached to the Fifth Federal Reserve District in Richmond, Va. He resigned that post in November to accept the position with private industry in Liberia.

Ford said he believes his new post will be a "good break," since he is interested in the working of the rubber industry.

He will live in Monrovia, a city of about 12,000 population.

Ford says he realizes Liberia does not have an "ideal climate." That is something of an understatement, since the weather is tropical and humid.

The country has two seasons, a hot and a rainy season, and temperatures range uniformly high, between 80 and 100, and never less than 50. During part of the year, the country is swept with dry winds blowing from the Sahara Desert.

Liberia, an independent Negro republic, has a population of about 3,750,000, all of the African race.

Founded By Freedmen

It was founded in 1822 when a settlement was made at Monrovia by Negro freedmen from the United States, with the assistance of American colonization societies.

Liberia became a republic July 26, 1847. Its constitution is modeled after that of the United States. English is the official language, but 28 dialects are used by natives. United States currency is used for exchange.

Liberia furnishes about 10 per cent of this country's rubber imports and about 1,000,000 tons of iron ore—rated as the highest quality mined.

Ford said there will be one consolation—if he ever gets homesick for the Free State, he can travel to nearby Maryland County in Liberia, one of the geographic sections named for this state.

Head of the republic since 1943 is President William V. Tubman, whose grandfather was born in Georgia.

Trade School To Begin Class In Machine Shop

Because of increased demand for training in the machinist trade, the Allegany Trade School will make an effort to start a new class in machine shop training beginning Monday, January 17, according to J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational, industrial and adult education in the county schools.

This class will be an afternoon and night class starting at 3 o'clock and running through 9:30 o'clock. The course is 33½ months long and is designed to prepare the individual for precision machinist work.

The present daytime class is at full capacity, all Korean veterans. To accommodate other veterans an afternoon and night class is the only solution, Lonnholm reported.

Korean veterans desiring to enroll in this course should contact the registrar, Ira E. Northcraft, at the Paca Street office in the rear of the Greene Street fire station in person for full information as to enrollment and Veterans Administration requirements. They may, if they desire, contact the VA office on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

Positive enrollment must be made at or before 3 p. m. Thursday, January 13. A minimum of 14 enrollees will be required and a maximum of 20 will be accepted. Lonnholm advises veterans to enroll early as the policy is to accept those who apply first.

Girl Scouts Plan Annual Dinner, Board Election

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council and election of officers will be held January 12 at 6:30 p. m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, Fourth and Arch streets.

All board members, all council members and all Girl Scout adult leaders are eligible to attend the dinner session. According to Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive secretary of the council, reservations for the dinner should be made at the Girl Scout House not later than tomorrow at 5 p. m.

In addition to the election of officers and new board members, the program will include presentation of training certificates to a number who have completed their required program of adult training; and reports from those who attended a recent regional conference.

Printed copies of the year's work, which will also show the growth and expansion of the Girl Scout movement here, will be distributed.

Flintstone Boy To Get State Farm Bureau Prize

Coy Huffman, a Flintstone High School junior, will be awarded a State Farm Bureau prize for gardening at the group's annual convention Friday, January 14, in Baltimore.

Kenneth M. Malone, Huffman's vocational agriculture teacher, reported that the boy will be awarded a state third prize. He said it is the first time in his five years as a teacher at Flintstone that one of his students has won such an award.

Senators Disgruntled

Southern Maryland senators, disgruntled by the action of Shore delegates in shunting Wilkinson aside, retaliated by refusing to go along with Redden as the Eastern Shore candidate for Senate president.

The picture changed so quickly that Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester), originally the lone Shore holdout against Redden, cancelled a morning duck hunting trip and hustled across the Chesapeake to Annapolis for the party caucus.

Malkus wound up with the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), who had teamed with Malkus in the original skirmish against the combination of Redden and Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th), was named majority floor leader.

With the floor leader assignment goes the chairmanship of the Finance Committee, whose biggest job will be the fine-tooth combing of Republican Gov. McKeldin's proposals to raise about 28½-million dollars in additional money to balance a whopping budget.

Floor Leader

Luber handed Del. Boone (D-Balto County) the house majority floor leadership and Del. Simpkins (D-Somerset) was named chairman of the Judiciary Committee. Boone also assumed the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee.

Thus the floor leadership and chairmanship of the money committees in both houses fell to Baltimore County men.

The Republicans, outnumbered 21-8 in the Senate and 98-25 in the House, settled on Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany) and Del. Derr (R-Frederick) as minority leaders. Kimble, whose 20 years in the Senate make him dean of them all, held the minority leadership throughout his last several terms.

Start Late

Once the Democrats had disposed of intra-party differences, Maryland's governmental machinery finally got into action. The Senate convened at 2:36 p.m., more than two and one-half hours late. The House had gone in about half an hour earlier.

Both houses then received bills vetoed by McKeldin after passage in 1954 and deferred action on them until Monday night. They received the first of some 60 measures screened between sessions by the Legislative Council.

Then in joint session they formally declared McKeldin the victor over Democrat H. C. Byrd in the election last November, and recessed until McKeldin appeared before another joint session at 8 p.m. with his "state of the State" message.

Of the nine vetoed 1954 bills, at least two are expected to produce some political fireworks. One would provide a bonus for exservicemen and cost the State an estimated 100-million dollars in increased sales taxes. The other would postpone for one year increases in fees for motor vehicles tags.

Measures Screened

The measures screened by the Legislative Council and set up for early consideration included just about everything from adoption of babies to workmen's compensation.

A lawyer, farmer and real estate man, Goldstein is a native of Prince Frederick, seat of the county with a population of 12,272 in the 1950 census.

As president he succeeds Della, who held the job the last four years.

Harp Duo To Perform Here

The well-known Washington father-and-daughter harp duo, William T. Cameron and Constance Cameron, will play on the Cumberland Civic Orchestra program at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the Allegany High School auditorium. They will play a number of unusual arrangements for the harp duet, including some original compositions by Cameron.

County Judges Plan To Attend Ceremony Today

McLaughlin To Take His Oath Of Office

Both Allegany County judges will be in Hagerstown this morning for the swearing in of State Senator David Kenneth McLaughlin as the new circuit judge for Washington County.

Senator McLaughlin was appointed Tuesday night by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to fill the vacancy caused by the death December 8 of Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris was in Hagerstown for a trial yesterday and planned to remain there overnight. Chief Judge George Henderson said he would travel to Hagerstown early this morning.

Meanwhile, in Hagerstown two candidates defeated in bids for the House of Delegates in November were mentioned yesterday as possible successors to Republican Delegate Charles Downey, expected to be named state senator from Washington County.

The word from Republican sources was no decision had been reached however, and that it could go to someone other than Atty. Edwin Miller or William C. Porter, wholesale tobacco distributor. Miller is a U. S. commissioner. Both are from Hagerstown.

The Republican State Central Committee was understood to be in a controversy over a recommendation.

Downey, 38-year-old farm machine dealer from Williamsport, is expected to succeed McLaughlin.

Driver To Be Questioned

The driver of a car involved in a fatal crash on Route 36 near Shaft on December 27 is to be questioned today in the State's Attorney's office.

He is James Summers, 20, of Midland, who will be discharged today from Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

Summers was badly injured in the spectacular crash which killed Robert Green, 17, of 30 Stoyer Street, Frostburg, and caused critical injuries to the dead lad's brother, Gene Green, 19. Gene is reported in a satisfactory condition in Miners Hospital.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher asked that Summers be brought here for questioning today after being informed yesterday afternoon that he was to be released from the hospital.

Two Cows From Mason Herd Top Butterfat Producers

The two top butterfat producers in the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association during December both are owned by John T. Mason of Cresaptown.

The champion for the month, according to the report of Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, is Mason's grade Holstein known simply as No. 431295. She had 76 pounds of butterfat, or 5.9 per cent of her 1,290 pounds of December milk.

Second among the top 10 butterfat producers was No. 482833, another of Mason's grade Holsteins, with 73 pounds of butterfat in 1,550 pounds of milk. A third Mason cow was tied for fifth place.

Closest behind the two biggest Mason producers were two other cows belonging to Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings. One, No. 41, had 71 pounds of butterfat in 1,970 pounds of December milk. The other, No. 59, had 70 pounds in 1,890 pounds of milk. No. 59 was the association's November champion.

Three other dairy farms had cows on the honor list. Ivan C. Wilson of Midland had three cows among the best butterfat producers. They were tied for fifth, tied for seventh and 10th. I. L. Brooke and Sons of Pinto had a registered Holstein tied for seventh place. Ernest A. Light, also of Pinto, had the ninth rated cow, a graded Guernsey. The other nine top butterfat producers all were Holsteins.

Arnold and Miller tested 660 cows in the past month. They averaged 569 pounds of milk, 23.1 pounds butterfat and 4.06 per cent butterfat.

Father-Daughter Harp Duo Will Play At Concert Here

A feature of the Cumberland Civic Orchestra concert scheduled here January 11 at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium will be the well known father-and-daughter harp duo, William T. Cameron and Constance Cameron of Washington.

The harpists have appeared previously as featured soloists at the Carter Barron Amphitheater and the Department Auditorium in Washington on programs presented by the United States Navy Band, in which organization Cameron has been harpist since 1932.

A former student at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, where he studied under the prominent harpist, Carlos Salzedo, Cameron has been harp instructor to Constance, or "Penny" as she is better known, since she was 3½ years old.

At 13, "Penny" has had a wealth of musical experience in playing harp duets with her father. She is now a second-year student at Sousa Junior High School in Washington where last February the duo gave an entire program for the student assembly.

They have also appeared in a number of Washington churches, hospitals, clubs and other organizations, and have performed in New York, Rhode Island, Indiana and West Virginia.

"Penny" and her father will play a number of unusual arrangements for harp duet on the program, including some original compositions of Cameron's.

A group of expecially arranged popular songs will be featured, as well as a requested "Christmas Carol Medley" in keeping with the program, which was postponed from the overcrowded pre-Christmas season.

Salvation Army To Fill Post In South End

The appointment of officers to take charge of the South Cumberland Salvation Army Corps is expected soon, according to Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel.

He said Col. V. J. Huffman, Baltimore, divisional commander, has assured the Advisory Board that a married couple will be assigned to the post not later than the third week of January.

Officers from the Citadel have taken on the additional duties in South Cumberland since Lt. Harold May resigned his post there late in October to become assistant pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church here.

Reporting on the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program, Capt. Biggs said contributions totaled $5,245.57, and that all but $4 of that has been spent.

He added there will be a slight deficit, since some bills have not come in.

The Salvation Army, he said, provided 357 food orders to families representing 1,359 persons in the Cumberland area, and 199 orders, for 895 persons, in out-of-town locations. Another 12 baskets were delivered to those who applied for aid too late to provide grocery orders.

The Red Shield Boys Club, he said, has resumed its regular schedule after holiday interruptions. The club meets each Tuesday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. in the basement of the Citadel for workshop activities, and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p. m. for other club activities.

Tree Collection Set

Discarded Christmas trees will be picked up in Ridgeley today and tomorrow by Myrle Zimmers.

Ike's House To Get Floor Made Here

When President Eisenhower retires to his farmhouse near Gettysburg, Pa., he will walk on Cumberland-made flooring.

That was disclosed here last night with the announcement that the order for the flooring to be used in the Eisenhower farm house was placed yesterday with the Buchanan Lumber Company of this city.

The floor will be manufactured from a clear grade of white oak of random widths, varying from four to eight inches. This pattern of flooring is a reproduction of the colonial "plank" design. It is becoming increasingly popular in ranch-type and early American styled homes.

Material from which the flooring will be produced was grown and sawed by mills within a 100-mile radius of Cumberland. It was kiln-dried and entirely produced by the local firm.

The Buchanan Lumber Company has been producing this style flooring and shipping it to lumber yards in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, New Jersey, New York, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

President Eisenhower bought the 189-acre farm with its 100-year old house on the edge of the Civil War battlefield back in 1950. The President and his First Lady have looked upon the Gettysburg residence as the first "real home" they ever have had.

In planning their home in Pennsylvania, the Eisenhowers have had the old dwelling virtually torn down and practically started from scratch. It now is believed that the remodeled and rebuilt home with Cumberland flooring will be completed in the spring.

Because of the Eisenhowers' keen interest in the home and their talk of retiring there, some Washington correspondents have been speculating that he is not planning to run for a second term so that he can retire in January 1957. However, President Eisenhower has made no statement about his intentions.

The Weather

Yesterday was a miserable day with overcast skies, rain and cold temperatures. And outside last night was no place to be with the cold rain falling about the city. Continued rain is expected today according to the forecast and the temperature will probably warm up during the afternoon. The high temperature yesterday was 34 degrees with a low reading of 28 degrees and at 8:30 p. m. yesterday the mercury stood at 31 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 100 per cent with .06 inches rainfall.

Kimble Proposal Would Demand Report On U. Md.

Senate Committee To Study Action

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 5 (AP)—Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) sought legislative help today to force the University of Maryland Board of Regents to submit a controversial report on the university's scholastic accreditation.

The report, never fully made public, was an issue of the 1954 general election campaign.

Kimble introduced a resolution shortly after the Maryland Senate opened its 1955 session "requesting and directing" the regents to submit the report to the secretary of the Senate. He urged immediate adoption.

However, the measure was referred to the Finance Committee for study on the motion of Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), newly appointed majority floor leader. Turnbull said he was the only senator in 1951 against a bill granting the university autonomy over its affairs but that he felt it too early in the current session to act "with headlong haste" in the matter.

People "Ought To Know"

Kimble, minority floor leader, agreed to Turnbull's suggestion that sending it to committee to permit time for study and to let new members (of the Senate) get better acclimated.

Kimble's resolution, which came with startling suddenness after 24 Legislative Council bills had been introduced, said the university is the only state agency in Maryland "not subject to pitiless publicity." He said it receives 11 million dollars a year in taxpayers' money.

"The people of Maryland are greatly disturbed and alarmed about this matter," he said. "Maybe the weaknesses noted in the report are exaggerated, maybe they have already been corrected, ..but I believe the people of Maryland ought to know if there is anything wrong with this great university of ours."

He said the purpose of the resolution was to get the report in the hands of the Senate secretary and then the Senate could decide how it wanted to look into it. Kimble suggested that the Senate might even want to have it studied by a committee in executive session and then decide what could or could not be made public.

Says Senate Should Report

"I think the people would accept with confidence a report by the Senate on the condition of the university," the veteran lawmaker added.

Attempts have been made to get a look at the report ever since the charge was made in the recent political campaign that the Middle States Assn. of colleges and secondary schools had put the university on probation because of certain alleged deficiencies.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, longtime president of the University of Maryland, was running for governor on the Democratic ticket when the storm arose.

A former member of Sen. Kimble's Allegany County delegation, Del. Horace P. Whitworth Jr., only last month lost an attempt in Baltimore to obtain a court order to make the report public.

The court held that the legislative act which gave the university autonomy over its affairs, except for financial matters, was authority enough for the regents to refuse to let anyone see the report.

Surplus Food Registration Includes 1,536

The Red Cross in Cumberland and at the various branches throughout the county registered and certified a total of 1,536 families for surplus foods during the past three-day registration. This registration is for the distribution in February.

The figure is one of the highest number registered by the Red Cross in a single month, and does not include those being registered by the Associated Charities, Salvation Army and Allegany County Welfare Board.

Furloughs at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at both Cumberland and Keyser, as well as other layoffs in smaller businesses and industries, brought out new registrants for the first time, registration clerks observed.

Totals by branches for the three days include: Frostburg, 349 families Lonaconing, 277; Cumberland, 226; Mt. Savage, 155; Barton, 155; Midland, 153; Luke-Westernport, 120, and Eckhart, 101.
